

Future Farmers Of America Designed To Teach Boys Better Way Of Life

The motto of the Future Farmers of America is:
Learning to Do
Doing to Learn
Earning to Live
Living to Serve.

With this motto in mind the purpose for which the organization was formed as follows:

- 1—To develop competent, aggressive, rural, and agricultural leadership.
- 2—To create and nurture a love of country life.
- 3—To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
- 4—To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
- 5—To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishment in farming.
- 7—To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
- 8—To develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.
- 9—To participate in co-operative effort.
- 10—To encourage and practice thrift.
- 11—To encourage improvement in scholarship.
- 12—To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

The local chapters, of which there are 6,313, try to attain and develop these purposes in their individual members. The membership in chartered chapters of the F. F. A. is 207,510.

In promoting these purposes most chapters group their activities around the following:

- 1—Class work.
- 2—Project work.
- 3—Shop work.
- 4—Local chapter work.
- 5—Federated chapter work.
- 6—State and National organizations.

In the class work the F. F. A. members learn much about soils, crops, marketing, farm management, livestock, poultry, feeding, fertilizers, fruits, vegetables, etc.

Our work is grouped mainly around the students projects. This gives him a chance to study more thoroughly a given group of farm enterprises.

The project work consists of the studying of the project; the actual production work consists of the studying of the project. This gives the boy a varied experience in connection with his projects and it also gives him a chance to put into practice his F. F. A. motto and many of the purposes for which the organization was formed.

The shop work of the agricultural student usually consists of construction and repair work. He is urged to do those jobs which will mean most to his home farm. In doing this work he learns many things which carry over into after school life. Our farm shop work has been of great value in the defense program of our country.

The local chapter work of the Future Farmers of America does much to develop leadership of our boys. They get practice in leadership in carrying on the business of the chapter. We have programs regularly twice a month. This gives the boys a chance of overcoming some of their timidity in appearing before a group. This work also teaches much about the use and practice of parliamentary procedure.

During the past few years there has been developed the Federated chapter of the Future Farmers of America. This chapter consists of several local chapters. Its work is quite similar to that of the local chapters. However, in addition it serves as a clearing house for the elimination contests of our statewide contests. Some of these are: the speaking contest, the seed judging contest, and the livestock judging contest and in some places other contests.

The activities of the Federated chapter afford opportunities for the

The entire community is invited to join us in this series of meditations based on the Pardoning Grace of God, the Power of the Holy Spirit, and the Peace of God which comes to all true Christians.

The State and National organizations are active and effective ones. The state organization is composed of local chapters and the national one of state organizations. When members of local chapters get to attend the meetings of the State and National meetings they usually come back with an extended vision of the work and more enthusiasm for the development and promotion of the local work.

One can't advance much if he has a lot of installments hanging on behind him.

By Clarence Taylor.

After several hours of rainfall Allen's Creek almost reached flood-stage early Monday night. The rumble and roar of the swift current could be heard from a great distance. Several families left their homes and went to nearby neighbors houses that were on higher ground, seeking refuge from what might have been another flood. About mid-night the rain subsided and fears of another flood were over.
