

Miss Swift Is Married To Lieutenant Stentz

Miss Haseltine Killian Swift, daughter of Captain and Mrs. William Faucette Swift, and Lieutenant David Sullins Stentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale Stentz, were married at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening in the Waynesville Presbyterian church. The Rev. Malcolm Williamson, pastor of the church, pronounced the marriage vows.

The altar was arranged in tall evergreens against a background of white. At intervals floor candelabra bearing lighted tapers were placed. Palms, ferns and floor standards containing white hydrangea were interspersed among the evergreens.

Prior to the ceremony a program of music was rendered by Miss Sara Jane Walker, organist, and Mrs. Ellen Louise Killian Queen and Miss Mary Stentz, soloists.

Miss Walker played "To a Wild Rose," by McDowell, "Barcarolle," by Offenbach, "Traumerei," by Schuman, "Belude," by Chopin, "As You Desire Me," by Urubal, "Intermezzo," Mascagni, and the traditional Lohengrin march by Wagner for the processional and the Mendelssohn march for the recessional. Mrs. Queen sang "Because," by Guy d'Hardlot, "All for You," by Guy d'Hardlot, and during the ceremony "Oh, Perfect Love" as a prayer, and Miss Stentz sang "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The bride entered with her father by whom she was given in marriage. Her gown was of chantilly lace over taffeta with redingote trimmed in ruching, continuing the length of the skirt, which fell in a long train. Her veil was arranged on a tulle halo, and fell the full length of the train, with a face veil of shoulder length. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of bride's roses showered with rose buds and swansonia.

Miss Hilda Way, Miss Joyce Juniper, of Ormond Beach, Fla., Miss Jane Stentz, and Miss Anoinette Salley, of Asheville, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of ice blue embroidered marquisette over matching blue satin, fashioned with full skirts, long tight fitting bodices, sweetheart necklines, and puffed short sleeves. They carried shepherdess crooks to which were attached bouquets of garden flowers in pastel shades tied in place with pink tulle.

Mrs. George Stentz, of Newport News, sister-in-law of the groom, was matron of honor. Her gown was fashioned also of ice blue marquisette and was modeled along the same lines as that of the bridesmaids. She carried a shepherdess crook to which was tied a bouquet of pink gladioli, held together with pink tulle.

Little Anne Hardin, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lauriston Hardin, Jr., was flower girl. She wore a frock fashioned along similar lines of those of the bridesmaids, and she carried a silver basket from which she scattered pink rose petals in the aisle in front of the bride.

Lieutenant Stentz had as his best man his brother, George S. Stentz, of Newport News. Serving as ushers were W. F. Swift, Jr., of Newport News, brother of the bride, Sammy Little, of Charlotte, James Harden Howell, Jr., of Fort Jackson, and Leon Killian, Jr., of Newport News and Waynesville.

Mrs. Swift, mother of the bride, wore a blue lace gown with a corsage of pink rose buds. Mrs. Stentz, mother of the bridegroom, wore pink lace gown and her flowers were also a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony at the church Captain and Mrs. Swift entertained with an informal reception at their home on the Fairview road. The guest list was confined to the bridal party, members of the families and intimate friends. Receiving the guests at the front entrance were Miss Nancy Killian and Mrs. Nora Swift Atkins, aunts of the bride. Receiving with the bridal party were Captain and Mrs. Swift and Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale Stentz.

Mrs. Leon Killian directed the guests to the gift room, where Mrs. J. Harden Howell received. In the dining room Mrs. James W. Killian presided. She was assisted in receiving by Miss Martha Way, Miss Billie Rotha, and Miss Jane White. Miss Hester Anne Withers and Miss Mary Lou Elwood served punch from an attractively arranged table on the porch.

Garden flowers in pastel shades were used in the living rooms. In the dining room the bridal motif was observed. The central table was covered with a lace cloth and centered by a three tier wedding cake. At either end were old-fashioned bouquets of mixed white flowers. On the serving table arrangements of gladioli were used.

Mrs. Stentz is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John P. and Anoinette Norwood Swift and the late Daniel Marcus and Haseltine Brown Killian. Both paternal and maternal branches of her family were among the pioneer settlers of this county and have been prominently identified with this section.

She is a graduate of the local high school, the Montreat Junior College and of the commercial department of St. John's School. She is a popular member of the younger social group and has been extensively entertained since the announcement of her engagement.

Lieutenant Stentz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale Stentz. He is a grandson of the late Dr. George R. Stuart, for years an outstanding evangelist of the Southern Methodist church and his wife the late Mrs. Zollie Sullins Stuart,
