

"First Lady" Gives Advice To Leading Lady In "First Lady"

Last week Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited New York and took in the play, "First Lady." She was much amused by its picture of Washington intrigue and went backstage afterward to talk it over with Jane Cowl, the leading lady. Miss Cowl takes the part of a Cabinet wife who strives to make her husband president, and herself therefore, first lady of the land. At one point seeking to dissuade a rival aspirant for the honor she pointed out the many disadvantages.

She said: "Wait till you have to campaign with him and get up all hours to receive bunches of wilted flowers from little girls at railway stations—and launches. My dear they just never launch a battleship on a nice day. And you can't lie about you are any more, because 150,000,000 people know all about you. Once you've lived in the White House you're a dated egg." These lines were greatly relished by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Judge Lindsley Wins Case In Courts

From 1900 to 1927 the sinning adolescents of Denver could count on the sympathetic understanding of Judge Ben Lindsley. Evolving from his juvenile court experience the idea of companionate marriage, the judge made himself objectionable to organized religion, and made enemies of the political elements of Colorado.

These facts he always claimed were the cause of the action of the Supreme Court in deposing him from the bench in 1927.

Last week, on his 66th birthday the Colorado Supreme Court, on its own motion reinstated him to the practice of law. The personnel of the court had changed since 1929, some of its anti-Lindsley members having been defeated.

Judge Lindsley heard the news in Los Angeles where a year ago he was elected to a six year term on the Los Angeles Supreme Court. He intends to keep his present job.

MAJOR BOWES GOES TO COURT

In an effort to ring the gong on certain vaudeville troupes which he says are being falsely billed as his amateur Major Edward Bowes, radio amateur-hour conductor last week took legal steps in Montreal. He brought suit against the Confederation Amusement, Ltd., charging that it had been misrepresenting its performers as Major Bowes winners. According to the major there has been a lot of that recently.

Ten guaranteed simon-pure Bowes troupes comprising 145 of his radio-hour winners are now abroad in this land and Canada.

British "Who's Who" Makes Appearance

On Tuesday of this week the 1935 edition of the British "Who's Who" appeared in the United States. There are a few notable changes since last year; the King and Queen (this is their jubilee year) have the first four pages instead of the customary two. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., included for the first time used fifty lines of type to give his history.

Another newcomer is Allan Roy Daffoe, of Ontario, who takes eleven lines mentioning this: "A general practitioner since 1907; in charge of Dionne quintuplets from their birth May 28, 1934."

Among the dictators, Adolf Hitler takes three and a half lines; Chancellor of Germany since 1933; Fuehrer and Chancellor since 1934; b. 1889. Address: Berlin; Summer address: Obersalzberg, Bavaria. Josef Stalin uses four lines but gives no title: "B. Gori, Tiflis Province, 1879, m. Madejda Fergyezba Alileya (d. 1932) two c; address the Kremlin, Moscow."

Benito Mussolini takes thirty lines of which the last twenty are Italian. Haile Selassie has thirty lines—all English.

Unemployment Has Decreased 3 Million

Harry L. Hopkins a week ago gave out a pamphlet, estimating that unemployment decreased by 3,000,000 in the first two years of the Roosevelt administration.

The pamphlet was prepared by the research section of the Federal emergency relief administration, whose "liquidation" on December 1 coincided with the deadline for substituting work relief for the Federal dole.

The pamphlet presented statistics to show that only 12,000,000 workers were without jobs last March as compared with 15,000,000 March, 1932.

It is estimated also that 3,000,000 were unemployed in March, 1929, and 8,500,000 in March, 1931.

25,000 Are Cut Off State Relief Roll

Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, State relief administrator, estimated that 25,000 North Carolina families were cut off relief rolls at sundown Thursday, when Federal relief was discontinued.

Most of these families had leaned heavily upon the government for support during the last two years, it was said.

The group included thousands of unemployables, who are now at the mercy of local governmental and charitable agencies, Mrs. O'Berry pointed out.

Reports from Washington the same day said unemployment estimates widely used in government departments indicated that progress in cutting down the jobless rolls had been comparatively slow during the past two years, following a spurt early in the Roosevelt administration.

However, these figures showed that the number of unemployed in September, 1935, was 10,915,000 as compared with 15,071,000 in March, 1933, when Roosevelt was inaugurated.

"Our Bob" On Trip Around The Globe

Senator Reynolds and his daughter, Miss Frances Reynolds, who went with the Congressional delegation to witness the inauguration of the Commonwealth of the Philippines, are on a trip around the world, which is to include a visit to Ethiopia.

The two Tar Heels left the congressional party at Manila after the inauguration of President Quezon and, instead of returning eastward to the United States, they proceeded westward, to continue their jaunt around the world.

They planned to sail through the Gulf of Aden, the Suez canal, the Mediterranean sea and the Strait of Gibraltar.

It will be some time after New Year's day before they reach the States on their return.

Farm Questions and Answers

Question: Can soybean oil meal be used in feeding poultry?

Answer: This meal is one of the most complete vegetable proteins, but is lacking in mineral content and should not be used to replace all of the animal proteins in poultry feeds. In view of the shortage and high price of animal protein supplements, it is probable that soybean oil meal can be used to replace a part of these supplements. However, where fish meal or meat scrap is cheap, only a small quantity of the oil meal should be substituted.

Question: Is there any ingredient that I can put in pure beef tallow to bleach it and keep it from being rancid?

Answer: The addition of two tablespoons full of baking soda to each 100 pounds of tallow will bleach the mixture. This should be put in while cooking and after the tallow reaches the boiling point. This also removes some of the rancid odor, but the best way to keep the tallow from becoming rancid is to clean all cooking vessels thoroughly and cook properly. If the tallow is handled properly throughout the cooking and cooling process there will be very little odor and it will have better keeping qualities.

Question: What single spray will control scale insects and leaf curl disease on peaches?

Answer: A lime sulphur spray, either liquid or powder, will control both insects and disease. This should be applied any time between now and just before the buds swell. After the buds swell, this application will not control peach leaf curl disease. Where an oil spray is used for control of scale insects a 3-4-50 Bordeaux mixture must be added. When making this combination spray the Bordeaux should be made first and then the oil added. In making liquid lime sulphur use 6 gallons of lime-sulphur to 50 gallons of the spray. For the dry mix 15 pounds of dry lime sulphur should be used to 50 gallons of spray.
