"Col. Bower's interest in the development of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park has been noteworthy since the very beginning of this development. His faith in this section has been manifested by his own works," it was said of him recently.

Col. Bowers plans to be here for the opening Friday, at which time it was announced special floral souvenirs would be given to all women attending the opening. The new Waynesville store will feature the latest and most modern ideas gathered through the long years of experience by its owner. Perfect Harmony Reported Of Meeting Of Young Democrats In Charlotte

"The gubernatorial candidates, handshaking around the meeting of the Young Democrats, last week in Charlotte, were as thick as fleas on a dog's back," said William Medford, president of the Haywood County club, and newly elected secretary of the state organization, to a representative of The Mountaineer, in discussing the meeting.

"But the thing that impressed me most," continued Mr. Medford, "was the complete harmony of the Democratic party in North Carolina, at the present moment."

According to Mr. Medford, John Temple Graves delivered the outstanding speech of the convention. Mr. Graves reviewed the activities of the Democratic party, showing the weak points in the past and urging the party to endeavor to mend its way in the future. Mr. Graves told the Young Democrats that the Democratic party would have to stay united, preserve within its ranks its conservative and liberal elements, if it is to continue in power. He pointed out that the Democratic party had always been the liberal party in American politics, and when it got in power in the past it had alienated its conservative.

Grammar Schools To Receive Free Band Instruction

Classes Now Being Organized In Three Local Grammar Schools For Band Work

With 52 registered in the newly organized high school band, L. T. New, Jr., musical director, has this week, completed plans for giving musical instructions in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades of Hazelwood, Central and East Waynesville elementary schools. Mr. New will teach the fundamentals of band music, use an inexpensive instrument, known as the "Saxette" which is a pre-band instrument, said to be accurately in tune, easy to play, and very durable.

It is the purpose of the course, to determine a child's talents before parents are called upon to invest heavily in instruments. The Saxette costs only $2.75 and is the only cost for a child to receive musical instructions. The regular routine of band music is taught in these classes, and according to Mr. New, it is a simple, and easy way to step into the high school band. Mr. New will be glad to confer with parents regarding their children receiving these musical instructions. He can be contacted at the high school office before 8:30 any school morning.

Waynesville Girl Just Back From Tour Of War-Torn Europe

Americans Can Appreciate This Country Better After Visiting Abroad

"We came back on the last boat, that sailed from European ports with lights ablaze, since then they have left in darkness," said Miss Elizabeth Ray, who landed in New York, September first, after spending two months traveling in Europe.

"I came back home, with a great appreciation for the freedom that I am afraid we are not as grateful for in this country, as we should be. After seeing and hearing what we did in Europe, it meant more than ever to me to be an American citizen," continued Miss Ray.

"Our return home was a very nerve-racking experience, the suspense was terrible. We were told as we left Southampton, that the ship might be called home at any moment, and we would not be informed of the change until we landed back in England. So you can imagine what was constantly in our thoughts as we hoped we were headed toward America, but were not quite certain."

"Our boat brought back 250 more passengers than it was supposed to carry. They slept on mattresses on the floor, glad for the opportunity. In some of the cabins that were made to accommodate 3 persons, there were seven, in one instance, that I know about."

"Practically no one took part in the many sports offered on the boat—just here and there someone. People were very quiet and

Court To Decide On Canton's Tax Collector Monday

Civil Term Of Court To Convene Monday With 32 Cases On Docket

The September term of civil court will convene here Monday morning, with 32 cases listed on the trial docket, and 5 on the motion docket, to be heard before Judge Felix E. Alley. This list does not include a number of divorce cases, which will be heard at the convenience of the court.

The case causing the most interest is scheduled to come up Monday, is that of the board of aldermen of Canton and Way Kinsland, also of Canton, against J. D. Mackey, in which the plaintiffs are seeking to oust the latter from the position of tax collector for the town of Canton and place Way Kinsland in possession of the office.

Mr. Mackey was first named to the position on September 27, 1937. On May 8, 1939, an order was said to have been made by the aldermen continuing him in office.

On June 30, 1939, Mr. Kinsland was named tax collector without any mention of J. D. Mackey. The latter refused to give up the office and the books when a demand was made upon him, it is alleged. An order made by the board of aldermen on July 24, 1939, with one dissenting vote, it was further alleged, for Mr. Mackey to deliver the books to W. Bowen Henderson, and Way Kinsland, but it was said Mr. Mackey again refused. In the complaint, the board of aldermen with one dissenting vote, claims, that the election of Mr. Kinsland on June 30 was also a removal of Mr. Mackey.

The board of aldermen in the complaint, petitions the court to put Mr. Kinsland in possession of the office, together with the papers, books, and moneys that may be in the hands of the defendant.

Morgan and Ward are representing the plaintiffs, and W. R. Francis and F. E. Alley, Jr., the defendants.
