

Lose Last Minute Fight

Mrs. Hauptmann and Attorney Fisher

This photo shows Mrs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann conferring with attorney Fisher in a last minute effort to save her husband from the electric chair. Their efforts were futile, and the man who was convicted of kidnaping and killing the Lindbergh baby four years ago paid the penalty with his life Friday night in the New Jersey State prison in Trenton, N. J.

Hikers To Go To Top Chambers Mt. Henry And Howell To Address Juniors

The Asheville hiking club has invited the Waynesville hikers to join them in a trip to Chambers Mountain Sunday afternoon. Chambers Mountain towers above Clyde and can readily be seen from Waynesville. From the fire tower on top of the mountain is a wonderful view. Although the hike is not a long one, it is steep enough to be a challenge. The mountain is so open that it is best to take the trip before hot weather. The Asheville club is to meet at Clyde at three o'clock to make the trip. The local hikers will meet at two-thirty at the Boyd residence for the trip.

MISTRESS OF WHITE HOUSE

Last week brought a unique experience to Anna Eleanor Dall, age 9, who for two days was the youthful mistress of the White House. She and her young brother had been invited to visit at the Mansion. Her grandfather was on a fishing trip, and her grandmother had to leave for a while, and nothing remained for the young miss, but to take charge. This she did directing operations from the "back yard," where she and her brother have swings, toys, and two Irish setters as help.

Homer Henry will be the speaker at the Junior Order Tuesday night, April 14, at 8 o'clock. He will speak on "Liberty." On the following Tuesday night, the speaker will be Major J. H. Howell, and his subject will be "Patriotism."

Much Fat in Nuts

Common nuts, such as almonds, brazil nuts, pecans, walnuts, hickory nuts, peanuts, and wild nuts, contain roughly from 45 to 70 per cent fat, says the bureau of home economics. Their protein ranges from 10 to 25 per cent, and their carbohydrates from 7 to 25 per cent. The proportion of mineral matter is small but includes iodine, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, and sodium. Nuts are good sources of iron. In a meal, nuts are rich sources of phosphorus and poor for source of vitamin. Most nuts are good sources of vitamin B, but pineapples are almost devoid of it.

Dreams Don't Count

"I cannot trust the man who depends on making dreams come true," said H. H. Ho, the sage of China. "Thanks to your modern science, every dream is liable to be interrupted by an alarm."

Rat Once Curiosity

The common brown rat was introduced to the menagerie at Versailles, France, during the early part of the Eighteenth century as a curiosity. It was kept in a cage with lions, tigers, and lesser strange creatures—Hills Magazine

The natural range of the moose in North America lies almost entirely in Canada and it has changed little since the country was discovered. With the exception of Prince Edward Island, the moose may still be found in every province.

on different committees regarding school matters, and other civic projects.

From district number two, comes the announcement of E. B. Rickman, a former member of the board of commissioners, who is asking for a place back after being out two years. He was not a candidate last year for office. He served during the term of 1932-1934.

As it now stands, John Best, is the lone candidate for member of the board of education. Mr. Best is a present member of the board and is asking for re-election.

George F. Platt, who is perhaps better known as "Captain Platt," is a candidate for sheriff, and according to those placing his announcement, he has acquired a large following at this stage of the campaign.

The fourth man to announce for sheriff was Robert V. Welch, who is now deputy sheriff, working under his father, Sheriff J. C. Welch. "Bob" is well known in that capacity, as he has worked many years with his father, who has served a number of times as sheriff.

The last candidate to file this week was J. R. Boyd, Jr., who is a candidate for register of deeds. This is the first time he has been a candidate, although he has been active in political affairs for several campaigns.

The state candidates were busy this past week covering the state, and making plans for the next two months which will see one of the most extensive campaigns in many years.

Clyde R. Hoey, candidate for governor, made a statement this week as follows: "One of the things I will work on as soon as I take office is free text books for the children in our schools. We already provide free tuition and free transportation to and from the schools, and in order to complete the program we must provide free books."

