More Than Hundred Streams And Lakes Open To Fishermen

Sherwood Forest Streams Will Be Open On Week-End Of May 7-8

More than 100 streams and lakes in Western North Carolina, are open to public fishing. Seasons off all species of trout in the mountain streams opened on April 15 and the open period continues until August 31.

Fishing opportunities this season will be augmented for anglers by a series of week-end fishing periods in the stocked streams of the state and national game preserves of the region, by the opening of specially stocked streams under co-operative fishing arrangements and the opening of streams in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

Beginning May 16 and continuing to August 31, many of the fine streams in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park will be open to fishermen. There are over 600 miles of fine fishing streams in the national park and many miles of these streams will be open to fishing this season. Tributaries of the streams will be closed for stocking but the main streams will be opened after May 16 between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

In the Pisgah National Game Preserve, stocked streams will be open to anglers with state or county licenses on payment of a $1.00 daily fishing fee. The streams will be open on May 20, 21, 22, June 3, 4, 5; June 17, 18, 19; July 22, 23, 24; August 5, 6, 7 and August 19, 20, 21.

Streams in the Sherwood preserve, will be opened to week-end fishing May 7, 8; July 3, 4 and August 13, 14 on the same basis as those in the Pisgah national preserve. Man-days will be limited to a seasonal number in each of the preserves and should these be exceeded during early parts of the season subsequent open dates will not be continued.

Wise conservation policies have enhanced the fishing opportunities in the Western North Carolina streams and lakes. Lakes of the region of

Trade Of Dizzy Dean Has Baseball Fans Agog

"The Great One" Predicts Best Season Yet, As He Starts In With Cubs

The breath-taking deal that sent Dizzy Dean, one of the game's great pitchers from the St. Louis Cardinals to the Chicago Cubs in exchange for three players and a cash sum estimated up to $150,000, still had baseball fans standing around wondering what would happen next in America's favorite sport, as the big leagues got underway.

All speculation as to the winner of the National League pennant, was in turmoil, as betting odds were quickly withdrawn and revised.

Diz is "tickled pink" to be with the Cubs. And he indicated they were far from unhappy.

"You know, some of those guys wanted to pinch me," he illustrated, "just to be sure it was so."

Arm Feels Great
It was his salary arm he pinched. "No fooling, my arm feels great," Dizzy declared.

The 27-year-old former cotton picker whose won and lost record from 1932 through 1937 reads 18-15, 20-18, 30-7, 28-12, 24-13, 13-10, wanted to know what the St. Louis fans thought of the trade announced "for the best interest" of the Cardinals.

He learned some had echoed Pepper Martin's dismal "there goes our pennant and world series money," and he added "you can't play cash on the ball field."

Dizzy could shed no light on reasons why the Cards "sold him up the river."

Good Reason
"Those things just happen," he commented. "As far I know, things had been fine all Spring, and I sure think I'm going to have a good season."

Again he flexed the arm that caused Cardinal boss Branch Rickey to admit, even after the trade, that "Dizzy at his peak was about the most valuable player in baseball."

Announcement of the deal broke without warning in the Cards' clubhouse Saturday, just after Joe Medwick's homer gave the Cards a city series victory over the Browns.

The Redbirds were blue. They agreed "we'd have been a scinch with "Diz," and sought consolation in Pepper Martin's suggestion "they'll use some of the dough to get Mungo."

Besides cash, the Cardinals obtained Curt Davis, Clyde (Lefty) Shoun and outfielder Tuck Stainback, President Sam Breadon said the Cubs got "no guarantees" with Dean, apparently a reference to the sore arm blamed for Dizzy's worst season, 1937.

He had started that year in great form. Then, in a Cardinal-Giant series here May 19, a balk was called and he protested. Two innings later Jimmy Ripple claimed Dean tried to "bean" hip, and a general melee ensued.

Hazelwood's First 1938 Game Will Be Against Red Oak

Manager Bischoff Pleased With The Condition Of Team. Many Vets Back

The Hazelwood Manufacturers open their baseball season Saturday on their home diamond against Red Oak. The Manufacturers are a member of the Industrial League of Western North Carolina.

Due to adverse weather conditions the Hazelwood team has not been able to get as much practice as they would have liked, but according to Manager Bischoff, the team is progressing nicely.

The team is made up of quite a few new players this year, with several young players added.

Manager George Bischoff was still undecided as to the actual starting team in Saturday's game. He released a tentative lineup as follows:

The batteries will be Putnam, who is a veteran southpaw, or Byrd, a new man on the mound, with Price, an old timer, or Smith, a new man on the team, behind the bat.

Frank Robinson will probably cover the first sack. Robinson has been out of baseball for several years, but has returned and is as good as ever. See 7.

Less than a month later, on June 2, Dean was suspended for remarks allegedly maligning President Ford Frick of the National League, but was reinstated two days afterward.

On July 7 a ball batted by Earl Averill in the all-star game cracked Dean's big left toe, and kept him off the mound for two weeks. Shortly afterward, a pain in his shoulder diagnosed as bursitis put the Cardinal star virtually on the shelf.

Stagehand, Derby Hope on Hand

Earl Sande and Stagehand

Stagehand, favorite to win the Kentucky Derby, is on hand at Louisville, Ky., track and in the keeping of his trainer, Earl Sande, shown above with the horse. Sande refused to predict a win for Stagehand.

ond base will be taken care of by the old reliable, "Dutch" Fisher, who has held this position for several years. Short stop will be taken care of by a veteran, Glen Wyatt. Third base lies between Inman and Andy Wyatt. In the outfield, Ruff and Truitt are named for left field with Blalock at center and Scruggs at right. Other players that will probably see action in Saturday's game will be, Lane, Gene Wyatt, Gordon Wyatt, Robinson, Johnson and Cassada. A goodly number of baseball fans are expected to be on hand to witness the first game of the season.
