Enlargement Of Library System Needed In State

In a survey made recently by the State Library Commission pertinent information relative to the library service in the state was compiled.

It was found that 1,700,000 people live in sections of North Carolina, with no public libraries. Another large group live in counties which have meagre book collections and limited library service.

It was shown that all sections of the state need enlarged and improved public library service, and state aid for public libraries. As a result an appropriation of $300,000 will be asked by the state library movement of the 1939 General Assembly.

Twenty-three counties in the state, make an appropriation of $1,000 or more for library service. Twenty counties receive between $100 and $1,000 a year from the county commissioners for public library service.

In each of 43 counties the county appropriations for library service are supplemented by funds appropriated by cities and towns within the county. Many of these 43 counties have branch libraries, deposit stations and bookmobile service that are in charge of trained and experienced librarians.

There are 18 counties in which local libraries serving city or towns which receive only local appropriations.

Thirty-nine counties in the state have no publicly supported public libraries. In some instances there are small libraries sponsored by clubs, and organizations, with reading rooms under the WPA library project located in a few.

POTASH PAID

J. R. Sherrill of the Vienna township, Forsyth county, reported to his farm agent that using 50 pounds of muriate of potash an acre to cotton as a side application gave him a 30 per cent increase in yield and that earlier and easier picking was noticed.

PLANT FRUIT TREES

In Durham county, 4-H club members who have selected fruit growing as their projects for 1939, have planted 37 peach trees, 32 apple trees, 3 pears, 2 plums, and 50 raspberry plants. Others plan to order trees to start home orchards.

SPRING BROILERS

More than 2,000 baby chicks have been started by 4-H club members of Beaufort county for the purpose of growing broilers for the early spring market.

ton Caldwell, James Messer, Clyde Scates, John F. Laughter, Doc Hicks, and Luther Lee.

Mrs. Sorrells was a native of this county. Surviving are the following: Three daughters, Mrs. Margaret West, of Woodfin, Mrs. Nora Brackett and Mrs. Hester Anderson, both of Oteen, one sister, Mrs. Julia Scates, of Hazelwood, and one brother, John Lee, and six grandchildren.

Negro Education In State Urged by Hoey

RALEIGH, N. C.—Prior to rendition of the United States Supreme Court's ruling in the Missouri case, a commission appointed by Gov. Clyde R. Hoey, of North Carolina, to study educational needs of the Negro in this state, submitted a report in which it recommended extension of educational facilities to supply needs of that race. No controversy is expected in North Carolina, which has been expanding educational opportunities for Negroes.

Addition of professional and graduate schools is expected at one or more of North Carolina's existing colleges for Negroes. Dr. Frank P. Graham, President of the University of North Carolina, declared that, in his opinion, North Carolina should provide Negroes with professional and graduate instruction. This can be done by the Legislature, which meets early in January, it was pointed out.

North Carolina has two outstanding Negro colleges, on each of which many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended—the North Carolina College for Negroes, at Durham, and the Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro.

One or both of these institutions could be expanded to meet required needs and conform to the Supreme Court's ruling, based in the Negro's Constitutional rights.

WINTER PLOWING

Lincoln county farmers who have done more fall and winter plowing than in many years say the work will result in conserving moisture, killing insects, pulverizing the soil by freezing and will give a better start for planting spring crops.
