TEA HONORS JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB

The first recognition of National Music Week, by the local Waynesville Music Club, was on Sunday afternoon, when the senior organization entertained with a tea in the Welch Memorial Sunday school building, complimenting the Junior Music Club, of which Miss Grace Crocker is director.

The guests were received by Mrs. Robert H. Stretcher, who stated that the affair on Sunday will be inaugurated as an annual feature of the observance of National Music Week, by the local group.

The following program was rendered by the juniors, who displayed unusual talents: A piano number, "The Round Up," by Sinclair, played by Jeanette Burgin; "Andante," by Van Gluck, by Ruby Frances Brown; "Animal Crackers," by Hagman, sung by Ida Lou Gibson; "Clair de Lune," an old French folk song, sung by Norma Burgin; "Fair Debutante," by St. Pierre, played by Jean Hyatt.

"Ronda," by Hayden, played by Jane Wyeche; "Dream Land Gate," by Huertel, sung by Marie Strange; "On the Ice at Sweetbriar," by Crawford, played by Jane Dudley Francis; "I Know a Lovely Garden," by D'Hardou, sung by Merrill Green; "Majesty of the Deep," by Hamer, played by Sara-Louise Leatherwood; "Prelude in E Minor," by the composer, Bobby Sloan.

Jean Ann Bradley sang "Nursery Rhymes," by Curran. The closing number was a duo, "Manana," a Mexican Street Dance, by Morton Gould, played by Miss Grace Crocker and Bobby Sloan.

During the social hour Lois Masie, Jane Dudley Francis and Lenora Mae Walker served.

It was announced that several of the members of the Junior Music Club would attend Junior Day on Saturday, at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Music Federation, which is being held in Asheville this week.

WAYNESVILLE VISITOR WEDS IN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Miss Josephine Davis became the bride of Frank M. Inman, Jr., on Saturday, 30th, in a beautiful ceremony at the Decatur Presbyterian church, the nuptials being among outstanding social events in Georgia society this spring. The marriage vows were pronounced by the Rev. Samuel Martin Inman, of Richmond, Va., brother of the bridegroom, who was assisted by Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Decatur church.

The church was decorated in stately palms, Easter lilies and white gladioli. The pews designated for the family and close friends were marked with clusters of Easter lilies tied with white satin.

Reese Inman, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The groomsmen were, William Inman, Thomas H. Daniels, Jr., H. W. Beers, Jr., and William C. Curry. The ushers included Thomas H. Daniels, Sr., Morgan McNeel, Eugene McNeel, John A. Hynds, Joseph W. Cooper, Samuel Rumph, Phillip Alston, and Hugh Trotti.

Mrs. James A. Wheeler, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing pink net; Miss Edwina Davis, younger sister, was maid of honor, and wore powder blue. The bridesmaids were Miss Nell Scott Earthman in Nile green; Mrs. Eugene McNeel in apricot net, and Miss Louise Trotti in pale yellow. These attendants of the bride wore dresses made exactly alike of double net, fashioned over taffeta, with shirred bodices, short puffed sleeves and full skirts. They wore halo hats of the same material with velvet streamers, and their bouquets were of yellow tulips and blue delphiniums, tied with Nile green mauline.

Little Barbara Anne Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Boyd, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl, her dress being of pale pink net over taffeta. She carried a nosegay of small pastel flowers.

The bride entered with her step father, William Eagle, by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding gown was of pearl white satin fashioned along becoming princess lines with the floor length skirt widening to form a long graceful train. The high neck line was featured by a collar of seed pearls, and offset by a handsome platinum and diamond pin, the gift of the groom.

Her illusion tulle veil fell in graceful folds over the train and was caught to her suit by clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a white leather prayer book, and her flowers were lilies of the valley centered with gardenias.

Mrs. William Eagle, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in royal blue lace, with shoulder spray of orchids. Mrs. Frank Inman, mother of the groom, was beautifully gowned in flowered chiffon with dark blue background and her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of bronze orchids. Mrs. Sam Inman, grandmother of the groom, was lovely in a black chiffon gown, combined with lace and trimmed in dusty pink. Mrs. Grady Boyd, aunt of the bride, from Waynesville, wore blue lace, with black picture hat.

After the ceremony the members of the wedding party and family assembled at the Candler Hotel in Decatur for an informal reception. The bride's table was covered with an exquisite lace cloth imported from Germany and was centered with a beautifully embossed wedding cake. Silver candlesticks flanked the decorations.

The couple left for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. The bride traveled in a smart three-piece blue wool suit trimmed in a blue fox collar. She wore a small hat with veil, and her accessories were of harmonizing blue.

Upon their return they will reside in Atlanta, where they will be popular and prominent additions to the younger married set in Atlanta.

WEDDING TAKES PLACE IN GREENVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Frady have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Edith Reynolds, to Jack Clark. The wedding was solemnized in Greenville, S. C., on Saturday.

For her marriage Mrs. Clark wore a navy blue ensemble with white accessories. Her flowers were talisman roses.

Mr. Clark is the son of Mrs. D. N. Clark. He is a graduate of the Fines Creek high school.

Both the bride and groom hold position with the American Enka Corporation. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Asheville.

Those attending the wedding were: Miss Ruth Frady and Miss Catherine Frady, sisters of the bride, Bobby Gaskins, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Clark, Miss Kate Dalton, of Asheville, Zeb Rogers, of Waynesville, Miss Lois Fitzgerald, Mrs. E. J. Jones, of Traveler's Rest, S. C.

Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Huggin, Jr., and small daughter, Betsey, left on Sunday for Spartanburg, S. C., where they will spend this week as the guests of relatives.
