

Editor's Note—Uncle Abe often receives joke-communications for his column which cannot be used for the simple reason that they do not bear the writer's name. Remember that we MUST know a correspondent's name, although he may use a pseudonym if he prefers.

LICKER STORES IS THE TOPICK
Last Fri, bein' a kold day the Frog Level Fillosafers club met promptly, this time round the Farmers Federashun big stove—
"Now, go-to-it boys," said Geo. Brown, "I've got my offs over on t'other side in our new store, so that ye won't be bothered mutch."

Uncle Jim, Big Slick, Deakon Bill an' the Town Guy, charter members, wuz all present. The kold wether had furst konsiderashun, but Uncle Jim soon dismist that sugjick by tellin' the krowd that they hadn't seed no kold wether, like it wuz when he wuz a boy—

"Why, fellers, I've driv a 2-hoss wagon 'cross Pidgeon river menny a time on the ice, an' cut holes in the ice so's the stock eod drink . . . back when I's a boy. Me an' my duddy yooce to cut trees down on the bank of the river fur far-wood, cut 'em up, then drive the wagon out on the ice an' haul the logs off—an' not faza

NOTICE

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, COUNTY OF HAYWOOD.
IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.
J. H. Howell, Receiver of Haywood Furniture Mfg. Corporation
Vs.
H. B. Atkins, Trustee, and C. W. Denning & Company, V. C. Lumber Company, Mobile River Saw Mill Company, Anderson-Tulley Company, Blackwood Lumber Company, Perry Plywood Corporation, Darlington Veneer Company, North State Veneer Company, Central Veneer Company, Stubbs Veneer Company, Besson Hardware Company, Southern Varnish Company, The Consolidated Mirror Company, American Credit & Indemnity Company.

The defendants above named, other than those who have been personally served with summons, will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Haywood County, North Carolina, to cancel a deed of trust dated May 15, 1929, executed by Robbins Furniture Company to H. B. Atkins, Trustee, and which deed of trust is duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Haywood County, North Carolina, in Book 22, at page 553, Record of Deeds of Trust, and the said defendants will further take notice that they are required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Haywood County, at the court house in Waynesville, N. C., within thirty days from the 20th day of March, 1937, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in said action.

This the 18th day of February, 1937.
W. G. BYERS,
Clerk Superior Court of Haywood County, North Carolina.
No. 555—Feb. 25-Mar. 4-11-18

Legislative News from Raleigh

(Continued from Page One)

the county participation plan, knowing full well that if the state pays the entire bill, they will have to pay a part of the old age pensions in the poorer counties. Then there is the element, said to be headed by Governor Hoey, that favors this plan, because of the belief that if the counties are paying part of the bill, county commissioners will be more careful who they recommend for participation in the fund, and that thus the likelihood of people not really entitled to old age benefits being placed on the pension list will be reduced. The opposition is here; but so far the only plan advanced to get away from the present provisions of the bill is that of Craven's Libby Ward, who offered amending provisions striking out county participation, by reducing the total appropriation for the purpose by one fourth, leaving only the three-fourths financed by the state and federal governments. The effect of this, course, would be to keep a raise in property taxation off, but also to reduce by one-fourth the old age benefits that would be paid in North Carolina. The chances are that the wealthier counties, the people who believe that there should be county participation, and the liquor stores advocates will have sufficient strength to pass the bill through the House as it was passed by the Senate, and that the counties will be faced with a tax rate raise, or with the alternative of establishing liquor stores to care for the old age insurance.

The free text books bill, which passed the House by a unanimous vote, was held up for several days in the Senate, as Senators pondered the question of where the money is to come from to buy the books and distribute them to the primary and elementary school children of the state.

Highway reorganization along the lines proposed by Governor Hoey in his inaugural address, will be enacted; but there has been a great deal of maneuvering for advantage, as the committee has been studying the bill. Advantages sought by interested people in all parts of the state are twofold. There are those who seek to have the district map made so as to give them better chances of control of the commission in order to assure the distribution of funds in such a way as to give the maximum amount of construction and maintenance money in their particular localities. Then there are those who are seeking political preference. There are almost as many candidates for appointment as there are counties in the state, and in some counties there are factions and groups that are seeking different candidates even within the same county. All this divergent opinion and conflicting interests, financial and political, has caused the map to be redrawn three times already, and counties shifted about. Every body wants a road, and nearly every body in every county wants a commissioner. The roads can't all be constructed. Neither can all counties and factions have representation on the commission, for there will be but one commissioner to each district. Some districts will have few counties, others may have as many as fourteen. Any way you look at it, the committee has had a job on its hands, trying to carry out the recommendation of the governor that the state be divided into highway districts, as was the original plan upon which North Carolina started building highways, 17 years ago.

