It is to labor, and labor alone, that man owes everything possessed of exchangeable value. Labor is the talisman that has raised him from the condition of the savage; that has changed the desert and the forest into cultivated fields; that has covered the earth with cities and the oceans with ships; that has given us plenty, comfort and elegance instead of want, misery and barbarism.

—McCulloch.

Workingmen are at the foundation of society.

Show me the product of human endeavor in the making which the workingman has had no share, and I will show you something that society can well dispense with.

THE POLITICAL MEETING IN FLAT ROCK

a big state campaign meeting was held in flat rock friday and from what the candy-dates said, we wont have to pay any more taxes after they get elected, they will reduce everything to the core and turn off the highway department, consolidate the legislature, asylum, railroad commission and the penitentiary.

(all) of the politicians made it plain that they were running on the roosevelt platform and that they will support all of his measures including the row of trees from north dakota to south america the cwa and the nra and the tva and the fdr's laws with europe.

all of the candy-dates spoke but 2 speakers night came on before the chairman got to them other count of there being so many of them trying to get a job which has no work in it. They walked around amongst the men and shook hands vigorously with everybody old enough to vote on staged 46 tables.

the legislature candy-dates will beat the poor farmer and the poor factory workers and the poor merchants and the poor rich folks who happen to be living in the state. in other words, they will be so gentle towards everybody that it will be painless to pay the small tax bills that they will levy on them.

there being no further business before the meeting, it stood adjourned all of the politicians enjoyed themselves good and they hope to carry the flat rock hog solid. it took the poleman 45 minutes to clean up the goober hulls they left where they smoke ansoforth come again, boys, after you get taxes cut as much as you promised.

A TRUE STORY

Terry Conner is a cousin of mine by marriage. He has one wife and three children. Terry and Sallie are home-loving folks. They have always wanted a "place to live," and have been saving up for 4 years for the purpose of buying a home.

Terry works hard. Sallie is economical and the children do not "tendent" them very excessively. In fact, they pull together, and each one yearned for the day to come when they could buy that long-looked-for home. That day arrived last Friday and now they own a home of their own.

Terry and Sallie picked out a lovely little nest and paid all of their savings for it, viz: $733.25. It has 4-wheel brakes, self-ventilating windshield and extra heavy balloon tires. They seem to enjoy living in their new home. To tell the truth, they have lived in it over half the time since they bought it.

It was planned to have lemonade. Their bungalow has no front or back yard, but it has a nice trunk rack, and also a cigar lighter. There is no bathroom in it, but all four of the doors have pockets in them. The heating system is lacking, but it has Timken ignition Bush bearings and will make 75 m. p. h. uphill.

They have 2 velvet seats in the living and sitting-room, and it has 2 horns in addition to 2 windshield wipers. They are well prepared to take care of their kinfolks when they come. It will carry 2 extra passengers (in addition to the family) without discomfort to any one. They keep their home under the shed just in the rear of their (rented) house and it has never been wet yet.

Terry and Sallie have been learned how to run the home, but Terry says they use too much gas. The running expenses ought not to be so heavy; it has free-wheeling as well as hydraulic brakes, and the tires are kept full of wind, which is also free. We congratulate this family on being able to live in their own home at last, and we hope that they will enjoy the sweat of their brows for many many years; certainly until a new model comes out.

Saying "No"

"Learn to say 'no,'" said Uncle Elwin, "but don't let it git to be such a habit dat you refuses a chance to be useful."

Monthly Pains Relieved

Women who take CARDUI have found that severe monthly pains have been relieved and that by continued use of it for a reasonable length of time their strength has been renewed and their general health improved.

"I am glad to speak a few words for Cardui, the medicines I have taken for a weak, run-down condition, for bad pains in my neck and back, and for various periodic aches, writes Mrs. Ray Chandler, of Cusseta, Ala. "Cardui straightened me out and I feel 100 per cent better. It certainly helped me."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
