HAYWOOD FARMERS READ THE FOLLOWING AND PLAN YOUR 1937 PROGRAM

The 1936 drought laid its parched tongue over the great Central Valley from Canada to Texas. Effects can now be viewed in retrospect with particular slant on poultry.

1. The farmer takes a beating for the second time in three years and, like a good sport, comes back for more.
2. The farmer is a great gambler. He will play the averages and take a chance on next year being a good year. Grain plantings will be heavy. Markets may soon begin to discount the probability of more grain in 1937.

3. The picture has been changed completely from much heavier egg production to fewer eggs, as a result of heavy selling off of flocks, including pullets.

4. Another good year for hatcheries is indicated for next season after it looked like a peak might be reached in 1936. Corn production and poultry production go hand in hand. Corn shows the smallest crop in 50 years.

5. Scarcity of fruit and vegetables in the 1936 drought means more consumption of eggs.
6. Poultry meat, in heavy supply,

NEWS BRIEFS FROM CLYDE HIGH SCHOOL

We have our extra high school teacher, Miss Josa Mae McNeil. We also have an extra elementary teacher, Miss Louisa Rogers.

The Hi-Y Club was organized October 7, under the supervision of Mr. O. C. James. The following officers were elected by the club: President, Charles Bennett; vice president, Zane Grey Hall; secretary and treasurer, S. L. Rogers. Program committee, Mark Cathey, Charles Bennett and Robert Harris.

The poetry club was organized October 7, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Terrell. The club chose for its name—Sans Peril, a French phrase which means "without equal." The constitution and by-laws of the club were drawn up by the members. A group of officers were elected, including: President, Linwood McElroy; vice president, Evelyn Fincher; secretary and treasurer, Louise Green, program committee, Vivadean Swayngin, Ruth Dotson, and Ada Ann Ferguson.

The B. T. U. of the Clyde Baptist church held a study course for the past week. The title of the course was "He Knoweth Not How." The course was taught by Bill Harris, of Clyde. Junior and intermediate classes were also taught.

Mr. Wayne and Mr. Irvin Haynes left Friday morning for Texas. They will be employees in Champion Fibre Company's mill.

HOW SCHOOLS HAVE HELPED OUR EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

When our schools were first organized we did not go through high school. We stopped after finishing the seventh grade. The schools have improved a great deal since that time. We now have all types of studies in high school.

Schools have been a great help to all people; those who haven't an education can't get a position very well or one that is very important. We wonder sometimes why certain subjects are taught in school. We say that it will never do us any good, but someday we will learn why these subjects are taught.

The government has helped our schools a great deal in the past few years. We should be very proud of our schools of today.

look, cheap alongside of high priced lamb, beef and pork.

7. Grain imports on increase for several years—assuring change in the farm policy in proper land use not Crop Reduction.

8. Increased income for the farmer, except in worst drought areas, with less work (less volume.) 1936 farm income estimated at 7.8 billions or 12 per cent more than 1935. Many farmers were reported early sellers of grain and poultry—and planning to spend the winter around the kitchen stove.

9. East left in stronger position, as in '34 drought.

To the majority of farmers, 1937 looks good. For those in the worst drought areas.

Fisher Urges Voters To Take Stock Of Situation

With the presidential election less than three weeks away, it behooves every intelligent voter to take stock of the situation and compare it with the picture during the days of the previous administration.

The writer does not care to go back three or four years. He prefers to forget that period, but trusts that those who desire to share such forgetfulness will not be unappreciative of the vast contrast as presented to the revitalized American. The writer would rather talk of improved conditions today.

In Western North Carolina alone there is more money in circulation now than at any time since 1929. When I say now, I mean this time—less than three weeks before the election. If previous presidential elections have adversely affected business, the present campaign is the reverse of the rule. There has been no lull.

Further, it cannot be gainsaid that the farmers' finances are better, and that organized labor's position has been improved. And, businesses, large and small, no longer struggle for existence.

We hear a lot about the Federal deficit. From the standpoint of preserving human worth, which the present administration has done, there is no deficit. But, look at it from a monetary standpoint, and let it be admitted that there is a deficit—we must remember that the increasing incomes will eventually meet the deficit and balance the budget.

And, speaking of Government finances, and the things which have been done, and speaking as an overseas World War veteran, as well as a citizen and voter we should not be unmindful of the fact that the soldiers' bonus has been paid, and has been paid under this administration. No Congressman or Senator worked more diligently toward the enactment of this legislation than Congressman Weaver.

We have forded the undercurrents of the River of Depression—leaving the shores of Despair behind, and are now coming into the harbor of Security, Opportunity and Prosperity. Let us not change horses in mid-stream. It behooves the voters, regardless of party politics, to re-elect President Roosevelt and Congressman Weaver, and to cast a vote to perpetuate the work of the present national administration.

Yours very truly,
WM. P. FISHER.

THE TRUTH ABOUT G-MEN!

WERE PUBLIC ENEMIES SLAUGHTERED UNJUSTLY?

"NO!" say authorities who followed these daring government agents in their war on crime.

Now . . . for the first time . . . records of the U. S. Bureau of Investigation are thrown open! Hitherto unrevealed annals of G-Man heroism are placed before the public. Decide for yourself . . . were Dillinger, "Baby Face" Nelson and "Ma" Barker slain in "cold blood?" Or did they have a fair chance . . . did they deserve any consideration?

'BULLETS of JUSTICE'

By REX COLLIER

The inside story of America's war on public enemies is now told for the first time in a series of illuminating articles by this famous writer. You'll learn how the G-Men closed in on these arch-criminals in a campaign that kept the nation on its toes for months. And you'll get the official answer to criticism of G-Man activities . . . an answer which defends these daring officers for their courage under fire!