The revenue bill, as it was finally enacted by both houses, carries out the pledge of the Democratic platform, and took the sales tax from many of the necessities of life. It did however, despite the strenuous objections of Senator Johnston, of Buncombe, Representative Kimsey, of Transylvania,

"I kin remember them days . . . lot o' men drinkin' up all their wages ever Sat, an' goin' home Sat, nite to their wives an' kids with licker 'stid o' groceries . . . don't tell ME hit won't be eny wuss 'n tiz now. Why, I kin remember seein' drunk men scattered all 'long the road . . . from here to Cove Cr., Fines Cr., Upper Pidgeon, an' ever other di-reckshun on Saturdays and Sundays. Course, I no they legislachur men's got more edgyca-shun 'n I have an' ma-by more sense to boot . . . but I don't think they orter be a-fixin' it like that."
"Well, that's jist sump'm you THINK," said Big Slick.

"All out, fellers, pleeze!" sed Roger Medford, "closin' time . . . an' you're not a-goin' to agree no how."

Well, Mr. Editor, I reckon Mr. Mathis jined up with the Gloary Be crowd last Sat.
Lee Forgason sez he thinks Tom Medford, Lawrence Walker, Horace Ledbetter and prob'ly Arlo McCracken will jine nex Sat.

If they shood, I don't no what they wood do. They can't preach nor sing, they coodn't lurn the git-tar, an' they-'regittin' too old to give that hed jerk and' body mo-shun . . . but ma-by they cood take up the kollecks-shun.

"Harry, go down an' kinnel up a far in my offs, I've got to rite some letters to-nite," sed Wm. Hannah to Harry, the shoo-shine, few nites ago.
"Now, Mistah Hannah, you knows I'se not a-gwine by Mistah Jim Boyd's grave yard in de nite," Harry objected.

UNKLE ABE.
Poas' Scrip—Snow's 6 inches deep this mornin'. Now, Mrs. Horace Forgason's got a apple tree him' in her dinin'-room, stickin' in a flower pot since 'fore Xmas . . . an' the thing's in full bloom! Don't-chu see hits a plum quare ol' worl'!

and others, leave the 3 per cent levy on meals served in hotels and restaurants. The chief opposition to the tax came, as it did two years ago, when it was first enacted, from the counties of the west, where the summer tourist trade is considered big business. Buncombe and Transylvania raised most of the objection to the tax; but it remained in the bill, where it was put by amendment in the Senate. The gasoline stations were able to effect a compromise of $4 a year per pump, in lieu of the proposed sliding scale of chain-filling stations tax, to which they objected so strenuously, and which they contended would result in putting half the filling stations in the state out of business.

A bill, which will interest the teachers, was introduced last week. It provides that any surplus that may be left in the general fund at the end of the next fiscal year be appropriated for the purpose of raising the salaries of class-room teachers.

Messrs. Berry, Cabe, Aycock and others sent in a bill to raise the salaries of state employees. Those receiving $48 a month or less would get a 30 per cent raise. Those who draw from $8 to $68 a month would get a 20 per cent increase. Those drawing from $68 to $78 would be raised 10 per cent; and those whose salaries are from $78 to $100 would be increased 10 per cent.

Mr. Finch, of Buncombe, proposed in a bill that when the state school folks allot teachers for another year, they must take into consideration, in figuring average attendances of schools, such unusual occurrences during the previous term as epidemics and the like.

Showing that the presiding officers feel that the end of the General Assembly of 1937 is drawing near, Speaker Cherry has appointed a calendar committee, consisting of Messrs. Paylor, Peace, Bryant, Thornton, and Blount. The prediction is that the 15th of March will about see the end of the 1937 session.

After that, Governor Hoey will begin his appointments, and the eyes of the state will be turned from the House and Senate chambers to the Governor's office. There are many important appointments to be made, and more that are not so important. Two justices of the Supreme Court, and a complete highway and public works commission, including a chairman, are among the more important posts to be filled.

And, speaking of the Governor's office, North Carolina is the only state of the entire 48 in which it is not necessary for the Governor to sign an act of the General Assembly before it becomes law, and in which the Governor has no veto power. It is understood that Governor Hoey would like to see the Constitution so amended as to give the Governor power to veto legislative acts, and that an amendment will be offered. Such a one was proposed a few years ago, and the people swamped it at the polls. Just what their reaction would be now is problematical; but North Carolina has ever been reluctant to adopt such radical changes as this, and regardless of what the General Assembly may do about it, the folks might not see it in the light of giving veto power to the Governor. Had he had it this year, it is practically certain that the liquor stores legislation without a state-wide referendum would not now be law in this state, for Clyde Hoey has always been opposed to the legal sale of liquor, and affirmed his belief in his inaugural address that "A great state cannot be built upon money derived from the sale of liquor."

