

Clyde School To Open August 29th

Registration To Begin For High School Set For August 22 and 23

Special to The Mountaineer.)
According to a report from the office of the district principal, Professor C. C. Hanson, the Clyde school will open the fall semester of the regular term on Monday morning, August 29.
Classes are scheduled to assemble at 8:45 o'clock. The entire school will convene at noon on the opening day in order to give the teachers an opportunity to make requisition for books. Regular class work will begin Tuesday morning.

Students are urged to attend school the first day so that registration and organization may be made as complete as possible.

In the elementary school a book is being sold for supplementary readers. For the first and second grades the fee is fifty cents; for the third, fourth and fifth grades, sixty cents; and for the sixth and seventh grades, seventy cents. An added requirement this year in the elementary school is the use of work books for certain basal texts. The price range of these books is from thirty to fifty cents. The number of such exercise books for each pupil will be determined by the teacher the opening day. Work books will also be used in several high school subjects. Parents are very kindly requested to cooperate with the principal and teachers in support of this program for the education of their children.

High School Registration
Monday and Tuesday, August 22 and 23, respectively, have been set aside by the principal as registration days for the high school. Students

Go To Church Sunday

HAZELWOOD PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. J. H. Gruver, of Black Mountain, will preach at the morning service on Sunday. Special music will be furnished by a group of children from the Mountain Orphanage of which Mr. Gruver is superintendent. The evening service will be conducted by the men of the church, L. N. Davis, president, presiding. Both these services will be inspirational and helpful.

The pastor and family will spend a week at Montreat attending the annual Bible conference and ministers' forum. All services are now being held in the new church.

O. C. LANDRUM,
Pastor.

WAYNESVILLE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. Robert Peter Walker, Minister.
Did you ever seriously search for a valuable thing that was lost? Some time ago a very valuable diamond was lost on Main street, Waynesville. Diligent search was made, but so far we know the jewel was not found. In the golden text of the book of Luke we learn that God is seeking lost jewels—lost men. The pastor will speak on that golden text Sunday at 11 a. m.

Bible school at 9:45.
Morning sermon at 11.
Christian Endeavor at 7.

We cordially welcome visitors to all services of this church.

"Grace Church in the Mountains" EPISCOPAL

Rev. Albert New, Rector.
"Jubilee" Sunday, August 21st, 1938.
8 A. M. Holy Communion.
10 A. M. Church school.
11 A. M. Bishop Robert E. Gribbin will conduct a special service of Thanksgiving in commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of Grace Church. The foundation stone was laid exactly sixty years ago, i. e., on August 29, 1878.

An offering of two thousand dollars is urgently needed in order to pay off all indebtedness of the Parish. Everybody is cordially invited to this memorable service of "Sixty Years Memories;" thankfulness for the past and hopeful views for the future years.

ST. JOHN'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

Rev. Cletus J. Helfrich, in charge of St. John's Catholic church, announces the following services for next Sunday:
8:30 Mass, confession and communion.
11:00 Mass and benediction.
Sermon text: "Behold, God is great, exceeding our knowledge," Job 36:26.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. James G. Huggin, Jr., Pastor.
Services will be held morning and evening, the pastor preaching in the morning and the service in the evening will be united with the other congregations of the town according to the summer custom. At the morning service the pastor will take as his subject, "Adorning the Doctrine." The union evening service will be featured by a program of exceptional interest composed of numbers by the Apollo Boys choir.

COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN

With the harvesting of barley tobacco getting under way in Haywood county there are certain points which if observed, will help in producing tobacco of better quality.

Be sure that the tobacco is ripe before it is cut. When the tobacco is ripe the leaves have a brownish mature appearance indicating that the leaves are grown. Often the lower leaves begin to fire up or burn before the remainder of the plant matures. In this event it is sometimes advisable to prime the lower leaves and string them on wire or on sticks with the leaves placed back to back. This gives better air circulation.

When the stalk is cut it should be split and put on the stick because this gives the moisture a good chance to evaporate from the stalk. The tobacco should wilt before it is hung in the barn or shed. This may be done by either hanging the tobacco on a rock in the field or by sticking one end of the tobacco stick in the ground at a 45 degree angle. If the tobacco is left in the sun too long it will burn. The weather is a great factor in determining the amount of time required for wilting.

After the tobacco has wilted it should be moved to the barn or shed in a manner that will not burn it. The tobacco should be spaced in the barn far enough apart to allow free circulation as possible. Overcrowding causes barn scald. As the tobacco cures it may be moved close together allowing room for tobacco which is later maturing. At all times allow air to have free circulation.
