Survey Started On Soco-Cherokee Road Saturday

Engineers Are "Flagging" Route. Will Be Part Of The Scenic Highway

Preliminary work for the survey of the road from Soco Gap to Cherokee was started last Friday by a representative of the United States bureau of public roads, it was learned through Frank W. Miller, member of the state highway commission. The link will also be a part of the Scenic Parkway, which was recently decided on by Secretary Harold Ickes.

The Federal engineer, Mr. Haxton, was here Saturday, with Col. W. I. Lee of Gatlinburg, Tenn., an engineer of the United States Bureau of Public Roads. Col. Lee was in charge of the construction of the Gatlinburg-Newfound Gap road.

Mr. Haxton, Mr. Miller said, plans to "flag" the section of the Parkway leading from Soco Gap to Cherokee within the next five days and will make suggestions for changes in the proposed route. The link is 11 miles long and the route is through government land.

Early in the fall the state highway and public works commission decided to proceed with the construction of the extension of the Soco Gap highway from Soco Gap to Cherokee, but when it was decided to route the Scenic Parkway through this section the state commission abandoned its construction plans.

The Soco Gap road is now paved from its beginning at Dellwood to the Gap. With the completion of the Parkway link from Soco Gap to Cherokee, Western North Carolina will have another entrance to the National Park.

Organizations in Western North Carolina have urged Washington officials to construct the Soco Gap-Cherokee link of the Parkway first, as the state had made a survey and the right-of-way factor would not enter into the matter because the route is through government property.

B. S. Marsh, locating engineer for the State Highway and Public Works commission, is expected to call in a survey crew, now working on Highway 284, to work on the Soco Gap-Cherokee link.

Two Added To Health Service Of This District

The United States Public Health Service has recently allotted $2,400 to the Health District of which Haywood is a part with the main office here. The funds are for the purpose of employing an additional health inspector for the district work and a laboratory technician. The amount will cover the salaries of these two offices for the next eight months.

The need for a laboratory technician in the laboratory in the main office here has been realized for sometime. The length of time it takes a blood specimen to arrive in the laboratory of the State Board of Health in Raleigh alters the condition of the specimen to such an extent that a correct analysis cannot always be obtained.

George Tabor, of Almond, N. C., has been selected for the position of sanitary inspector and has been assigned to Swain county. The technician has not as yet been appointed.

Farmers Federation Plan To Build A Grist Mill Here

The Haywood County Advisory committee of the Farmers Federation met on Monday morning and decided to raise the necessary capital to set up a grist mill in connection with the warehouse here. The funds to cover this additional expense of the Federation to be derived from the sale of common and preferred stock.

During the past year there has been a surplus of corn in the county, yet last summer corn meal was shipped into Haywood from Tennessee. Following the policy of the Farmer's Federation in developing the marketing facilities of the county, the committee decided to go ahead with definite plans to install the Hammer grist mill and a corn sheller.

At some later date when the patronage justifies it they hope to install a feed mixer.

The Hammer mill will enable the farmers to take their own roughage and grind into a balanced live stock feed. The Farmer's Federation now has five grist mills and Hammer mills in connection with the warehouses at other places that are providing most successful both from the standpoint of the Federation and the service to the farmers in the areas they are operating.

The Haywood County Advisory committee of the Farmer's Federation is composed of the following: H. A. Osborne, Henry Francis, Glenn Boyd, J. B. Mofford, Glenn Palmer, Robert Boyd, R. F. Davis, R. C. Chambers, N. W. Carver, and C. S. Queen.

Livestock Is Sometimes Poisoned On Acorns And Leaves

The danger of livestock being poisoned by oak leaves and acorns is increased when undernourished animals are permitted to range in the woods, warns Dr. C. D. Grinnells, who is in charge of dairy investigations at State College.

Well nourished cattle seldom eat enough leaves or acorns to cause serious injury, he said, but underfed animals will eat large quantities of oak leaves, acorns, and young sprouts in an effort to satisfy their hunger.

Young cattle, especially, are liable to suffer serious digestive diseases when this oak feed becomes a prominent part of their diet. Loss of appetite, decreased or discontinued rumination, constipation, lowered milk production and a disinclination to move are some of the more obvious symptoms.

It is thought that the tannin, or the substances which produce tannin, is the poison which affects young, undernourished animals when it is eaten in large quantities.

Some observers are of the opinion that half-ripe acorns, which fall from the tree before maturing in times of drought, are more injurious than those which have ripened.

Animals over three years of age, sheep, and hogs are seldom bothered by oak poisoning, Dr. Grinnells says, although they too may become susceptible if forced to eat too many leaves and acorns.

Purpose Of The New Highway Protective League Are Outlined

League To Clarify Present Highway Laws, Says George Ross Pou, Of Raleigh

George Ross Pou, Raleigh, General Counsel of the Highway Protective League of North Carolina has issued the first statement defining the aims and purposes of the organization with which he has recently become identified.

"We have been asked," said Mr. Pou, "to inform the general public on the necessity of clarifying present highway laws.

