Hendersonville Bearcats To Play Locals Here Friday

After downing the Canton team, 18 to 14, the Hendersonville Bearcats gave all their attention this week towards getting into shape to duplicate the same when they meet the Mountaineers on the local field here Friday, according to word from Hendersonville.

The Bearcats got off to a slow start this season, but during the past few weeks have been showing their predicted strength, by holding Black Mountain to a tie and taking Canton for a win.

Coach Weatherby's eleven came out of the Forest City game in splendid condition, and have been putting hard practice this week in anticipation of a struggle with the Bearcats Friday.

From the past scores of both teams, Friday's game should be one filled with action and many thrills.

Second Primary Is Likely In Governor's Race, Said

Keen Political Observer Of State Politics Makes Prediction After Touring State

"The western part of the state is not showing as much interest in the governor's race as is the Piedmont and Eastern sections," this paper was told by a keen political observer, after making a tour over the state into every county.

This observer is a former member of the legislature, and for the past six years has spent most of his time in Raleigh. His views were that Hon. Clyde Hoey and Dr. M. Donald would have to fight it out in a second primary, with Mr. Hoey finally winning after a hard struggle.

That was his conclusion after hearing opinions in every county seat in the state. He expressed himself as believing that Lieutenant Governor, A. H. Graham will not get the votes he would have gotten three months ago.

The prohibition question will not be an issue, he said. There will be little said about that from any of the candidates, unless they change their present plans.

The sales tax will loom as one of the biggest issues of the campaign, with Dr. McDonald making a bitter attack on the present administration as he has already started.

The real fight will get underway just about 110 days before election, thus giving the candidates, or at least two of them, time to speak in every county.

The person making these observations has been in politics for many years, and is a keen observer, but this time he is "merely looking on," he said.

Receipts at the Waynesville post office increased $250 in October of this year over the same month last year it was learned from Postmaster J. H. Howell.

The announcement was also made that the rural carriers from the local postoffice would leave the office at 8:30 o'clock instead of at eleven. This will give the patrons on the route their mail about three hours earlier.

Heretofore the carriers have been waiting until the morning train came in, but until April first the mail coming in on the 10:25 train will be delivered the rural patrons the following morning.

Red Cross In Need Of Funds, Local Chairman Explains

Drive Will Get Underway In County On November 18th, According To Chairman Medford

(By William Medford, Roll Call Chairman of the Haywood County Chapter)

Last year there were 160 major disasters in the United States. In each disaster there were hundreds of families left homeless and destitute. The Red Cross was on the scene on each disaster administering relief, furnishing food and clothing and helping in the task of rehabilitating the devastated area.

One of these disasters occurred in our own Western North Carolina. We recall the unusual event of a tornado striking the Spring Creek section of Madison county and destroying over one hundred homes. The local Red Cross chapter was on the job within a few hours after the storm struck and the National Red Cross had a representative on the scene in twenty-four hours directing and administering the relief with national funds. This is representative of the speed with which Red Cross acts.

The Red Cross is the only organization that has the facilities for acting quickly and effectively when disasters strike communities. It is chartered by the Federal Government as the official agency for tasks of this nature. However, it does not receive one cent in appropriation from the Government. It depends for its funds upon the roll call conducted annually in every part of the United States.

But disaster relief is not the only work done by the Red Cross as a National organization. It sponsors a program of first aid instruction that is directly responsible for saving the lives of hundreds of people each year. It has trained workers giving comprehensive courses in home hygiene and care of the sick. The records of the Red Cross show that 785,929 women have been granted certificates on the completion of this course.

The public health nursing program is attracting national attention. There are over 30,000 Red Cross nurses in the United States ready to bring relief and care to the suffering. These nurses have become as important in the rural areas as the old time doctors. They bring a knowledge of hygiene and sanitation to the rural areas.

You will be called upon during the week starting November 18th to take out your annual Red Cross membership. The Red Cross cannot carry on its work without the funds provided through the medium of the roll call. Do your part. Remember that fifty cents of your donation stays in your local community. Its use will be discussed in a later article.

During the course of the six years, some 435 boys have been given football training.

LeRoy Davis has the program for Friday, and announced it would be a "surprise program."

Canton To Build Supplement To Water System

City officials in Canton are going ahead with plans to sell bonds to raise approximately $150,000 with which to build a supplement to their present water system.

The new supplement would consist of a filtering plant and water would be taken from the Pigeon River above Canton. This action has been brought about by the continued drought and the low stage of water in the present reservoir. Water is now being taken from Pigeon River and filtered by the Champion Company.

This will continue until rain fills the reservoir to a point high enough to supply the demand, it was learned through the health department here.

Residents of Canton have been advised to boil the water at least twenty minutes before using.

30 Men Working On Grading Of Highway No. 284 Between Woodrow And Springdale

Work on grading the new road from Bethel towards Springdale has progressed at a satisfactory rate, it was learned here this week, with some thirty men on the job. The grading is being done by C. A. Ragland Construction Company.

The bridge work, which will consist of two bridges across the river near Woodrow, will get underway at an early date, with T. L. Strider in charge. At present there are six men doing preliminary work, and eventually 75 or 80 will be added, it was said by an official.

About 75 men will also be required to put the crushed stone on the road as soon as the grading is completed.

On the Broad and of Highway 284, there are 174 men at work and two shovels, each a yard and a half capacity. It was learned from the resident engineer here that the grading will probably be finished by January first, and the road complete by June first. This link of the road was let last July, and is through the Looking Glass Creek section.

On the Saco Gap road, from the gap to Cherokee, engineers have been instructed to push forward with the work, which now consists of computing the variance in the right-of-way for the purpose of letting the contract. The road from the gap to the bottom of the mountain is about five miles, and about six miles from there through the valley to Cherokee.

Within a few days some 94 men will go to work on PWA road projects in the county, it was learned from the Re-employment office yesterday.

Forty-five men are now at work at the city park, and 33 on the streets in Canton. Five others will go to work next Monday morning in the Pisgah National Forest.

The Re-employment office also gave out the information that within the next few weeks some 400 to 500 men would be out to work in the county on a number of WPA projects.
