Probe Gang War

Lawrence Crowley

Echoes of the gang wars of prohibition days were stirred in Joliet, Ill., when two youthful gunmen riddled Lawrence "Butch" Crowley with bullets as he stepped from his car in front of his home. Crowley, who became Joliet's richest bootlegger—and was reputed to have been so successful that he had gold door knobs on his home—was thought by police to have been muscling in on the slot machine racket, a theory which Crowley denied. His condition was described as critical.

Mrs. John K. Boone, Mrs. C. L. Dickson, of Durham, and Mrs. Hugh Massie and young daughter, Mary Ann, who have been visiting the former's sister, Mrs. E. C. Jones, in Loudon, Tenn., have returned to town.

Mrs. Ruth Williams Rotha was the guest during the week of friends in Bryson City.

Mr. W. O. Mangum, of Morganton, spent the week-end in town as the guest of friends.

Mr. Tom Campbell, of Asheville, was the guest of friends in town over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Trotter, of Reidville, spent the week-end in town as the guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. S. T. Neal. They were in this section of the state to attend the marriage of Miss Mary Harris Hubbard and Mr. Charles Ashby Lumpkin, Jr., which took place in Asheville at the bride's home on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. William Hannah and Miss Jewel Hippis, were among those motoring to Asheville on Friday.

A SPEEDY CURE

Two taxi-drivers were talking, one apparently in great pain, says London Tit-Bits.
"Yus, Bill," he said, "can't 'ardly walk. 'Ad this corn for three weeks."
"Why don't you try one of them there chiropodists, 'Arry?"
"Three days later they met."
"Ows your foot, 'Arry?" asked Bill.
"Harry was in the best of spirits. 'It's all right now. I went to the chiropodist, and do yer know it weren't no corn at all?"
"No?" replied Bill in surprise.
"No," answered Harry in disgust. "It was me collar stud got stuck in me shoe!"

IN THE MARKET

"Maude made all her money in stock, didn't she?"
"No, in bonds, matrimonial."

Ready for Either Turn

The parents of a new baby girl had stopped at the parsonage to have the little one baptized. The name they had given her was Dina M., the father explained.

"And what does the M stand for?" the minister asked in curiosity.
"Well," replied the father, "if she grows up to have a sweet, gentle disposition like her mother, we will call her Dina May; but if she develops a temper like mine, we'll have to call her Dina Mite."

Teaser Tested

The boy was probably mentally deficient, and an examination was indicated.

"How many ears has a cat?" queried the psychologist.
"Two," replied the lad instantly.
"And how many eyes has a cat?"
"Two."
"And how many legs has a cat?"
"Say, Doc," asked the boy, "didn't you ever see a cat?"—Mental Health.

Just Pals!

Mr. Groncho—Why isn't my supper ready?
Mrs. G.—I've been down town bargain hunting all the afternoon and I just couldn't get home in time.

Mr. G.—Huh! Looking for something for nothin', I presume.
Mrs. G.—Yes, looking for a birthday present for you.—Pittsfield Magazine.

Restraint

"What would you think of electing a woman to the United States Presidency?"
"I'd think well of the idea," said Senator Sorghum. "Our talk is growing about and colloquial. Maybe we statesmen would be more judiciously polite if we had to remember that there is a lady President."

VACATION THOUGHTS

"Have you a recommendation from your last place?"
"Yes, sir; seven months off for good behavior."

Overheard in a Doctor's Office

"Say 'ah.'"
"Aw."
"No, 'ah.'"
"Noah."
"No!"
"No."
"No! Just an 'ah.'"
"Anna."

Hole in One

Horton Smith, the Chicago golfer, told a golf story at a luncheon in Palm Springs.
"Last Christmas eve," he said "a golfer hung up his stockings before the fire in his bedroom, and when he got up Christmas morning he found a hole in one."

Deficient Knowledge

"Your boy Josh thinks he knows a lot about baseball."
"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "That's why he has so much trouble. Anybody that knew as much about the game as Josh thinks he does would know enough to quit umprin'."

Anything to Please

"Mm, that popcorn smells good," the girl exclaimed as they drove past the stand.
"Doesn't it?" agreed the man. "I'll drive a little closer."

Fierce Animal

"But these shoelaces seem very dear."
"Ah, but they're real mohair, ma'am. And it's a risky job, hunting the mo."

Victim Of Joe Louis

George Brescia

George Brescia, of Brazil, could not stand up under the heavy blows of Joe Louis, the brown bomber last Friday night. Brescia was knocked out in the third round after taking many hard and damaging blows.

BEHIND THE SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
HOLLYWOOD—Football sequences in "The Big Game" were all too realistic for Andy Devine, gravel-voiced screen comic, who failed to get up after a half dozen all-American charges over him for the benefit of grinding cameras.

Andy Devine

Grimacing from the pain of an injured foot, Devine was carried to the hospital where Doctors Dickey and Burrall put him under the X-ray and then announced that the actor was suffering from contusion and a sprained right foot.

To anxious screen executives, this means shooting around the comedian until he is able to don football togs again.

To Devine, it means crutches for a number of days.

The new home of Venita Varden and Jack Oakie at Pacific Palisades is the complete Hollywood menage, even to a swimming pool. Jack and the bride have even engaged an instructor to teach them the art of the perfect jackknife and the swan dive.

The turnover in film chorus girls is as complete as this. Out of 125 cuties lined up by Busby Berkeley for the current "Gold Diggers", only one worked in the famous 1929 edition. Remember Winnie Lightner in this? And Nick Lucas singing "Tip Toe Through the Tulips"?
Warners figure that the "Gold Diggers" title is worth millions. All of the series have been big hits. They have played to a total gross of $15,000,000.

You Asked Me and I'm Telling You! Archie Baldwin, Minnieapolis: It is hard to say what the average popular song brings to authors, but certainly nothing to get excited about. Bing Crosby, brother, Larry, tells me he got $21.99 out of "Plain Old Me" which was recorded by Vallee and a number of other name orchestras.

Jean Harlow didn't have to go on the Sonora location of the "Labelled Lady" company, but she sent a 15-piece brass band to the Glendale station to bid Boy Friend Bill Powell and the rest of the troop goodby. For Bill and Walter Connolly and Director Jack Conway, there were red roses and Myrna Loy received a huge bouquet.

Within an hour the other day, the old death rumor story cropped up about Dick Powell, Joan Blondell and Edward G. Robinson. All three reports were quickly squelched, but Joan Blondell began to worry about her sister, Gloria, in New York, and spent plenty on the long distance telephone satisfying herself that there had been no confusion in names.

Here and There in Movieland... The big question around Hollywood now is who keeps a diary. Eleanor Powell does, if anybody is interested...

Madeleine Carroll

Madeleine Carroll writes that the weather in London is too depressing and that she can't wait to get back to California... Another traveler, Tay Garnett, postcards from Denmark that he is homesick for the boulevard... You may not believe it but M. G. M. had to close the set where Robert Benchley is recording "How to Vote" because visitors laughed unexpectedly and spoiled too many takes... The exotic Margo was dining at the Brown Derby the other evening with Jerry Asher and Francis Lederer... Ann Sothern is prepared to sing, dance, play the piano and perform feats of magic on her personal appearance tour this autumn... Marcel Lamaze is greeting guests at the Cafe Lazare again... That was Betty Grable's sister with the starlet and Eddie Coogan at the Club Casanova the other midnight... And among the film crowd at Yosemite the other week-end were Binnie Barnes and Don Alvarado.

Today's Puzzle: What society girl of Sydney, Australia, is pining for a Hollywood film star since he made a picture over there?