"We have one of the finest state highway systems in the United States—a system that people outside the state admire and try to copy. A system pointed to as the chief reason for North Carolina's remarkable advance during the last ten years.

"But it is not completed. Many miles of inadequate roads still connect important communities. Many county roads, cared for by the state funds, need to be graded, drained and surfaced.

"Motorists of the state are paying for these roads in the form of gas tax and license fees. They pay every day for maintenance and construction they aren't getting because highway funds are being diverted for uses foreign to highways. Highway money is being withheld from its legitimate use in construction and maintenance.

Why? The Highway Department itself is being depleted because of layoffs and low wages.

"The League has for its purposes, (a) the prevention of further legislative diversion of highway funds; (b) the enactment of an amendment to the State Constitution prohibiting diversion of the funds; (c) a sound and proper revision of motor license fees; (d) the promotion of safety upon our highways; and (e) the adoption of a national highway plan for North Carolina.

"It is the purpose of this new organization to find ways to avoid these difficulties, take them to the people so they may judge whether the cause of such difficulties should be corrected.

Able men and interested organizations have joined hands with all North Carolina motorists to insure perpetuation of the best state highway system and most efficient highway department personnel in the land. A partial list of the sponsors of this organization is indicative of its ultimate success."

1,228 Given Jobs Through The Local Employment Office

During the first year's work of the United States Employment Service through the local office 1,228 men and women have been placed, according to a report made by Mr. M. E. Swearingen, manager of the Haywood County United States Reemployment office. The average placements made so far are more than three placements per day. A total of 505 were placed on C. W. A. projects in the county; 451 on the P. W. A. jobs and 270 in private employment. 316 veterans were placed on these projects. Veterans with dependants are given preference.

Opening November 28, 1933, the Reemployment Service has become a unit of the United States Department of Labor. At the outset offices were set up in practically every locality to serve civil works projects, but with the close of the administration central offices became district ones operating over three or more counties in which smaller offices were discontinued.

Haywood county has been fortunate enough to retain its office so far, and the local citizens should make every effort to have this office continued if possible as it's P. W. A. works are just in the beginning and counties that have no office have no opportunity to give local labor any preference on these projects, as provided by law.

The analysis of placements prepared by Mr. Swearingen include: odd jobs around homes, cutting lawns, cleaning up, etc. 9; day laborers on C. W. A. and P. W. A. projects and private employment 839; truck drivers 305; carpenters 51; brick masons 16; blacksmiths 11; concrete mixer operators 5; concrete finishers 14; farm hands 16; firemen 2; form setters 11; painters 3; shovel operators 4; time keepers 5; foremen 48; engineer assistants 1; plumbers 2; road machine operators 4; watchmen 16; tractor drivers 1; trucks and drivers 2; air drillers 4; sanitarians 9; census takers 3; shovel operators 2; clerks 1; powder men 4; superintendents 2; ironworkers 1; distributor operators (asphalt) 4; roller operators 3; loader operators 2; concrete spaders 8.

Jobs were found for 31 women. The analysis of placement of women were as follows: cooks 1; stenographers 3; housekeepers 17; maids 1; seamstresses 6; trained nurses 3; cannery workers 1; cashiers 1.

The active balance of applications in Haywood county office is 1,404 men, including 98 veterans; active women 79. The total registration of the office is 3,227. Lots of these have found employment for themselves; others' cards have been cancelled because the applicants have not renewed their application every 30 days as required by the manager.

Accused Arkansas Murderer Is Being Held In Jail Here

Youth, 21, Brought To Local Jail From Georgia For Safe Keeping For Arkansas Officers

Crut Cothrene, 21, is in the Haywood county jail awaiting the arrival of officers from Walden, Georgia, to carry him back there where he is charged with participating in a robbery and murder of an old man in that state.

Cothrene was brought here Sunday afternoon by officials from Georgia, and placed in the Haywood jail in care of Sheriff J. C. Welch, for safe keeping. The prisoner said he was arrested in Clay county late Saturday afternoon.

The prisoner talked to The Mountaineer Tuesday afternoon from his cell, and told of hearing discussions of the crime in Arkansas about "not chopping time," but that he knew nothing of it.

"I worked on my father's farm and one day when taking a disc plow to a neighbor's I heard him say an old man had been beaten to death in bed and robbed. I never saw the old man in my life," he said.

According to Cothrene, he left his father's place soon after the crime was committed, which was seven miles from his father's farm. He came to Clay county, of which he is a native and worked on his brother-in-law's farm until arrested last Saturday.

He has other relatives in Clay and adjoining counties, he said, but for the past six years, has lived in Arkansas.

The prisoner looks older than he says he is. He didn't hesitate to answer any question put to him. At first he denied ever knowing about the crime, then later told the names of two other men, men who were awaiting trial in Arkansas for participating in the murder.

Telegrams from Arkansas officials stated they were leaving there immediately to get the prisoner. It is understood that a $50 reward was offered for the capture of Cothrene.
