COMMUNITY CLUB HOLDS DECEMBER MEETING

The Community club held the regular December meeting on Monday afternoon in the club rooms on Main street with the president Mrs. M. T. Shaffer, presiding. The meeting was opened with the usual song and assembly reading of the subject. In spite of the rainy afternoon, a good number were in attendance.

Reports were presented from the various officers and chairmen. Mrs. Campbell, member of the dramatic department, in behalf of Miss Alice Quinlan, chairman asked permission of the club to divert the money derived in the next few weeks from the sale of the Cook Books toward defraying the expenses of purchasing the medals offered annually to the girls of the township high school. Motion was made that this privilege be given the dramatic department.

Mr. Robert Gibson, case worker of the county welfare relief work, made a stirring appeal to the members to assist in giving the children in the Big Bend section a Christmas tree. Motion was made to have Mrs. Nobel Garrett, chairman of welfare cooperate with the teacher of the school in working out the plans. A voluntary offering was taken, which will also be supplemented by the treasurer as needed.

Mrs. Linwood Grahl announced that as chairman of the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, she wished the members to buy their seals through her as the representative of the club. Plans for having the district president, Mrs. R. N. Barber, the state president, and the president of districts as special guests were discussed. A motion was made to leave the date in the hands of the program committee.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Carolina Alstetter of the garden department. The subject of the afternoon was: "Evergreen trees and shrubs of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park." Miss Alstetter introduced the speaker, Mr. A. K. Wookensmen, one of the forest rangers of the park area, who discussed at length the many varieties of interesting evergreens growing in the Smokies. He exhibited about twelve types giving information concerning each and told of other parts of the country in which they are to be found.

Following Mr. Wookensmen's instructive talk he answered questions by the members. A rising vote of thanks was given to both Miss Alstetter and the speaker.

Miss Mildred Crawford delighted the audience with a song, "Turn Ye To Me," an old Highland melody arranged by Lawson. She was accompanied by Miss Grace Crocker. After adjournment the hostesses, Miss Nancy Killian, Mrs. Rufus Siler, Mrs. W. T. Shelton, and Mrs. Tom Lee, Jr., assisted by Mrs. M. H. Bowles and Mrs. Richard Barber, Jr., served coffee, sandwiches and cakes.

MRS. HENRY DAVIS HONORS MRS. EARLE MILES WITH PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Henry Davis entertained a very special party in compliment to Mrs. Earle Miles, the former Mrs. M. C. Terrell, who has been visiting her family, Orange, by invitation, very attractively arranged in the dining room, and the orange and black was featured in the other party accessories.

When the cards were put away, Mrs. Richard N. Barber, Jr., was found to hold the high score, with Mr. Hubert Limer winning the low and the consolation was out by Miss Eula Patterson. All were given lovely prizes.

The guest list was composed of Mrs. Felix Stovall, Mrs. Kenneth Ferguson, Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Grayden Ferguson, Mrs. Hugh Massey, Mrs. M. H. Bowles, Mrs. William Hannah, Miss Eula Patterson, Mrs. Earle Miles, and Miss Alice Stringfield. Joining the group for tea was Miss Margaret Terrell.

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE ALLEY GIVE THANKSGIVING DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Alley were hosts on Thursday evening of a beautifully arranged dinner party which they gave at their home. A motif of red and yellow was accentuated through the service as well as the decorative effects.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hinds, of Cullowhee, Miss Fannie Pearl Felmet, Miss Allene Scrawry, of Cullowhee, Miss Margaret McGraw, Mr. Dilworth Cooke, and Mr. Holmes Bryson, Jr., all of Asheville.

MASON-FERGUSON

Of keen interest is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lillian Brooks to Mr. Nathan Norwood Ferguson which took place the seventeenth of November at the home of the bride in Bloxom, Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Short Mason. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan N. Ferguson, of Atlanta. He was born in Waynesville and spent his early childhood here. He is the grand son of the late Judge Garland S. Ferguson and has a wide family connection in this part of the state.

While on their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson motored to several southern cities and upon their return spent a short time in Waynesville as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Robeson, aunt and uncle of the groom.

MR. AND MRS. P. L. TURBYFILL HAVE FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Turbyfill had a family reunion on Thanksgiving Day. They had as their guests their children and grand children as follows: Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Henson and daughter, Miss Ruth Henson, of Gastonia, Mrs. J. C. Turner and two children, Nancy and Charles, of Elmer, New Jersey, Mr. Charles Turbyfill, of New York City, Mrs. John Tate and two daughters, of Asheville, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Martin and three daughters, Catherine, Eugenia and Louise Martin. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Tate entertained the entire family group at a dinner party at their home in Asheville.

In Fashion Now

With the holiday season in the offing young things and old ones, too, are thinking of what they're going to have to wear.

It's a sure thing they can greet the season in proper attire and in a spirit to match the occasion because it seems to us, there never has been a winter season when so much color was displayed. It has been a long time, anyway.

From morning 'til evening, colors may run riot and still be in place. Sports and streets dresses of bright, vivid plaids, stripes and solids, mostly light weight woolens, are seen everywhere.

Afternoon dresses are also in the spotlight, often combining a colorful overblouse or tunic over a dark, straight-lined skirt.

Evening gowns are riots of color themselves, with practically any color that is becoming to the wearer in good taste. There isn't but one rule, it seems, this season, and that is—dress to suit your own personality. What's becoming to you be it whatever period or style, is sure to be correct, provided you have some taste and use good materials.

CENTRAL ELEMENTARY P. T. A. HAVE INTERESTING MEETING

The P. T. A. of the Central Elementary held their routine monthly meeting on Monday night at the school. The president, Mrs. Nobel Garrett, presided. Mrs. Hubert Limer had charge of the devotional feature. The program which was concluded with a prayer by Rev. H. W. Baucum.

During the period devoted to the transaction of business, a motion was made and carried to instruct the secretary to order five copies of the P. T. A. Magazine and also to send at once the state dues. It was announced that Mrs. Will Grahl had offered to lend the school a radio for the winter months. Mr. White Mease, Miss Frances Robeson and Mrs. Linwood Grahl were appointed by the president as a committee to complete the arrangements of installation of the radio in the school.

A decision was also reached regarding the necessary silver for the cafeteria, with the result that the P. T. A. will defray the expense up to a certain amount. The president announced that the January meeting would not be held of the first Monday in the month as school opened on that day and it would be best to delay until the following week.

The meeting was at this point turned over to Mrs. J. R. Morgan, who had charge of the program. The subject under study was: "Character, Education." Two excellent talks were made by the following: "What the teacher has a right to expect of the parents," by Mrs. J. M. Kellett, "What the home and school have a right to expect of the community," by Rev. H. W. Baucum.
