

More Food Fits Into FSA Plans,

Farmers in Haywood Are Redoubling Their Efforts To Do Their Bit For Freedom.

"When a family keeps a record book and carries on farming like business men carry on their business, then it isn't difficult to increase production," according to Wayne A. Corpening, chairman of the Haywood County Agricultural Defense Board.

"Approximately 78 farm families in Haywood county will operate their farms during the next crop year in accordance with definitely planned farm and home practices," he said. "These are the families who are borrowers in the Farm Security Administration program."

"J. Yates Bailey, supervisor for FSA in Haywood county, reports they are increasing their production of foods in the Food-For-Freedom program."

"Those who have taken part in the rehabilitation program under the U. S. Department of Agriculture long enough to have worked out plans in previous years, now have their farm record books to help them plan for future operations," said Mr. Bailey.

He pointed out that farm families in the Farm Security Administration program make careful plans first, and that the loans are made them to put the plans into actual operations. FSA, in making the loans stresses the importance of farm and home record books.

Many of the families are now meeting to develop plans, and many are making the plans in their own homes. The services of the county supervisor and the home management supervisor, Miss Catherine Winston, are available to aid in formulating plans.

According to most farm plans now being worked out, farm production next season will lean toward more milk, milk products, better home gardens, eggs, and meat for home butchering, in line with the Food for Freedom program, Mr. Corpening said. This sort of production has been encouraged by the FSA for some years, and most borrowers now are replacing one cash crop farming with diversification, he said.

In 1940 the average standard FSA borrower in North Carolina produced $425 worth of goods for home use, but in the year prior to drawing their first farm plans in connection with FSA loans those same families averaged only $309 worth of such production.

Virtually without exception, Mr. Corpening believes FSA borrowers can be counted upon to plan their farm work to increase the output of items called for in national defense. It will continue to be the policy to produce for home use first; and this will tend to leave commercial production on borrowers' farms as well as others, free to go into channels which eventually will lead to feeding our armed forces as well as those of our allies.

The Treasury Says War Needs Money!

The United States Treasury Department has asked publication of the following message:

"WAR NEEDS MONEY!"

"It will cost money to defeat Japan. Your Government calls on you to help now.

"Buy defense bonds or stamps today. Buy them every day, if you can.

"But buy them on a regular basis.

"Bonds cost as little as $18.75, stamps come as low as 10 cents. Defense bonds and stamps can be bought at all banks and post offices, and stamps can also be purchased at retail stores.

THE CALL TO THE COLORS IS A CALL FOR DOLLARS!

Dig deep. Strike hard. Our boys need the planes, ships, and guns which your money will help to buy.

Go to your bank, post office, or savings and loan association. Tell them you want to buy Defense Bonds regularly, starting now.

Production Group Red Cross Send Off Large Quota

Mrs. Felix Stovall, chairman of production of the Haywood chapter of the Red Cross, heaved a sigh of relief Wednesday, when the largest quota of garments ever assigned to the local chapter, were safely stored in the freight office ready to go to National headquarters in Washington.

The quota consisted of 50 layettes, in each layette were 28 garments, and small accessories. Each layette was packed, according to instructions to a certain size.

The entire quota of layettes had been made by the home economics department of the Waynesville township high school under the supervision of Miss Meredith Whitaker and the Crabtree high school under the direction of Miss Maude White. The students in the two schools cut and made everyone of the 1,400 garments and articles.

The quota sent yesterday also included 49 hospital bed shirts, the majority being made by members of the Dorcas Bell Love chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Thirty-four operating gowns were in the shipment, most of which were made by the NYA girls under the supervision of Mrs. Paul Walker.

Other garments included 40 boys shirts and 55 girls' dresses, all made by various individuals, many persons making between five and ten each.

All garments outside of the layettes were cut in the Red Cross rooms at Central Elementary by a group of volunteers. The janitor at the school, John Haney, has been of great assistance to the workers in the Red Cross room, giving his services at all times, as his contribution to the Red Cross.

Members of the Auxiliary of the American Legion assisted in the packing of the garments. Mrs. Stovall, production chairman, was assisted in her work by Mrs. Jack Messer.

Curtailed Of Long Distance Calls On Christmas And New Years Day Is Sought By Telephone Company Here

Civilians were requested today to co-operate with the nation's war effort by refraining as far as possible from using long distance facilities on Christmas Day and New Year's Day in order that long distance telephone lines can be kept open for government use in this emergency.

The request came from W. L. Lampkin, manager of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, who said that war preparations might be seriously hampered if long distance circuits became so crowded with civilian holiday greeting messages as to delay completion of calls necessary to the war program.

He asked all persons contemplating exchanging greetings by long distance telephone to place their calls some other than Christmas Day and New Year's Day as a contribution toward America's preparations.

In making his appeal, Mr. Lampkin said "long distance facilities have been crowded with calls since the United States was attacked on December 7.

"Government long distance telephone requirements, both military and civil, have increased sharply. Industrial plants, stepping up the tempo of production, have started using long distance in an ever-increasing volume.

"In addition, news services of essential and semi-essential nature have found it necessary to increase their use of long distance. Long distance lines also are used to link the stations of the radio networks. On top of this, the heavy volume of civilian calls which we had already anticipated shows signs of increasing beyond the capacity of our facilities, despite our all-out preparation of the past months. Unless there is a sharp reduction in volume of non-essential long distance calls on Christmas and New Year's Day, there might certainly be delays on essential calls.

"None of us want that to happen, so we appeal to you not to place calls Christmas and New Year's Day unless they are essential."

Combined Musical Clubs Give Program

(Waynesville Hi-Life)

Thursday, December 11, the glee clubs of Clyde and Canton combined to present a musical program of Christmas music at Waynesville High School. The groups sang several numbers together and then sang selections separately. The members were attired in white vestments.

The Clyde group is directed by Miss Sara Cole, and Miss Mae Marshbanks directs the Canton group.

Thirteen is an unlucky number for some people—especially when it happens to be a judge and jury.

Ministers To Give Christmas Program Today

The four minister members of the Rotary Club will put on a special Christmas program today, when the club meets at 12:45.

J. C. Madison, pastor of the First Methodist church, is general chairman of the program, which will include a special Christmas feature by M. R. Williamson, pastor of the Presbyterian church; a Christmas prayer by H. G. Hammett, pastor of the Baptist church, and Scripture and the Christmas story by R. E. MacBlain, rector of Grace Episcopal church.

Musical numbers will include the singing of carols by the group led by J. Dale Stentz, and a special number by Mrs. Fred Martin and Mrs. Fred Calhoun, accompanied by Mrs. J. Dale Stentz.

The chairman said a special reading of the Christmas story would also be given.

Merrie Jesters Present Annual Christmas Play

(Waynesville Hi-Life)

The day school is dimming the holidays, the Merrie Jesters will present a Christmas play in chapel. Because of the much seriousness in the production with a lighter cast than those of former years, the audience may be disappointed.

Soon after the holidays the Merrie Jesters are presenting "The Trysting Tree" one-act play by Booth Tarkenton. The cast of this play is as follows: Mrs. Curtis... Anne Lancelot Briggs... Dwight Mrs. Briggs... Betty Jessie... Helen Rupert Smith... Sam Mr. Ingaldsley... Sam Mysterious Voice
