TIDY HOUSE OR HAPPY HOME—WHICH?

Dear Louisa:—
What do wives do to make their husbands tidy? In most respects my husband is ideal except for that fault. He never picks up his soiled clothes and he spills ashes all over the house. I spend a great deal of my time running after him and cleaning up. When I get at him about it he just tells me not to be a nagger and goes on doing the same things.
I've always kept a spotless house but it is almost impossible to do so with the kind of husband I have.
L. B. J.

Answer:—
I may as well admit that I do not know how to cure a husband of the untidy habit. In fact, I have just such a man myself. It does help, I think, to have a plenty of ash trays convenient and to keep the soiled clothes hamper in the bath room, but I have long ago given up the hopeless task of keeping mine from throwing newspapers on the floor when he finishes with them and putting all of his trash on the mantels. I've found that there is much less wear and tear on one's nerves to pick up behind someone than make a man who is "set in his ways" do so.

It pays to work on the children and keep after them, and sometimes a man who has grown careless and is not just that way, can be corrected in time, but the inherently untidy man who has never been taught to wait on himself really offers a hopeless task.
And, if that is your husband's only vice, you are a fortunate woman at that. Did you ever stop to think that a spotless house is not the most important thing in the world, after all. If it is a question of an immaculate house or a happy home, my vote goes to the latter.
Yours,
LOUISA.

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it; as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."
"Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

The kind of shortcakes like mother used to make is still in vogue; this type is made like pie pastry. But if you go in for the modern touch, then your short cake must be a light sponge cake or a delicate white one. When shortcakes are mentioned, strawberry shortcake is probably the one which comes first to our minds. There are many other kinds, such as peach, apricot, cherry, banana, etc. Shortcake can be served the year round.

Shortcake No. 1
3 cups flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
1-3 cups shortening.
Ice cold water to mix.
Sift the flour and salt into a bowl, chop in shortening with a knife until well blended. Add water to form a dough, cutting and mixing the paste thoroughly. Flour a board and roll paste out very thin. Fit into pie plates, brush with melted butter. Bake in an oven 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool. Fill one shortcake with fruit and whipped cream, cover with inverted pie crust. Cover with whipped cream and garnish with fruit used.

Shortcake No. 2
2 cups sifted cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1-2 cup sifted sugar.
3-4 cup milk.
3 egg whites.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder. Sift 3 times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in 2 greased cake pans in a moderate oven. Lay fruit and whipped cream between layers. Cover with whipped cream and fruit. Serve in wedge shape pieces.

Shortcake No. 3
2 egg yolks.
5 tablespoons cold water.
7-8 cup sugar.
1-3 cups cake flour.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
2 egg whites.
Beat the egg with a rotary beater. Add water and then the sugar gradually and continue beating. Add lemon juice. Sift flour and measure. Add baking powder and salt. Sift again. Add gradually to first mixture. Fold in the egg whites, beaten very light. Pour into greased spring flour pan with raised bottom inset. Bake in a moderate oven. When cold cut away from side with a spatular. Fill cavity in cake with fruit and whipped cream.
