A FRIEND'S GREETING

I'd like to be the sort of friend that you have been to me; I'd like to be the help that you've been always glad to be; I'd like to mean as much to you each minute of the day.

As you have meant, old friend of mine, to me along the way. I'd like to do the big things and the splendid things for you. To brush the gray from out your skies and leave them only blue; I'd like to say the kindly things that I so oft have heard.

And feel that I could rouse your soul the way that mine you've stirred. I'd like to give you back the joy that you have given me. Yet that were wishing you a need I hope will never be; I'd like to make you feel as rich as I, who travel on.

Undaunted in the darkest hours with you to lean upon. I'm wishing at the Christmas time that I could but repay A portion of the gladness that you've strewn along my way; And could I have one wish this year, this only would it be:

I'd like to be the sort of friend that you have been to me.

So I will ask you for three or four things. I want a locket with a heart on a chain, a bracelet to match the locket and I want some candy and nuts. I wish you a Merry Christmas.

Your friend,
LUCHE MORRIS,

Our Pledge To 1939

The new year presents a new opportunity. Our pledge is to go forward with the same fundamental policies as have governed us in the past.

These policies pledge us to give you each year a better store than ever before. This means better merchandise, better displays. They call for a store that is more attractive, in every way, both inside and out.

We don't promise you the lowest prices every time, although usually we give you just that. We do promise you merchandise that will give service.

In styling, we promise you for 1939, the smartest that the market affords within the price ranges that are demanded. We maintain a buyer on the New York market every day in the year. You will find our merchandise—fashion-right.

AGAIN WE SAY—
Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.
C. E. RAY'S SONS

Once again we express our greetings for the Yuletide season now at hand.

OF TRUE FRIENDSHIP

That's the theme of our season's message to you. For all business—our business—is built up on trust that comes through friendship. We hope that you will continue to be our friends for years to come.
