held to the supply of available rubber.

The local board will not be permitted to issue certificates in excess of their quotas. When a board receives more valid applications than its quota will accommodate it must decide among the applicants "on the basis of relative importance to the war program, public health and public safety."

Emphasis will be placed on recapping tires now on cars with a material made almost entirely of reclaimed rubber. With few exceptions, car owners will not be eligible for replacement tires if their casings can be made serviceable by recapping.

Regulations define three grades of replacement tires, and the grade will depend upon the amount of gasoline allotted to him under the mileage rationing plan.

Car owners whose gasoline allowance is 560 miles a month or less will be eligible for purchase of a grade three tire provided their casings are unfit for recapping.

Grade three tires include used tires, recapped tires and new tires made of reclaimed rubber. These tires will be available to those who hold only A books as well as to those who have both A and B books, OPA explained.

Passenger car owners who get gasoline for more than 560 miles but less than 1,000 will be eligible for grade two tires if their tires cannot be recapped.

This grade includes tires with a retail list price no higher than 85 per cent of grade one tire prices.

It also includes damaged new tires, tires marked "factory seconds" by manufacturers, all new tires manufactured before January 1, 1938, and "change-over tires," which have gone less than 1,000 miles but which have run sufficiently to wear off mold marks.

Car owners with monthly gasoline allotments in excess of 1,000 miles will be eligible for the best grade one tires if their casings are not recappable.

All mileage book holders will be eligible for new inner tubes.

heaviest equipment ever brought to this section of the state. One shovel took up two and a half yards at a time, while the tractors were equally as large.

Gates are being erected at the Soco entrance to keep the public from traveling the graded road.

The contractors pointed out that orders had come through which would stop all such work on December first, which means that the Anderson Contracting Company, who are building a section of the Parkway for 3 1/2 miles west of Big

Patrolmen Seize 38 Slot Machines In County-Wide Raid

Harbor. Not until the officers brought out their warrants for the arrest of the operators and owners, had there been an intimation of anything out of the ordinary.

Immediately after entering the places, the Highway patrolmen tagged each machine with a notice, stating that it had been confiscated. In short order two trucks began hauling the machines away and they were taken to the courthouse, where they will remain in the custody of the law until the trial comes off at the November term of Superior Court on the 23rd, with Judge F. Donald Phillips, presiding.

The raiding officers warned that machines were not touched after they are confiscated, but two were robbed of their coins, according to the officers before they were hauled from their places of operation.

The officers did not make public the names of either the operators or owners of the places of business where the machines were robbed.

Part of the machines are now piled in the commissioners room on the first floor of the courthouse, and others in another part of the building. They have attracted a great deal of attention. Some are complicated and are an intricate maze of metal. They have been much admired as possible contributions to the county scrap collections.

One young boy in the county is said to have made a rush for the courthouse, stating he wanted to take a look at the one he "had bought and paid for, but did not own."

All the operators and owners who were arrested have made bond and the preliminary hearings in the cases have been continued to November 21, before Magistrate W.

H. Noland, at 11 o'clock.

Haywood County is the only county in the Western part of the state where slot machine and pin ball table machines have been in operation during the past several years, according to the officers who took part in the raid last Thursday.

The machines were taken from places of business in the towns of Waynesville and Hazelwood, and outlying sections surrounding the towns and from the outskirts of Canton. No machines were found in Canton or Clyde.

Three of the machines were played for a quarter a chance, one cost a dime to play and the remaining were five centers.

Of the 38 machines confiscated 14 were of the armed bandit type, while others were of the pinball model. The machines were valued from $300 to $500 each. Some of them had seen a good many years of service, and had devoured the last nickle of many a devotee of chance.

The machines, according to the officers making the arrests brought the places of business where they were operated an estimated weekly income of from $15 to $50.

When the machines are opened at the time of the trial of the owners and operators at the November term of court, the money contained in each will be donated to charity.

A by-product of the raid was the seizure of 80 pints of intoxicants from places in the county and 80 quarts from the Waynesville area.

Two trucks were used in hauling the colorful and ornate machines that had been popular centers in the places of operation for several years in some instances. The 38 machines made three big truck loads.
