17 Baptist Churches In County Start Revivals Sunday

Efforts Being Made To Reach 10,000 People

Outstanding Preachers From Other Sections Of State Will Do Preaching.

Revival services will begin in 17 Baptist churches Sunday, with a visiting pastor occupying the pulpit of each church for a week or more. The series of services are sponsored by the Baptist Mission Board, even to the extent of financing the meetings.

The county-wide revival is being held in an effort to reach the estimated 13,000 people in Haywood who are inclined towards the Baptist denomination, but who are not members of any church, according to leaders of the Haywood Baptist Association.

The latest records show that the birth rate is greater than the death rate in church membership, which is every effort must be made to reach more people," said Rev. Frank Leatherwood, moderator of the Haywood Baptist Association.

All pastors will remain with their churches during the series of meetings. Later in the summer, they will go to some church in other part of the state to hold similar meetings.

Rev. Mr. Leatherwood pointed out that only one offering would be taken in each church during the series, and that would be sent to the State Board, which would pay all expenses of the meetings, regardless of the amount raised by the one offering.

A number of churches have been holding a series of cottage prayer meetings this week in preparation for the revival. Reports from sections of the county where participating churches are located, show that much interest is being shown in the campaign.

The list of churches holding the revival, together with the regular pastor and visiting pastor, is as follows:

$2,500 Fire Hits Storage Plant At Barber's Orchard Early Tuesday

A fire of undetermined origin, completely destroyed the roof of the large refrigerated storage plant at Barber's Orchard early Tuesday morning, causing damage of between $2,500 and $3,000, according to R. N. Barber, Jr., manager.

It is believed that the blaze started from the electrical wiring in the attic of the storage plant.

The building is of stone and concrete, with concrete floors and ceiling, and other than the roof, no damage was done to the structure. Except for a few apple crates, the building was empty.

The Waynesville fire department answered the call, and pumped water from the dam at the orchard, and saved nearby buildings.

Had the plant been filled with apples, the loss would have been tremendous.

The roof was built of heavy balsam timbers, cut many years ago. The roofing was of 22-gauge iron, which R. N. Barber, Sr., bought right after the other war.

The owners do not believe that the refrigeration coils in the attic of the building were damaged to any great extent.

Plans are underway to replace the roof immediately.

Lions Club Will Stage Drive For Rubber Friday

Campaign Ends Friday In Nation-Wide Drive For Scrap Rubber.

With more than 51 tons of rubber already gathered in Haywood, every effort will be made today and tomorrow to add at least 25 more tons, as the nation-wide campaign comes to a close.

The Waynesville Lions Club have set aside Friday as a day for gathering all rubber in Waynesville, Hazelwood and Lake Junaluska that individuals do not want to carry to service stations.

The members of the Lions Club will make a complete canvass of the community, and the proceeds from the rubber, will be used in their work with the blind. Last year the club provided glasses for 58 people, and they are trying to pass that mark this year.

Persons having any article with rubber in it can do double duty Friday by calling Paul Davis at 77, or by putting the articles on the curb where the club members can gather it up. The nation needs the rubber, and the Lions Club needs the money for their work with the blind.

Any person wanting to sell their rubber, will be paid one cent a pound at any service station. From there, the rubber is taken to the bulk plant which serves the station, and later shipped to a smelter for reclaiming. Any article with any amount of rubber, can be used.

A survey of the bulk plants of the oil companies serving Haywood, showed that as of last night, 102,217 pounds had been turned in.