Instead of establishing headquarters in Raleigh, as have most state candidates, Thad Eure, candidate for secretary of state, has opened offices in his home town of Winton, in Hertford county. He spent a few hours here yesterday.

The State magazine, published in Raleigh, is conducting a straw vote on the candidates for governor, and last week's issue gave the following totals: Clyde Hoey, 1,316; "Sandy" Graham, 783; Dr. Ralph McDonald, 1,741 and John McRae, 94.

Word coming from the McDonald camp this week was that the doctor's formal opening address strengthened his candidacy because of its broad, frank outline of a progressive policy. An audience of 3,000 heard the address, while an estimated half million Tar Heels got the message via a state-wide radio broadcast.

"Sandy" Graham told students of East Carolina Teachers College this week: "Without one cent of tax on farms and home this state is maintaining an eight months school term, giving every child in the state an equal educational opportunity."

FOR SHERIFF

I am a candidate for the nomination as sheriff of Haywood County in the Primary on June sixth. Your vote will be appreciated. ROBERT V. WELCH

Large Audience Enjoys Contata

The presentation on last Sunday night, of Stainer's "Crucifixion," given at the Presbyterian church, by the Waynesville Choral Club, was received by an appreciative audience. With strict tempo, and the beautiful blending of the voices, under the expert direction of Evander Preston, with Miss Grace Crocker, accompanist, it was considered by local musical authorities as one of the best renditions of its kind ever given in Waynesville.

Mr. Preston, who possesses a golden tenor and Lester Potent, bass, were the soloists, both singing with clearness and depth of expression. Others taking part were as follows: Sopranos: Mrs. Fred Martin, Mrs. Olive Green, Mrs. Tom Spurlock, Mrs. George Kuntz, Mrs. Joe Liner, Mrs. Earle Messer, Miss Ida Jean Brown, Miss Mary Emma Massie, Miss Louise Stringfield, Miss Gladys Deuss, Miss Lois Harold, Miss Bobbie Jean Truesdale, and Miss Frances Robeson.

The altos were: Miss Mildred Crawford, Miss Eva Leatherwood, Miss Margaret Walker, Miss Mary Ruby Davis, Mrs. Hurst Burgin, Mrs. H. W. Baucom, and Mrs. E. B. Camp. Tenors were: Evander Preston, William Medford, LeRoy Davis, and Fred Calhoun. Those singing base were: Lester Potent, Edwin Potent, Tom Spurlock, and W. H. Harbin.

An announcement was made last night that the contata "Rabboni" scheduled to be given at the Methodist church Sunday has been indefinitely postponed.

this chapter had been increased over one hundred per cent. While several score persons have given to the Red Cross during this emergency, the additional call from headquarters makes it necessary for a canvass to be made in order to reach the quota, Mr. Baucom said.

Those who have visited the stricken area bring back stories of horror on top of horror. All contributions should be made immediately.

Some Plants Are Strong

Plants, like athletes, are able to perform relatively prodigious feats of strength when subjected to a rigorous course of physical exercise. University of Illinois scientists have discovered. After tying heavier and heavier weights to the leaves of a mimosa plant, it was found that after three ten-day periods of such training, the leaf stem not only required less time to return to position, but could support heavier weights than an unconditioned plant. It is suggested that hot-house plants may be weaker than wild varieties because they get less exercise in resisting breezes.

Cave of Mummies Discovered

In limestone caves of the coastal mountains of New Guinea rows of mummies of men, their chins on their hands, their elbows on their knees, have been discovered. They are believed to be 1,000 years old. The caves are near the strip of coast administered by the Australian government. Almost at the time of the discovery a party of explorers stumbled on a valley populated by a hitherto unknown pastoral people who had dwelt there when the mummies were living men. Until the mummies were found there was no evidence that New Guinea tribes preserved their dead.

Considerate of Enemies

As a mark of courtesy the men of Norway in olden times let the hair on one side of their heads grow long, so that it could be grasped in a hand-to-hand fight. Men with these locks were still alive in southern Norway 20 years ago.
