Goodwill! Mrs. R. D. Gilmer Dies In Asheville Hospital Saturday

Last rites were held on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Morris-Gearing Funeral Home in Asheville for Mrs. Love Branner Gilmer, 80, widow of the late Robert D. Gilmer, Attorney General of North Carolina for eight years. Mrs. Gilmer died at 3:00 o'clock on Saturday morning at the Norburn Hospital where she had undergone a major operation on Monday. Dr. W. A. Lambeth, pastor of Central Methodist church, of Asheville, and the Rev. P. N. Gresham, Presbyterian minister, officiated. Burial was in the Branner plot in Riverside cemetery in Asheville. J. G. Stikleather, of the Central Methodist church choir and life long friend, was in charge of the music. Serving as pallbearers were: James R. Thomas, Robert V. Welch, William Medford, Joe Jack Atkins, Dr. Thomas Stringfield, and Walter Crawford, all of Waynesville, and Ben Atkins, of Charlotte. Mrs. Gilmer was born on December the 31, 1860, and was the daughter of Col. and Mrs. M. J. Branner, of Mossey Creek, Tenn. (now Jefferson City). She was a graduate of Martha Washington College, of Virginia. Following her graduation she taught English in the Asheville Academy at the time her brother-in-law, the late Bishop Atkins was president. She was married to the late Robert D. Gilmer, of Mt. Airy, for years one of the prominent lawyers of the state and served as Attorney General of North Carolina under Governor Charles B. Aycock and Governor Robert E. Glenn. They resided in Mt. Airy the first two years, later moving to Waynesville. For years Mrs. Gilmer was a leader in North Carolina society during her residence in the State Capital and her home here, now occupied by the local post of the American Legion, was one of the social centers of the town. Mrs. Gilmer had traveled extensively and at one time lived for several years in Italy when her daughter, the late Mrs. J. P. Chase, was studying music. She was a former member of the Dorcas Bell Love chapter of the D. A. R. and after moving to Asheville joined the Edward Buncombe chapter. At the time of her death she was a member of Central Methodist church, Asheville. Her son, Branner Gilmer, died during the World War, and a daughter, Mrs. Chase, died last year. Her husband died in 1925. Surviving are three grandchildren, Mrs. Josephine Chase Gamble, of Asheville, Miss Bebe Gilmer, of Miami, and now a student at the University of Tennessee, and Branner Gilmer, Jr., also of Miami; two great grandchildren, Marguerite and Robert Gilmer Gable, of Asheville; one niece, Mrs. John Shackford, of Rock Hill, S. C., and a nephew, H. B. Atkins, of Waynesville. INDUSTRY NEEDS WELDERS NOW SOUTHERN WELDING SCHOOL National Defense calls for skilled men. Vice President Henry A. Wallace (left) greets G. Uribe, of Columbia, to Washington as a group of 170 visiting South American students and educators arrived at the capital on their tour of the city. Wallace made a big hit with the visitors by conversing in their native Spanish.

Twelve-year-old Ann Hooton is shown just before she took off in the transatlantic clipper from New York for embattled Britain, via Lisbon. The girl had been evacuated from London to Toronto, Canada, but her parents got lonesome without her and she's winging back to them—and the war.

Famed wheat expert from Montana, Thomas D. Campbell refused to divulge his mission as he left New York for London by clipper plane. He was an adviser to the government of Soviet Russia on the first five-year plan.

By VERA WINSTON HERE'S a versatile little suit that may be dressed up or toned down, depending upon accessories. Fashioned of navy blue men's wear flannel, it has self binding at the high-placed collar and lapels and down the front. It closes in single-breasted style with six covered buttons. It features flap pockets at hips. The skirt is fairly straight with one inverted pleat center front. With it is worn a navy and white striped blouse and a bright red tie. The jersey turban is knotted in front and ties in fringed ends in back.
