MORNING STAR CLUB
The Morning Star home demonstration club met Oct. 9th at the home of Mrs. Albert Sharpe, with her daughter, Mrs. Louis Smathers, as joint hostess. After the regular business, a committee was appointed to prepare year book for coming year. The nominating committee was appointed and instructed to report at our next meeting, which is to be an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Bob Gossett. All members are urged to attend Achievement Day to be held in Waynesville, Thursday, Nov. 2. Delicious refreshments were served by hostesses.

ON THE ROUNDS WITH THE CIRCULATOR
Over Haywood County
By Robt. M. Clark

The last few stalks of late tobacco (and still a bit green in some instances) went into sheds this week as Haywood farmers prepared for the annual debut of Jack Frost.

Other jobs concluded were stalling, corn-topping, and the stacking of cane for winter feed.

And one new task getting a lot of attention was the making of molasses. In his Tuesday trip, your Circulator saw no less than six sorghum vats in use—Jonathan, Cove Creek, White Oak, Panther Creek and Iron Duff.

Meanwhile, apple picking still is in full swing, with many wanting to know when the fleets of

Starts Evangelistic Services Sunday

Rev. B. B. Caldwell, of Greenville, S. C., and formerly of this community, will begin a series of evangelistic meetings at the large tent on the lot next to the Armory, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3. Services will be held daily at 7:45 p. m., Rev. Caldwell will be assisted by Rev. Otto A. Harrison, also of Greenville.

trucks from Atlanta, Birmingham and other centers might arrive, and what prices will be, etc.

One variety of apple causing much comment wherever seen is the "Appalachian." This seems to have been just the proper kind of season for that lush and tasty specimen. Your Circulator brought one to the office the other day from the orchard of Hilliard Moody, and found it weighed exactly 14 ounces. And it was selected at random from a basket, the others being, to all appearances, of equal size.

Vacation days! Teachers and pupils of Crabtree school got a short vacation this week, caused by the work on state highway N. C. 209, running past their door.

Unfortunately, according to the youngsters' attitude, the time lost will have to be made up later.

And the boys—and some of the girls, perhaps—are wondering why Jack Frost could not have gotten here first. So they could a-nutting go.

Marion Messer has a new tobacco barn on his place in Cove Creek. And full.

And the prettiest tobacco your Circulator has seen is in the barns of J. R. Burress, off Dellwood road, Thurman Davis, of Iron Duff and Frank Guy, of Balsam road.

Store Employees Help To Harvest Hidden Tax Crop

Haywood County has an estimated 514 "unofficial tax collectors" who indirectly are helping local, state and national governments harvest their annual revenues, the National Consumers Tax Commission declared today.

The unofficial, and generally unwilling, "tax collectors," according to the NCTC are the proprietors and employes in the 168 local retail stores.

"There are 2,008 official tax levying and spending governmental agencies in North Carolina," said Mrs. Melville Muckestone, president of the nation-wide women's organization. "But every clerk behind a store counter is actually a tax collector, too."

"In every sale, these clerks collect fractions of hidden taxes that have increased the cost of production and distribution of the article purchased. These taxes, of necessity, must be passed on to the consumer as a part of the price. A major share of all local, state and national taxes now are hidden to the consumers who pay them this way."

"However, retail merchants should not be blamed. No business could possibly survive today if it attempted to absorb the multitude of taxes to which it is subject. In consequence, every ring of the cash register represents not only a sale, but a tax payment."

The NCTC now has study groups in approximately 5,100 communities in 45 states in its educational campaign to expose "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes." The crusade in this state is led by Mrs.

Church Group Will Attend Greensboro Meet

The following from Waynesville will leave Tuesday for Greensboro, where they will attend the annual Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist church: the Rev. J. G. Huggin, Jr., pastor of the Methodist church, and J. R. Boyd, delegate from the church, the Rev. W. L. Hutchins, district superintendent, and Mrs. Hutchins.

The Rev. J. H. Carper, of Long's Chapel, will represent his church, and Mrs. Gracie Medford will serve as a delegate from Long's Chapel.

The meeting in Greensboro will William T. Hannah, of Waynesville, state director and Mrs. J. Talbot Johnson, of Aberdeen, national committee member.