The prohibitionists made many mistakes in their career of ascendancy. One was the belief that prohibition laws were all that was necessary, thus abandoning their educational program, when prohibition was enacted into law. Another mistake was that prohibition was adopted in this state by a referendum on a state. It would have been just as easy to have adopted it at the same referendum as a Constitutional Amendment. If it had been done in that way, the 1935 General Assembly could not have enacted the ABC stores legislation for the 17 counties. The present General Assembly could not have adopted the county option plan, for the only way to get an amendment out of the Constitution is by the same way in which it was put in, and that is by a vote of the entire electorate of the state.

NOTICE

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, COUNTY OF HAYWOOD.
IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.
TOWN OF CLYDE
VS.
ROBERT MASSEY, ANDERSON MASSEY, and wife, MAMIE MASSEY.

The defendant, Robert Massey, will take notice that an action entitled as above, has been commenced in the Superior Court of Haywood County, North Carolina, for the collection of taxes and street, sidewalk and sewer assessments, heretofore levied by the plaintiff against property situate in the town of Clyde, Haywood County, North Carolina, to-wit: that certain lot or parcel of land described as follows: . . . deed from J. M. Massey, et ux, to A. Massey and Robert Massey, dated January 1st, 1928, and recorded in Book 92, page 499, Haywood County Registry, to which deed and reference is hereby made for a particular description, and in the defendants own, or claim to an interest, and the said defendant will further take notice that is required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Haywood County, in the court house at Waynesville, on the 8th day of March, 1937, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

This the 3rd day of February, 1937.
KATE WILLIAMSON,
Assistant Clerk Superior Court of Haywood County, North Carolina.
No. 550—Feb. 11-18-25-March 4

NOTICE OF SUMMONS NORTH CAROLINA, HAYWOOD COUNTY.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT BEFORE THE CLERK.
W. T. Rainer, Administrator of the estate of C. B. Howell, Deceased.

Vs.
Gertrude Howell, Frank Howell, Nell Howell, Raymond Howell, Mabel Howell, G. V. Howell, Winnie Howell, Mrs. Kate Kennedy, F. R. Kennedy, Mrs. Myrtle Rothged, R. M. Rothged, Mrs. Fannie Burr Rainer, W. T. Rainer, Mrs. Opal McLin, C. H. McLin, Jack Howell, Ray Howell, Alvin Howell, Katherine Howell.

The defendants, Gertrude Howell, Raymond Howell, Mrs. Mabel Howell, Mrs. Opal McLin, C. H. McLin, Howell, Raymond Howell, Alvin Howell, and Katherine Howell, will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Haywood County, N. C., sell land located in Jonathan G. Township, Haywood County, N. C., Carolina, of which the late C. Howell died seized to create assets pay the debts of the said C. B. Howell; and that the said defendants, at law of the said C. B. Howell, further take notice that they are required to appear in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court in county, in the court house, in Waynesville, N. C., within 10 days from the 10th day of March, 1937, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

This the 10th day of February, 1937.
W. G. BYERS,
Clerk Superior Court of Haywood County, North Carolina.
No. 551—Feb. 11-18-25-Mar. 4

NOTICE
To All
Citizens or Property Owners of Haywood County
Holding unofficial or temporary Tax Receipts to bring them to the Tax Collector's Office, Waynesville, N. C. for verification and get your Official Receipt.
W. H. McCRACKEN
Tax Collector.
By, Order of County Commissioners

Pleasant Memories of Olden Times Schlitz In "Steinies"

Schlitz poured from modern "Steinie" Brown Bottles brings glorious memories of olden days . . . of brown-raftered inns . . . and the finest old-day beers in old stone steins. Old-day brewmasters labored hard and long to catch the delicious, old-time flavor that Schlitz brews so uniformly, winter and summer, into every drop . . . under Precise Enzyme Control.

The uniform goodness of Schlitz is the direct result of years of research and the investment of countless dollars in scientific development of the brewing art. You taste immediately the delicious difference between Schlitz and other beers. Enjoy it today, in modern "Steinie" Brown Bottles . . . with the added health benefits of Sunshine Vitamin D . . . the finest beer men and science can brew.

Schlitz "Steinie" Brown Bottles are compact—light in weight—easy to carry—take less space in your refrigerator. Contents same as regular bottle. Also available in the familiar Tall Brown Bottle and Cap-Sealed Can.

[ You don't have to cultivate a taste for Schlitz . . . you will like it on first acquaintance . . . and ever after. ]

JOS. SCHLITZ BREWING COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous

Copyright 1937, Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co.—19