

COVERING HAYWOOD'S POLITICAL FRONTS

1937 and in 1939. It was during his term in 1939 that he held so many important committee appointments, among them was the appropriation committee, which is considered one of the hardest of all places to fill.

Grover C. Davis, attorney, who has been practicing his profession in Waynesville for the past 29 years, is a native of the Iron Duff section of the county.

Mr. Davis has been prominently identified with the political affairs of Haywood for many years. He served as solicitor of the 20th district, from 1923 to 1930, was county attorney for six years, from 1918 to 1922, and again from 1939 to 1940. He was also a member of the county board of elections for a four-year period.

Mr. Davis is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Davis. His father served in the State Senate, representing this section fifty years ago. Mr. Davis is widely connected in Haywood county. He is a member of the First Methodist church of Waynesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, the latter before her marriage was Miss Jessie McCrary, daughter of Mrs. W. F. McCrary, and the late Mr. McCrary, of this county, have two sons. Lt. Grover M. Davis, dentist, who has been practicing in Hazelwood, is now assistant surgeon in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Navy. He volunteered sometime ago. Joe Davis is a student at the University of North Carolina, and will enter the School of Medicine at the University in June.

Solicitor John M. Queen has started campaigning, and plans to work hard getting votes as he does in the court room. "There'll be no let up in my campaign this year. I'm going to cover the territory thoroughly," said the hard talking solicitor yesterday.

He is prominent politically, and enjoyed an excellent law practice before taking over the duties of solicitorship of the 20th district. He farms and raises cattle as a hobby.

Last Saturday at six was the deadline for candidates for state offices to file with the state board of elections.

As stated above, Judge Alley is without opposition. Judge Alley has served on the bench since his appointment by Governor Ehringhaus in 1936. He was nominated and elected by an overwhelming majority in the election of 1938.

Congressman Zebulon Weaver has no opposition in the Democratic primary, and in the fall will be opposed by Gola P. Ferguson, Republican of Cullowhee. Congressman Weaver has been in office since 1917, except for two years of Republicanism, 1929-31.

Our Washington correspondent, in a dispatch yesterday said: "Senator Bailey is already setting up a statewide organization, and personal friends and party leaders who visit Washington are talking over campaign plans with him. He is determined to organize and fight, rather than risk a political Pearl Harbor by Mr. Fountain, who has his own inimitable way of covering ground, seeing people and shaking hands."

TIMELY Farm Questions and Answers

Question: Does lespedeza make better growth where lime and phosphate have been applied on the land?

Answer: Not only is the lespedeza benefited, but the crops following it are benefited. With better sods and more organic matter, the yields of corn and small grain can be increased. Lepedeza furnishes about one-half of the tame hay produced in North Carolina.

Question: When is the deadline for filing applications for conservation and parity payments under the 1941 AAA program?

Answer: E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive assistant, says these applications must be filed by March 31. Payments will not be made if applications are filed later than that date. The signing must take place at the AAA office in the county in which the farm is located. However, checks will be mailed directly to farmers this year instead of the grower having to come to the county AAA office when the check arrives.

Duke Blue Devils Lose Wade, As He Enlists In Army

Wallace Wade, director of athletics and head football coach at Duke University, has been commissioned a major in the U. S. Army and has to report at Fort Bragg on March 28, Duke officials recently announced.

Simultaneous with the announcement of Wade's commission Duke officials announced that Edmund (Eddie) Cameron had been made acting director of athletics and acting head coach of football. Cameron had been the football backfield coach under Wade and coach of varsity basketball.

Wade was a captain of cavalry in the World War and it was indicated would probably be assigned duties in the field artillery.

Coach Wade accepted his post at Duke in January, 1931, shortly after his great University of Alabama football team had defeated Washington State, 28-0 in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, California.

His record as football mentor places him among the foremost minds in America. Over eleven seasons, his Duke teams won 85 games, lost only 19, and tied 3. They captured the Southern conference championship six times.

Wade's lifetime coaching record—beginning with his tenure at Fitzgerald-Clarke in 1919—is 177 victories, 36 defeats and 8 ties.

Wade produced two Rose Bowls teams at Duke—the 1938 eleven,
