HERE and THERE BY HILDA WAY Gwyn

We hope those people who have been wishing for a good old fashioned winter are satisfied—But then Waynesville isn't the only place that the weather has dulled activities. We are informed by the press that even Uncle Sam's operations virtually ceased on last Friday when the snow-fall in Washington, D. C., was 14.1 inches—and the Senate "held a brief meeting under a roof so leaky that buckets had to be set about to catch the drips."—But don't be discouraged—you could never doubt that spring is just around the corner if you take a look at the windows of C. E. Ray's Store, and Massie's Department Store—they are full of new spring models.

In the observance of the 26th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America and the awarding of the five gold medals, highest Scout award, by Daniel Carter Beard, chairman of the court of honor, to the five Scouts in the country, who have saved lives at great personal risk—North Carolina can feel a just pride—for one of the boys, so honored, is a native Tar Heel—Ross Sigmon, of Salisbury—and we in Waynesville, who remember his mother, the former Marie Hardin, who lived here—feel a still greater pride—Ross is the nephew of Mrs. W. L. Hardin and has visited here with his family.

We notice the foresters have voted to cut down all the chestnut trees in Pisgah Forest—as the best means of battling the blight—and of course they are an authority on the subject—to those of us who recall the happy days of chestnut hunting in the fall—it is a sad realization that the sport will, in a few years, become obsolete—and our grandchildren may never know the thrill of gathering chestnuts.

The busiest places in town for the past week have been the counters, in the shops that sell Valentines—we noticed on Monday that one place had almost sold entirely out—with the exception of those comes that have been the dread of little girls since they were first printed.—A small boy in the Waynesville Book Store was having the hardest time deciding—on evidently—a "very special one"—I hope the little girl who receives it will appreciate it accordingly—for his best consideration certainly went into the grave matter. Another busy place has been in the front room—around the stove—in the Aiken Gift Shop—knitting seems—if possible—to be gaining in popularity—there's hardly an hour in the day that someone isn't concentrating over wool and needles with Mrs. Silverthorne giving instructions.

If you are a radio fan—and no, politically minded you had better begin to study the radio programs with care—otherwise when you tune in at random—instead of some soothing music—you'll run into a fiery orator—running for some office—by the method of upholding the New Deal—or tearing it to shreds—as his political affiliations dictate. It seems that the radio as never before promises to serve as a powerful factor in the coming campaign.

In this issue of the paper you will find in the records of 23 years ago—the announcement of a library benefit tea—with Miss Sarah Stringfield, as hostess—and the fact that the women of the library board were trying to raise a $750 payment on the new building—by the first of May—Now 23 years ago there was not as much money in the community—as today—regardless of the fact that we are emerging from a depression—but that $750 was raised in Waynesville by nickels and dimes—and the payment made—This process continued by these faithful women—some of whom are still on the board—until the last payment was made—Now we face the task of raising around $100 with which to buy news books—Dr. Eugene Guder, in New York, has donated $5.00 and is asking that 19 civic minded citizens do likewise—Who will be the next to sign up?

Grasshoppers Are Jumping About, So Is Spring Near?

It's can't be very long when summer grasshoppers are playing about.
The thermometer says its cold, while Nelson Galloway, of East Waynesville, brings in a much alive summer hopper which tends to prove that "it ain't so."
The energetic insect jumped on Galloway's leg as he was strolling in a field on snow, over some leaves.
The lively "sign of summer" is being shown at The Mountaineer office, and those wishing to see some sign of spring are invited in to "take a look."
And as Uncle Abe said when he saw it in the glass jar: "Yes, air-ee, that's plum quare."

If you are married and living with husband or wife and your net income is $2,500 or over or your gross income is $5,000 or over, you are required to file a return."
