

Rambling Around

By W. CURTIS RUSS

Bits of this, that and the other picked up here, there and yonder.

Mrs. R. H. Blackwell is concerned about the neglect of the Memorial Trees on the highway between here and Lake Junaluska.

The trees were planted by the Woman's Club at a great expense in memory of Haywood men who gave their lives in the first World War.

Lack of care, and appreciation of the purpose for which the trees were planted, have brought much grief to those who sponsored and carried out the project.

The idea of having a lane of trees along the highway approach to Waynesville was a thoughtful and worthwhile idea, and still is, provided proper care is given the trees.

Few things add to the beauty of a community more than trees.

And unfortunately, that is one thing that is growing rare in this community . . . more trees are being cut down than are being planted.

Here is a time and worthwhile project for some energetic civic group. . . .

The law of our fair town prohibits one from following a fire truck to the scene of a fire.

And as a strong advocate of and enforcement of that and other laws, I must go on record that I have not followed a truck—but

OLIVER Hay - Makers

THE OLIVER CLIP-CUT MOWER is the first all-purpose mower. The clip-cut action is so efficient in all crops that the uniquely spaced and braced clip-cut guards work in any thing or on anything that can be machine-mowed. Lespedeza and soy beans don't bother them, nor does stony soil. And this mower is a laugh for the horse, for it's the lightest draft mower on the market.

THIS SULKY DUMP RAKE is built for hard usage. Its bridge-truss frame prevents sagging and twisting. It dumps the hay the instant that pressure is applied to the dump pedal. Then the teeth drop immediately, so there is no unneeded strip next to the windrow. There are three different "down" positions of the teeth and four different "up" positions.

STORY OF THE JUNALUSKA CROSS

The story of the Cross at Lake Junaluska is one of which the visitor here never tires. High up on Missionary Point it stands and broadcasts its silent message to all who come within its circle.

It tells a story of generosity and noble purpose on the part of those who placed it there. It challenges youth to high endeavor; bids middle age to hold fast to those ideals which are necessary for living with honor and integrity; it bids old age to be of good courage. To every Christian, young or old, it is a reminder of the supreme sacrifice of the Lord of all and emphasizes the place of the Cross in Christian living.

The cross at Lake Junaluska was a gift to the Methodist Assembly in 1922 from the federated Wesley Bible classes of Western North Carolina. It stands on a high point overlooking the lake. It is fixed on a base of native stone rising about five feet in blunt pyramidal shape.

The cross itself is 25 feet in height. The outlines on face and back being brought out by thickly lined sets of electric lights; 200 bulbs being required for its illumination. Its reflection in the waters of Lake Junaluska is visible from practically every hotel and home on the grounds. When the cross was installed it was the thought of the management that it would be illuminated only during the summer season. But when the season closed and a week had gone by with the cross unlighted, there came a petition from the engineers and brakemen on the Southern railroad asking that the cross be lighted. They had grown accustomed to watch for the lighted cross as the trains crept around the mountain curve. It reminded them they said, of loyalty to trust and fidelity to duty. It gave them a silent message of love of home and country and the sacrificial nature of their work.

So every night, summer and winter, the lighted cross shines upon the mountain sides and lights the lake and valley. It is an object of reverent admiration to thousands of visitors and a Methodist shrine of unusual beauty and interest.

The Junaluska Cross. A landmark by day. A beacon by night.

A majority of the drivers involved in accidents here had several year's driving experience.

Ten per cent of the drivers in fatal accidents in North Carolina last year had been drinking.

Nearly 4,000 persons were killed while "jaywalking" in this country last year.

Homer L. Ferguson Becomes Member Of Science Board

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, has recently been appointed as one of the 12 members of the board of directors to administer the National Science Fund under the general direction of the National Academy of Sciences.

This recent appointment to this small but important board is further recognition of his unusual administrative abilities.

Rules Of The Road

ON DIMMING LIGHTS

Editor's note—This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the highway laws of North Carolina. We are publishing these in the interest of highway safety. These articles were prepared by the safety division of the State Highway department.

Sec. 94, Motor Vehicle Laws of North Carolina—"The head lamps of motor vehicles shall be so constructed, arranged and adjusted that . . . they will at all times . . . and under normal atmospheric conditions and on a level road produce driving light sufficient to render clearly discernable a person two hundred feet ahead, but any person operating a motor vehicle upon the highways when meeting another vehicle, shall so control the lights of the vehicle operated by him by shifting, depressing, deflecting, tilting or dimming the head light beams in such manner as shall not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of such head lamp."

In other words, dim your headlights when meeting another car on the highways at night. The law requires it, courtesy suggests it, safety demands it.

AND THE BUFF WAS FINN-ISHED

HUTCHINSON, Kas.—A yearling buffalo stamped around his coral darning his keepers, who wanted to crate him for shipment, to enter.

The animal finally was deprived of water for 24 hours. When his trough was filled, he gulped long and loud—then keeled over.

He had been slipped a Mickey Finn.
