Miss Payne Assumes Duties On Campus

Cullowhee—(Special Mountaineer.) Miss Lydia Payne of Clarendon, Georgia, has succeeded Miss Sue Cox as supervising teacher in the training school.

After graduating from Georgia Teachers College, Miss Payne took her master's degree in home economics at Peabody College. She has done graduate work at the University of Georgia, where she assisted in teaching Miss Payne has taught home economics at Chowan college, Elon college, Central college, and Queens-Chicora college. At Chowan, Elon and Central colleges, she was head of the home economics department; at Queen-Chicora, her last position, she held the position of associate professor of home economics.

One of Miss Payne's chief interests and hobbies is the subject of crafts. During the past summer she directed a National Youth Administration summer camp where crafts were taught and emphasized. For some time Miss Payne has been collecting data for doing research on the subject of pioneer and present day crafts, the findings of which she hopes to publish while she is at Cullowhee.

Movie producers say that forty films will gross $1,000,000 each this year.

Ickes Approves Scenic Highway

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Secretary Harold L. Ickes, Gov. Carl E. Bailey

Plans for constructing a 2,000-mile scenic highway and parkway bordering the Mississippi river from its source in Lake Itasca to its mouth in the gulf of Mexico were approved by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes at a St. Louis meeting with governors and representatives of five river states. In this photo, Secretary Ickes, center, is shown with Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri, left, and Gov. Carl E. Ten Year Program Is Being Realized

Cullowhee—(Special Mountaineer.)

As an outcome of a recent research, President E. T. Hunter at the opening of the New Year, proposed to the Faculty and Board of Trustees of Western Carolina Teachers College an outlined ten-year program of progress for the institution. The program proposed suggested an ultimate Student Body of 750 students. It proposed four fundamental changes in the institution's educational offering.

First, it proposed that the first two years be made a rich offering of liberal arts, with emphasis upon the sciences appropriate for the region, and upon the the arts. Second, that junior and senior years be professional, leading to degree and teachers certificates in chosen fields. Third, that the whole program be modern and up-to-date, and that the College be made a real interpreter of Western North Carolina, and a participant as far as practicable, in the life of this area. Fourth, that a senior consideration be given to the question as to whether plans should be made for a larger per cent of our students to earn part of their expenses by work.

A Golden Anniversary celebration was proposed for 1939 in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the College, and the inauguration of the proposed expansion program.

A comprehensive study by a joint Faculty-Board Committee, which will visit as many institutions as possible in order to make firsthand study of modern colleges and college plants, was a part of the plan. Provision was made for seeking the co-operation of the Governor and the State Budget Bureau in the execution of the program.

Needed additions, mainly real estate, were mentioned in the proposal as consisting of farm land, a farm residence, dairy, creamery, poultry raising, and canning equipment for the farm, and addition to the college campus, an extension of the water system, and the hydroelectric plant. Remodeling of present structures on the campus was advocated in the plan. This would have converted the Old Training School into a classroom building with adequate modern equipment. Another feature of the proposal was that the Administration Building be remodeled and fire proofed. A Physical Education Building completed and equipped was a part of the proposal. Moore Dormitory, according to the proposal, would have been extended to provide a cafeteria; and the present dining hall would have been converted into bedrooms.

New structures were also provided in the plan. These were to consist of a girls' dormitory, equipped for 160 students, a boys' dormitory, to accommodate 120 students, a faculty dormitory, a library, an infirmary, a student union building, science building, residences for married faculty members, cottages to be rented (as a part of student self-help plan), Arts building, home management houses for domestic science, and a laundry, each building to have adequate modern equipment. An auditorium was proposed as a part of the physical education building.

Miscellaneous improvements proposed consisted of equipment for teaching forestry, extra heating plant equipment, a sewage disposal plant, a stadium, campus driveways, steam, water, and light equipment.

The total cost of the proposed projects was estimated to be $1,235,000.

In less than a year Dr. Hunter and Western Carolina Teachers College has realized a large part of this dream of expansion. Money has been appropriated for the remodeling of the Old Training School Building for college classrooms, the completion of the Physical Education Building, a Man's Dormitory which will accommodate 160 students, an infirmary, a student union building, a separate auditorium, a new Training School Building, and extension of the steam, water, and light system.

The total amount appropriated for these additions to the College will total $655,000.

F.F.A. To Hold 10th Annual Father And Son Banquet Friday

The Smoky Mountains National Park Chapter Future Farmers of America will hold their tenth annual father and son banquet in the Masonic Temple Friday evening at 6:45 o'clock.

The program will be entirely in the hands of the boy members. Ray Deitz, winner of the district public speaking contest this summer will make the address of the evening. His talk will be "Your Responsibility to Society."

James Francis, president of the local organization, will preside at the banquet and will serve as toastmaster also. The invocation will be pronounced by Alvin Palmer and the accomplishments of the chapter will be given by Sam Arrington.

Miss Louise Edwards and her department of Home Economics, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Brown and others will prepare the food and serve the guests.

Invitations have been extended to a limited number of out of town guests. The greater number of guests will consist of boy members, their dads, school officials, and other prominent men of Haywood County.

After the banquet the chapter will entertain the Home Economics Department of the Waynesville District school.

OFFICES MOVED

The National Park Service's policy of consolidating CCC procurement offices has moved the State Park Service office from the Department of Conservation and Development in Raleigh, to the regional headquarters in Richmond, Va.

MISS WYATT ASSISTING IN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Cullowhee—(Special Mountaineer)

Miss Lillian Wyatt left on Friday, October 14, for Lumberton, where she is to assist an association-wide Sunday School campaign in Robeson County. This is the greatest history-making piece of work to be done by the Baptist Sunday School Board of North Carolina forces of approved workers. Moving pictures will be made of every phase of work, to be shown throughout the south.

Miss Wyatt has worked with the Sunday School Board in various parts of the state for the past three summers.
