Of all my trades, Mr. Editur, I think I'm prowdest of my ate acquisishumn that of bein' a Witch because it takes wunder poweas to be able to throw a spell over a mon like I left that littel feller in

Well, I reckon I kum by it enest, seem that my Granfather wur a "Witch doctur"-er sumpun. The wurst trubel I see about it Mr. Editur is this: If the news gits out in these deep coays that Unkel Abe is a He-witch, I won't be abel to git in a mile of thair houses; they'll eather stan' me off with a shot gun, or all run in to the house an' bar the doars An so we'de jest hav give up the newspape; business in sich places,

Well, folks. I kaint say that its all kompliments eny longer, 'cause a man who signs his self "Rip" rites in an' rips up the back this week; sed he wanted us to put his poetry under ours, but of coarse I woodn't be so impertlite as to put mine befoar hi.en. Fact iz, I'm leavin' aff all poitry this week, I'm so shamed of my effurts now after readin' Rips. Here is the furst four lines, best I ean make 'em eut;

We have a mon in Waynesville Calls Himself Uncle Abe he thinks he is a wise old birel he tells Every thing yow soy.

Mr. good friend, Unkel Bill Mc-Krary of the Big Branch Secshun, wuz in town last week— We mos ginerly swap a few yarns, but this time Unkel Bill wuz on biziness so we didn't palayer mutch. He claims to be the furst man to call me Abe described as follows: to-wit: Linkern an he wuz the furst man BEGINNING at a stake in here to do so; but a man in Virginny I met this man at Alexandry in an Eatin' house. He look me over fer a few minets, then sez he, 'Shades of Abe Linkern, if ye ain't his duble.' Then he sed he had a plan fer me an him: Pracktice up a few slite-of-hand tricks, git a munkey an' go on the tricks, git a munkey an' go on the tricks, git a munkey an' go on the tricks. beat Unkel Bill to it by a few years. he, "Not fer me," sez I, ::I'll jine ern margin of Pine Street N. 17° 20' the Pinto bean crowd agin befoar E. 426.0 feet to a stake in the south-I'll let any Sun-of-gun make a munkey out of me."
