

Forest Tints Herald Colorful Autumnal Season For W. N. C.

Waynesville, N. C.—First scarlet tints of the leaves of dogwoods are heralding the colorful autumnal season in the mountains of Western North Carolina. Within a few weeks the forests of the mountain area will take on the brilliant galaxy of hues for which this mountain resort section is famous throughout the fall months.

With 107 varieties of trees and over 100 species of shrubs indigenous to the forests of Western North Carolina, five times as many as may be found in the forests of other sections of the country, the autumnal display in the highlands is noted for its kaleidoscopic variation of hues, each species contributing its individual tint to the ensemble.

The volume of autumnal travel into Western North Carolina is increasing as the season approaches a peak which will be reached in mid-October. Visitation in many instances has remained high throughout the summer months and will continue their sojourns into the autumn months.

Mountain scenic attractions, which in this season have their most colorful aspect, are luring many motorists on long tours through the highlands. Particular interest will center upon the 60,000-acre reservation of the Cherokee Indians, located near the eastern boundary of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

Here will take place the annual Cherokee Festival, which this season will be one of the most colorful and spectacular ever staged by the Indians. Model primitive Indian homes in a model village, the primitive arts and crafts of the Cherokees, their farm products, their games of Indian ball, their contests in archery and with the

Your Horoscope

OCTOBER 8, 9.—You are very loving and true, always showing yourself as you are, and no one doubts your genuineness. You are thorough, painstaking, and have much originality. People have implicit confidence in your judgment and ability. Although rather positive and combative, you attract the same sort of people and have many warm friends.

OCTOBER 10, 11, 12.—Your nature shows rather strong intuitional and psychic traits. You are somewhat reserved and opinionated, but true and loyal to your friends and conscientious in all your dealings. You are refined and tactful, like good society and a dear lover of nature, especially in her solitary aspects. This is fortunate for you, for in your work you are apt to burn the candle at both ends.

OCTOBER 13, 14.—You should not go through life alone as you love deeply, and need to be loved in return. You are mechanically inclined, but improving and completing what others have left unfinished, rather than originality. You are an apt pupil.

Around The World In 10 Days Planned

NEW YORK—Around-the-world by air in 10 days. That will be the schedule for world travelers within another four years, according to Alvert Plesman, managing director of the Royal Dutch, or K. L. M., Air Line. As an evidence of good faith, Mr. Plesman is here to discuss plans for a world-circling air route with TWA and Pan-American Airways officials.

The K. L. M. now is operating a regular service for the 9000-mile flight from Amsterdam to Batavia, on a five-and-a-half day schedule with no night flying. The Pan-American "Clipper" operates between San Francisco to Manila on a two-day schedule. The link between Batavia and Manila is about to be closed by a subsidiary of K. L. M., Mr. Plesman revealed, leaving the transatlantic stretch as the chief remaining arc to complete the circle.

This, he said, would follow the survey made by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh across Greenland and Iceland.
