Women Eagerly Await Mountaineer's Second Motion Picture Cooking School

Many Helpful Suggestions Made In Motion Picture Cooking School For Housewives

It's the talk of the town! Women throughout the community are planning to attend the friendly class for home-makers, the Motion Picture Cooking School, scheduled to open at the Park Theatre today.

A welcome invitation to the wise is sufficient, and the only invitation needed for this novel cooking school is that extended to every woman by The Mountaineer. There is no charge to see any of the showings of "Star in My Kitchen."

Because this newspaper stands ready to sponsor all progressive developments, particularly when they affect the homes of the community, it is presenting this motion picture romance of home-making entirely free.

"If I could only see exactly how she mixes and handles her pie-crust." That comment has been heard from beginners and from more experienced cooks at many cooking schools. Craning necks and anxious eyes, trained on the stage from the side and back of the demonstration hall, have failed to catch all of the important steps in pastry-making and other culinary arts. Only the early birds in the very front row have had a close-up of the stage in the past, and even they couldn't peer directly into the mixing bowl.

Now the wizardry of the camera has solved the problem, making it possible for every person in the Park Theatre to share each fascinating stage of the planning, measuring, blending, and baking in practical, up-to-date minute kitchens.

Keeping pace with the banking roasting and frying, a series of salads and frozen delicacies will parade in and out of the adaptable electric refrigerator, which will reveal its host of possibilities for simplifying labor and marketing, and contributing to good health and good food.

What to do with left-overs? How to take the gloom out of laundry day? How to save time, energy and temper in meal preparation? How to be attractive in spite of the daily rush? How to make the pie-crust that men love to eat? How to give first-aid to fallen cakes?

It won't be necessary to ask the question, for expert home specialists have anticipated these very problems. They know what bothers many an experienced housekeeper, because it is their job to know and to counsel helpfully.

Fun, novelty and entertainment are joined throughout the feature picture, for it is always fair weather when neighborly cooks get together. Home-making has a universal appeal, and every woman is eager to learn the newest news of her craft.

Cooking, romance, modern kitchens, and clever actors and actresses do not tell the complete story of this 1938-model cooking school. The picture is a whole laboratory of modern ideas and wise counsel, touching on latest developments in home equipment and accessories, including laundry methods, ways to prepare left-overs, beauty secrets, hints on saving time and labor, and fresh suggestions on how to entertain graciously, as well as how to be thrifty.

Surprises in store for readers of The Mountaineer will not be limited to free entertainment and instruction, since there will be daily gifts, many of which will bring pleasure and renewed appreciation of "school days" long after the final graduation on the closing day.

Join the parade of home-makers on May 5 and 6 at 3 p. m. and on the 7th at 10 a. m.

GIVES CAN OPENER

PRINCES ANNE, Md.—J. Millard Tawes, Court Clerk, presents prospective brides and bridegrooms with a can opener when he issues them a license. He explains his action by saying: "When I issue the license, I include a can opener with my compliments. It serves two purposes—first to make home life a lot easier for the bride, and second, to keep the bridegroom from starving to death."

Dry Cleaning Is Best Prevention Against Moths

The annual battle between housewives and moths is just entering the first stages with the coming warm weather, according to Miss Mamie Whisnant, assistant home management, and house furnishings specialist for the State College Extension Service.

In the past, woolen garments were packed away with dozens of moth balls. However, modern research has shown that moth balls, cedar boxes and other repellants cannot be relied upon to prevent eggs already present from hatching.

Moths do not damage garments; it is the larvae or caterpillars which develop from the tiny eggs deposited by the moths which shred clothing.

The best method for taking care of woolen garments is dry cleaning and thorough pressing, after which the clothing is hung in moth proof bags.

Articles which do not hang, such as blankets, may be moth-proofed, wrapped in paper and put away in chests or on high closet shelves. Moth-proofing solutions are available on the market and sold directly on the garments.

Before putting away woolen housewives should wash in air and sunshine as two of the worst enemies. All woolen first be cleaned, rinsed, and ed well, and then put out in air and air for at least one day.

After that they should be ined thoroughly to make moth or eggs are destroyed storing. Large, unbroken paper make good wrapping and the end laps or folds should sealed with gummed tape to breaks or openings through which moths may enter. Newspaper is excellent for wrapping since not like printers' ink.
