'Praise the Lord'

It has been revealed that the real author of the famous phrase, "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition" is Lieut. Howell Forgy (above), 84, of Haddonfield, N. J. The ex-foot-ball player naval chaplain, attached to a cruiser at Pearl Harbor used the phrase to encourage men as they passed shells by hand to fight off the Japs.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

Assembly rooms, second floor Masonic Temple.
Sunday school at 9:45.
afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock.
Reading room open Wednesday "Soul and Body" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon on Sunday. The Golden Text will be taken from Corinthians 3:16, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you."
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon will be the following from the Bible: "And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? For ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean things; and I will receive you." (2 Corinthians 6:16-17).

Motives That Strengthen Family Life

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov 14 is Exodus 2:1-4, 20-12; Joshua 2:1-4, 15; Proverbs 31:10-31; Luke 2:41-51, Ephesians 5:22-33; Colossians 3:18-21, the Golden Text being 1 Cor. 13:8, "Love never faileth."

YEARS AFTER the death of Joseph, the Hebrew people had become slaves to the Egyptians and were very cruelly treated by them. So terrible was their treatment that the ruler, Pharaoh, commanded the people of Israel to cast every son born to them into the river. Only the girl babies were to be spared.

At this time a man of the house of Levi married a daughter of the same tribe and they had an infant son. The mother saw that the baby was a lovely child and determined that he should not be destroyed.

When he was three months old she could no longer conceal him in the home, she made "an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink." "And his sister stood afar off, to wit what would be done to him."

The mother had faith that God would not let her little son die, but would preserve him, and this sister, Miriam, was to be near at hand to see what would happen to him. You know the story of the princess coming to bathe in the river and taking the baby home with her, later adopting him as her son. She called him Moses and he grew up to lead his people out of their bondage in Egypt.

Honour Thy Parents

Next we have the sixth commandment, which also bears upon our lesson on family life, "Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." There are people in the world who do not heed this commandment. Sometimes, sad to say, it is at least partly the parents' fault that this is so, but in a good home, with children properly loved and honored, the father and mother are honored and tenderly cared for as long as they live.

Joshua, you remember, was Moses' brother, and after his death Joshua led the people into the promised land. Near the end of his life he talked to them, telling them that they must make a choice of the god they would worship. They might worship heathen gods, but he reminded them of all the Lord had done for them and said that he and his household would worship the One True God.

In the last chapter of Proverbs we are given a beautiful picture of the perfect wife and mother, and while it is too long to quote here, it should be read for its beauty and truth.

The "virtuous woman" is one whom her husband can trust, for she will do him good all her days. She is industrious, she manages her household splendidly, providing warm clothes so that the family does not fear the cold of winter. She rises early to give them food; she is even a good business woman, buying land, planting it, besides making "fine linen" and selling it. Her husband prospers because of her.

Gives to the Needy

She has a tender heart and gives to the poor and needy. "She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness."

No wonder her "children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." "Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain, but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised."

There is a reference to Christ's childhood when he went to Jerusalem with His parents, and stayed in the temple until they found Him. As we have had this story twice recently, we will not dwell upon it only to say that Jesus was an obedient child, and His home was undoubtedly a happy one.

In St. Paul's letter to the Ephesians he states his idea of the ideal family. The father and husband is the head of the house; he states, the wife submitting herself to him. Husbands, he admonishes, "love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it."

This is the ideal family, then, the father heading it, loving and cherishing its members, the mother being diligent in all her household duties, helping the husband to be successful, loving her children and caring for them and all who live in the household, and the children growing up obedient to the parents, loving and honoring them. In such a home the father would not "provoke his children to anger, lest they be discouraged," as Paul says, and the children would grow up to indeed honor their father and mother, for love like this never faileth.
