"3. That we respectfully request the Secretary of Interior to arrange to have surveys and plans prepared immediately west of Bull's Gap to the end that contracts may be let west of Asheville during 1937-38.

"We suggest that the first projects let include that portion of the route between Wagon Road Gap and Balsam Gap, because this section is contacted at each end by existing highways, and this plan would make this portion of the route available to the public much earlier than if the parkway were to be constructed continuously from Bull's Gap.

"We recommend that a committee be appointed to go to Washington when it seems advisable to personally present the views of North Carolina to officials concerned with the parkway."

The Waynesville Chamber of Commerce was host to the group at luncheon at the Hotel LeFaine.

New Wells Funeral
Home To Stage A
Formal Opening

Formal Opening Will Be On Saturday And Sunday Of This Week-End

(Written for The Mountaineer.)

Serving Canton and this section of Western North Carolina with almost phenomenal efficiency since 1881, the J. M. Wells Funeral home, of Canton, will launch official operations within their new and modern mortuary, on Academy street, with an elaborate formal opening Saturday and Sunday, May 15-16, in which every resident of Western North Carolina is extended a most cordial invitation to participate. The successful and ever-growing organization was founded here by the late C. T. Wells, pioneer settler and outstanding business man of the Western North Carolina territory, in 1881. Through the ability of the late Mr. Wells to serve the citizenry of this locality, the business grew constantly along with other community assets in this section of the state.

It was in 1925 that the son of this esteemed pioneer, J. M. Wells, after thoroughly and technically equipping himself for his life's work, assumed the ownership and sole management of the popular establishment. Through his genial and unassuming disposition, Mr. Wells has compiled an unlimited acquaintance throughout this section of the state which his establishment continues to so efficiently serve. Associated with Mr. Wells, is his wife who has played a leading role in the success of the business throughout the years.

The new and modern mortuary boasts all conveniences essential to an establishment of this kind and has been conservatively labeled by experts as one among the leading mortuaries in this section of the Southland.

Not only are Mr. and Mrs. Wells the leading undertakers of this section, but they are outstanding business people who invariably take an active and co-operative part in the civic and religious life of this section of Western North Carolina.

To every citizen of this section is extended an invitation to visit the

- Mrs. Mary Gibson.
- Mrs. Lester Fore.
- Mrs. James Phillips.
- Miss Helen Wright.
- Mrs. Coy Smith.
- Mr. Grady Rogers.
- Mrs. Raymond Hyatt.
