Death Rate In State Declines

59,000 Births In State Recorded For First Nine Months of This Year

RALEIGH.—There were 59,955 births in North Carolina the first nine months of 1938, the number exceeding the State's 25,291 deaths for the same period by 34,664, figures compiled by the State Board of Health's Division of Vital Statistics, of which Dr. E. T. Simpson is director, disclosed. So far this year, there have been 297 fewer deaths in North Carolina than the 70,322 figure for the corresponding period in 1937, and of more deaths. However, the preponderance of births over deaths continued heavy. Through September, there was a decrease of 162 in deaths from preventable accidents in North Carolina, including automobile and railroad accidents, burns, drownings and accidental trauma by firearms, also airplane crashes. Incidentally, there were seven deaths from an air transportation accident the first nine months of 1938, as compared with seven the corresponding period in 1937.

Lives To 100 'Cause He Sprinted At Bull Run

"Hollern' Johnny" Wells, Reading's oldest Civil War veteran, explained his longevity at his 100th birthday today. "I ran like blazes at the second battle of Bull Run," he chuckled. "That's why I am here today."

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL. Hollywood—There is more gaiety in "Angels With Dirty Faces" than the screen has seen since the early days of the gangster pictures. The film is a smarting drama with few light notes. However, outside the theater, the picture was shined with a bright light. A boy who looks enough like the Bernard Linsley, of the "Dead End" kids, to be his double claimed Pansley's tickets. When Pansley himself arrived, theater employes spotted the impostor and hustled him out in the lobby. To give him a scare, they called the cop. "All right," they said, "shall we turn you over to the cop or shall we let the 'Dead End' kids take you out in the alley?" The boy literally fled into the arms of the cop.

Evidently, Hollywood hasn't been giving Jon Hall enough credit for business ability. Since marrying Frances Langford, he has announced plans to build an apartment house, to buy a 52-foot yawl, to equip the boat with an expensive two-way radio and to buy an island in the Samoan group. All on a salary of $250 a week.

The 13-year-old king of Siam is one of Shirley Temple's greatest fans. In January, when he comes home from school in Switzerland, one of the features of the celebration will be the presentation of recordings of all of Shirley's songs in her last four pictures. L. Von Klaverback, director of 40 theaters in Siam, is now in Hollywood and will carry the gift back to the boy sovereign.

Here's an oddity. Buck Jones, the cowboy star, will sponsor a new symphonic suite to be introduced by Conductor Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. A year ago, Anson Houghco, of Galveston, Tex., hitch-hiked to Hollywood to interest Jones in an idea for a symphony based on cowboy music. Jones gave the 21-year-old composer a home on his ranch and paid the necessary expenses.
