there, to the effect that there mustn't be any revenge motive, on the democracies' part, at the next peace table, as undoubtedly there was, in the Allies' minds, at Versailles. International President Zeke Hopkins dwelt on this point at a recent Washington meeting of his organization, the Civitan club.

Distinction?

But what I ask is: Is it going to be possible for the democratic delegates at the next peace conference, supposing Hitler to be licked, to draw a distinction between Adolf and Germans generally? It's true, he isn't a German, but an Austrian. The Germans fell for him, though. Will the democrats be able to forgive 'em for that—to say, "The Germans are all right, Adolf's the only miscreant"?

I can imagine the Italians as being pardoned for Mussolini. But the Germans for Hitler? Oh my! Indeed, if Adolf's licked, what'll be done with him, anyway? Will he be permitted to retire to some Doorn for the rest of his life? I've no doubts if he isn't disliked worse than Bill Hohenzollern was. Maybe the Germans themselves will attend to him.

Ex-Service Men To Be Returned To Former Jobs

"Clearing committees", composed of business, labor and civic leaders in the community, will assist the reemployment committeemen of the selective service local board in obtaining jobs for returning soldiers, sailors and marines, it was learned this week from the local draft office.

These committees, to which will be referred cases of ex-service men in their localities whom the local board is unable to immediately place in employment, will be organized throughout the State, according to the state director, General J. Van B. Metts.

All cases of unemployed ex-service men, or those who desire new jobs, are referred by local board reemployment committeemen to the state employment office. This facilitates cooperation by employers, for they can and should list their employment needs with their nearest state employment office and state preference for former members of the nation's armed forces.

All returning soldiers are instructed to get in touch with their local board reemployment committeemen as soon as they reach their homes. These committeemen will have received data from national headquarters concerning each man, his civilian occupational skill, training and experience and his service record, well in advance of his return and will transmit this information to the nearest state employment office.

In cases where any employer states that he is unwilling or unable to take back an ex-service man the matter will be turned over to the local clearing committee for investigation. If it is found that the employer is not justified in his attitude, an appropriate local organization will be expected to show him the error of his ways and bring him around to the point where he will reinstatement the ex-service man because he wants him.

Letters To The Editor

Editor The Mountaineer:— You may or may not receive any news releases from the Highway Safety Division after this week, because I am resigning my position here as of Saturday, October 25, you may be interested to know that I am to take over as editor of the Oxford Public Ledger beginning next week.

I have wanted for some time to get back into newspapering, which is my real calling, and to get out of the rotten political mess here in Raleigh. I am utterly disgusted with the insincerity, indifference, inertia and ineptness of some of the persons who should be most vitally concerned over the traffic accident problem and who could do something, to remedy it if they would. And I am not speaking of my immediate superior, Ronald Hocutt.

Thanks for the generous space you have given my releases. Keep up the good fight.

With warmest personal regards and best wishes, I am Very truly yours, KEITH SAUNDERS.
