HOLLYWOOD—Although she is a star in pictures, with a four-figure salary and fame such as comes to few, Anne Shirley is as excited as a little girl over a planned vacation to New York. She leaves around the 23d, after the completion of "Daddy and I", and it will be her first visit to Broadway since she was five years old and starting her career as a model of children's clothes.

In the last 13 years, this red-headed Cinderella of Hollywood has been out of California only once, and then only for a drive across the Mexican border.

If her mother can be persuaded, and Anne is talking hard, the R-K-O star also will experience her first airplane ride on the trip.

The action of an English news syndicate in paying a famous masculine star $2,000 for his life story is the newest headache of the studios. Now, all the stars want to be paid similar amounts, and there is much to do about it.

La Hepburn plays a mother for the second time on the screen in "Portrait of a Rebel", and four different actresses are required to impersonate the child at different ages. Marilyn French, six months old, will play the infant daughter of the star. Bonnie June McNamara, five years old and winner of a recent Canadian beauty contest, will make her film debut as the same youngster at the age of five. Marilyn Knowlden (remember her in "Showboat") will be the child of 10, and Doris Dudley will play her at 18.

The star herself progresses to the age of 35 in the film.

You Asked Me and I'm Telling You: Antonio Libasei, Brooklyn: The pronunciation of Simone Simon's two names is identical. The nearest English equivalent is probably "See-moni". Incidentally, it's her real name.

The Mexican vacation of Gloria

Stuart and Arthur Sheekman will include a drive back from the capital to Laredo, Tex. They plan to allow 12 days for the 2,300-mile journey along the International highway. I believe Gloria will be the first star to make the entire trip by motor.

Luckless Jean Harlow is in a jam again. It was printed in San Francisco that one of the star football prospects of St. Mary's university had danced with her once and decided to forego the rest of his college career for the movies. Students of the university have been bombarding the star with protests.

There is only one catch. Jean says that, to her knowledge, she has never even met, much less danced with, the young man.

Here and There in Hollywood: Week-enders returning from a near-by resort insist that a pair of famous stars must be secretly married. . . . Claudette Colbert's mother is back from her European trip and is off to the Santa Cruz location of "Maid of Salem" to visit her famous daughter. . . . Jerry Horwin postcards that Venice and the Lido seem like Malibu, what with the Jack Warners, the Menjous, Jimmy Durante, Douglass Montgomery, Lillian Harvey, Junior Laemmle and Jola Lodge all summer visitors. . . . Jeanette MacDonald is up and around after a terrific case of sunburn, which put her in bed. . . . Saw Myrtle Stedman dining at Lindy's the other night, which reminds me it would be nice to see her more often on the screen. . . . Pending Harry Richman's return, Barbara Pepper is consoling herself by dining at the Vendome with Eddie Bellandi, the flyer.

Today's Puzzle: What young actor has announced at so many night clubs that he is the newest star of a certain studio that it is likely to cost him his part in a picture?

HIS GOOD TURN

A long-haired man was accosted by a little bootblack: "Shine your shoes, sir?"

He was disgusted by the dirt on the lad's face.

"I don't want a shine, my lad," he said, "but if you'll go and wash your face, I'll give you six-pence."

"Righto, guv'nor," replied the boy, as he made his way to a neighboring fountain. Soon he returned, looking much cleaner.

"Well, my boy," said the long-haired one, "you have earned your sixpence; here it is."

"I don't want your sixpence, guv'nor," replied the boy, "You 'ang on to it and get your 'air cut.'"—Tit-Bits Magazine.

NO CHAIN LETTERS

She—You promised me when I married you that I could have everything money could buy.

He—Yes, and I thought you had the money.

His Waiting Game

Moxon's lip curled in a sneer as he met his friend Jenks.

"Well," he exclaimed, "call yourself a man? I've just heard that you caught Willis kissing your girl and made no attempt to interfere."

"True," said Jenks; "but I'm biding my time."

"Is that so? Until when?"

"Until I catch her being kissed by a smaller fellow."—Stray Stories Magazine.

Liking and Having

College Man—What would you like, dear?

Coed—Well, I'd like some fruit cocktail, some caviar, an order of frogs' legs, some fruit salad, a sirloin steak smothered in mushrooms, a large lobster, some dentasse and some pie a la mode.

College Man—That is all very well. But, now, what will you have?

Taking Action

"Has Crimson Gulch done anything about the crime wave?"

"Yes, sir," answered Cactus Joe. "We law-abiders are being overworked. Notice has been given that anybody who makes any more trouble for the grand jury is goin' to be socially ostracized."

Mutual Destruction

"National parties have always selected animals as their emblems."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "I'm afraid that if candidates get into the habit of quarreling, the elephant, the donkey and all the rest of them will have to stand aside and make way for the Kilkenny cats."

SATISFACTION

"How do you like your new neighbors?"

"Great. We've lived in this apartment seven months now and none of them have bothered us yet."

Improbable

"I want to tell you of an adventure I had last night."

"Is this a true story?"

"Of course."

"Then go ahead."

"I stopped to pay a bill, and—"

"I thought you said it was a true story?"

Too Much to Hope For

Daughter—My teacher is going to teach me domestic science.

Mother—You mean domestic science, don't you?

Daughter—Maybe that is right.

Mother (sighing)—But I wish you had been right the first time.

Wary

"What you need is a press agent."

"No, sir," replied Senator Sorghum. "I had one once. Folks found out about it; said they were beginning to like his ideas better than mine and maybe it might be a good thing to give him the job."

Obviously

Al—What you been doin'?

Sam—Settin' out some trees.

Al—What kind?

Sam—Little wooden ones.

Unanswered

Some noisy relatives were visiting a couple and happened to mention their dog, a big mongrel.

"He's just like one of the family," said the pup's mistress.

"Which one?" asked the hostess.

Worry Weakens Pope Pius XI

Interest of Catholics throughout the world was focused on news dispatches from Italy, following the announcement by Vatican City prelates that Pope Pius XI had become weakened as a result of worry over bloodshed and destruction of churches in Spain's civil war. Illness of the holy father, who is 79 years old, was disclosed after preparations were made for an expiatory service in St. Peter's for the death of priests and nuns in Spain. Prelates feared the pope soon might be unable to walk.
