IN DAYS OF YORE Food-peddlers were very common and and I might say, extremely plentiful) when I was growing up. We had the pleasure of entertaining the he is now running for may or of flat rock on his record and will no doubt get badly beat, as it aint what it mought of benn before the trubble in the post offic in 1897, they were allest the post office in 1897, they them over-night very often. They them over-night very often. They were allso dressed to kill in sattenn were about the only strangers we got and silks to match.

towels lace, embroidery, needles, of rock which is now piled down on pins and other stuff, we ever saw, dill's creek below the mill. We pored over his stock every night he was there til every speck of the kero-ene had been burnt out of our only lamp.

For his night's lodging, the peddler of the children usually got thumpaper, the 4 oldest girls got pretty pieces of ribbon for their top-knots, and father was given a chew of nat-ural leaf tobacco. These items made the peddler's supper cost him 2 cents.

We always bought from the peddler. Frequently they went away with between 40 and 50 cents in real that being lots of cash back money that being lots of cash back then. He generally carried off some sausage, a piece of ham and some dried apples. Sometimes rich pedilers visited us. breakfast cost him nearly 3 cents. Most of them travel ed in wagons; most of the wagon fellows sold tinware, stoves, or patent rights. It cost a pie-pan to board and stall a horse and his moster all

Speaking of patent rights, my folks owned half interest once in a process to make gold out of common salt. We also bought a right to sell a patented churning machine in a small county in the Indian Territory, but we never found out where the Indian Territory was till I was nearly 20 years of age. We bought a catalogue once that entitled us to a 50 per-cent discount on everything we ordered. out we had no money and couldn't write, so we never ordered off for

We were pretty easy to sell. Our fly-minder which we wound up with key never minded many flies. wouldn't turn very fast, so the flies used it to ride on and wipe their feet on. Our "patent" bee gum was shame by our bees. The clothes winger wrong off several fingers for he alls before father threw it away. collated clothes line rusted ok, while our "newly inventwouldn't sift corn meal, not we had to eat. But and our peddlers very much we lought a buggy, then coine places.

Lesson for June 24

REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT-And he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.

PRIMARY TOPIC - Carrying on Jesus Work, JUNIOR TOPIC-Jesus Our Saviour

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC-What Shall I Do With Jesus?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC-The Comprehensive Program

The method of review must always be determined by the teacher in the light of the grade of the school and the aptitudes of the pupils. For senior and adult classes the best method will be to recall that all the lessons of the quarter are from the Book of Matthew which has as its theme, "Jesus Christ, the Messianic King, and His Kingdom," and then to present each lesson in its relation to the central purpose. The lessons have a threefold unity, namely; one book, one thems, one person.

Lesson for April 1:

The resurrection of Christ is one of the foundation truths of Christianity. It is the grand proof that Christ was what he claimed to be, the Messiah, the Son of God. His resurrection authenticated his claim. By it he was declared to be the Son of God with power.

Lesson for April 8:

The greatest in the kingdom are the childlike. Entrance into the kingdom is infinitely more important than rank therein. There is no way into the kingdom except through the new birth (John 3:3-5).

Lesson for April 15:

In this lesson we have divine instruction as to behavior in case of Ill treatment. Those who are Christlike shall suffer persecution. Those who have entered the kingdom by birth from above will have a forgiving spirit.

Lesson for April 22: Riches are deceitful. Possessors thereof are prone to put their trust in them. It is most difficult for those who are rich to give place to spiritual things. Lesson for May 6: To the nation which rejected Jesus as king, he officially presented himself at the appointed time in the counsel of God in the fulfillment of prophecy.

Lesson for May 13: The parable of the king's marriage fenst stresses the necessity of a right relationship with God in order that there be a life of temperance and good charmonic terr first obligation is

William Bland Lesson for May 20:

In the Olivet descourse is in sect

be mentione of the matter towns | Book the party | to make called the Roman Tank over all will either by Engineer of the Sill follow

The cross is the tiget life of the min like. The bishership of Marx, Judas, Peter, and others gives us a cross-sectional view of the world.

Lesson for June 10: The climax of the quarters become is reached in the lesson today. The supreme value of the quarter's lesson centers in the cross. Jesus did not die as a martyr or as an example, but to make an atonement for sin. Teachers, it is not a matter of getting your children to learn the lessons of a great teacher but to induce them to have faith in Christ's sacrificial work.

Lesson for June 17: The resurrection of Jesus Christ demonstrated his Messiahship and Delty. The command to preach the gospel in all the world is backed by his resurrection power.

The Word of God

In the Word of God may be found every variety of theme that can well be imagined, from the story of creation to the forecast of the new creation, Here is endiess diversity-fragments of national history, and of individual biography, poems and speeches, proverbs and predictions, parables and ethlcal teachings, legal enactments, romances of love, and awful tragedies of judgment, plain precepts for right living, and spectacular dramatic scenes gorgeously painted in oriental imaginery; miracles and mysteries, the prattle of a child side by side with the pro foundest discourses of philosophers and sages .- Dr. A. T. Plerson.

Greatest Inspiration Let us earnestly and solemnly surrender ourselves afresh to the Lord Jesus Christ for service. We cannot afford to let the world find in gain or in pleasure a greater Inspiration than we can find in our religion.

Knew What He Was Doing The infinite God know what he was doing when he gave to his sinning, suffering children a Gospel that covers the heart and renovates the whole man through the incoming of Christ Jesus into the man.
