

The Tar Heel Front IN WASHINGTON

By Robert A. Erwin and Frances McKusick

The entire Eastern Seaboard will be the beneficiary when the increase of two and a half gallons for transportation is taken off of gasoline, but it is the North Carolina delegation in Congress that will deserve the share of the credit.

Government officials have issued so many conflicting statements on the rubber shortage that it has got me to the point where I don't know what to believe," said the Senator. "I'm in the same position as millions of other Americans."

Wishful thinkers received a big "Shot in the arm" and then an awful letdown in connection with the recent statements of Representative Andrew Jackson May, of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee, that the war might be over and won for the United Nations by 1943.

In the first place, Mr. May's remarks, ill-timed as they were in the face of Russian losses in Europe and troubles for the British in Africa, tended to create complacency on the part of these wishful thinkers who believe everything will be all right before long and there is no need to worry about the outcome of the war.

Several Tar Heels were among those who assailed Chairman May for his statements.

"Don't see anything bright about the war picture," said Representative O. Burgin, of Lexington. He described as "darned foolishness" the statements of "those who raise the hopes of the people without justification."

"The odds are ten to one he's wrong," said Folger. "Mr. May's statements are altogether unjustified by the facts. I am sorry he ever said anything like that."

The proposal that the govern-

Dr. Green Will Address Rotary Club On Friday

will address the Rotary Club here Friday in his official capacity. Dr. Green spoke here several years ago, in a meeting at the First Baptist Church, and sponsored by the Rotary Club. He is an interesting speaker, and is capable of discussing world affairs with authority.

The district of which he is governor covers all of South Carolina, and Western North Carolina. Dr. Green presided over the recent district conference given for officers, which was attended by M. R. Williamson, secretary of the local club.
