SEEKING JUNIOR ORDER POST

J. C. Coston, of Hendersonville, is a candidate for the place as state secretary of the State Junior Order United American Mechanics.

Hendersonville Man Slated For Secretaryship

Register Of Deeds Of Henderson County Is Candidate For Junior Order Office

North Carolina's 45,000 Junior Order members are approaching the annual convention of the order 2 months hence with keen interest in the selection of a state secretary. The late Sam B. Vance, of Kernersville, held the office for 37 years, and the death last January of this beloved official left a vacancy that is to be filled at the August convention of the order. Friends of Mr. Coston declare him to be one of the best equipped men in the state for the office of state secretary. He is serving his third term as register of deeds of Henderson county, being thoroughly familiar with secretarial work and book-keeping methods. His high sense of honor, his consistent Christian life, and his ability in secretarial work, his friends declare, combine in making him the ideal man for this place, and a most worthy successor to the beloved Sam B. Vance. Mr. Coston is well known throughout the state, being song leader for many years in the state conventions of the Junior Order, and having been music director in many revivals throughout the state.

It is said that many local councils of the Junior Order, as well as many districts, have lined up for Mr. Coston, and thus his election is already assured.

"Country Store" Museum Reputed Worth $75,000

On a second floor, over a country store, in McDowell county, is a "museum" reputed to be worth $75,000. One of the finest of its kind in the United States, it is the property of E. F. Kirksey. He does not call it a "museum," but simply a "collection of Indian relics," which he has been accumulating for more than 40 years—since he was a boy.

The majority of the relics came from within a radius of 15 miles of Mr. Kirksey's home, the choicest of them uncovered by the Linville and Catawba rivers, during the 1916 flood. His most valuable article, Mr. Kirksey says, is a ruby spae head, which he purchased from the Cherokee Indians. He believes it to be the largest ruby in the world. It measures 5 1/2 inches in length and 2 1/2 inches wide. Another relic is a jeweled serpent-head ring. This is thought to be of Spanish origin.

Employers with less than eight employees are exempt from the provisions of the state unemployment compensation act. If an employer has as many as eight workers who work as many as 20 weeks in the year, one day in a week being enough to make it count for a week, then he and his employees are covered by the act.

The show (coronation) had been provided for Edward, but you threw Edward out and put George in—William Gallacher, Communist member of Parliament.

Mule's Throat Cut By Irritated Negro

A mule accused of stopping at the command "giddyap" and gaining ahead on "whoa" bore knife wounds and a negro was under arrest in Atlanta, charged with using cold steel to cure the animal's contrariness.

Patrolman H. C. Tuggle said the negro, Willie Swift, 23, admitted using his knife on the animal's neck in a fit of exasperation.

L. V. Howard, owner of the mule and employer of Swift, had the negro arrested on a cruelty to animals charge.

Congress Basing Farming Facts On Biblical Records

The old adage that there is nothing new under the sun was once more proved during the last few weeks when members of the House Agricultural committee listened to arguments in favor of a scheme which Joseph in Biblical times suggested as a remedy for the recurring scarcity of food in the land of Egypt. The new farm control bill embodies in its essence the principle of making provisions for the lean years during the fat ones. Seeking to carry out the President's often-expressed desire to protect producers and consumers from excessively low or high prices, and yet at the same time to insure an ample supply of crops at all times, the bill contains many provisions.

"Perfect Co-Ed"

Claire Thuot

Chosen the "perfect co-ed" at Boston university, Claire Thuot of New Bedford, Mass., attributed her perfection to three rules: "Act natural, dress according to your age, and go sparingly on cosmetics."
