vesting of perishable crops, such as beans. Filling silos came in for a lot of discussion, since it takes about eight men to profitable fill a silo. Cutting tobacco, cutting hay, and gathering corn were discussed in order of their importance and the time period in which these items can be handled.

"The average farmer can produce twice as much as he can harvest," George Stamey told the group, after he told how he and other farmers in the neighborhood had pooled their machinery and labor in order to carry on.

"Neighborhood pooling of all resources will solve many problems," Mr. Clapp reminded the committee. The committee plans to contact the two draft boards of the county to determine the number of men now classified in 4-F that are available to work on farms.

Mr. Clapp was named chairman of the executive committee, with Leonard Westmoreland as vice chairman. Miss Nettie Payne is secretary, and the following members: Glenn C. Palmer, George their families would be able to do so.

Floridians Predict Good Season Here

St. Petersburg—"It appears to us that your experience will be like ours—you will have a fewer number of people, but they will remain in Waynesville when they get there."

Orlando—"In view of the fact that you are located in an area where there are no defense plants or no army camps, it is our opinion that you should have a good season."

Aiken, S. C.—"We have several parties who spend the winter in Aiken and the summer in your section and they all plan to go up this summer as usual."

Pinehurst, N. C.—"The season at Pinehurst this year has been the best in many, many years. Although we have not had any conventions, we have still done a greater gross business without them than we did last year. We believe the mountain area in North Carolina should do a fine business."

Miami—"The winter has been extremely kind to us with approximately 40,000 civilian tourists here weekly during the last six weeks of the period. Every tourist house, tourist camp and other place catering to tourists that has entertained visitors in the past three or four years should do a definite advertising campaign addressed to those people."

West Palm Beach—"We have had a very good season. Since you are located in an area where army camps and defense plants are not located, we believe you should enjoy a very splendid tourist season."

Fort Lauderdale—"We had one of the best seasons we have had in our history. We had some of the most distinguished and interesting people down here we have never before had. In your advertising you should announce this fact—the absence of army camps, and defense plants. There are a lot of people who are trying to get away from the congested army camps and war production centers."

Sarasota—"The winter tourist business was about 50 per cent off. It would be difficult to forecast what Waynesville may expect."

Haywood Must Sell $84,000 In Bonds To Meet Quota

way we are approaching it and I am proud of the progress being made in the campaign in this district and the entire state," said the former governor in his opening remarks.

Mr. Hoey spoke of the great wealth of the United States and pointed out that the incomes of the citizens last year, which totaled $17,000,000,000, would, if applied, wipe out the current national debt.

The speaker stressed the fact that money in war bonds was the safest investment to be made at present. "It is safer than money in your pockets," he said, "for that could be lost, but when it is in government bonds nothing can take it away."

In answering the possible three questions that bond buyers might ask, Mr. Hoey pointed out the soundness of the finances of the government. He told of the returns on the investments, when the principal will be paid, and explained the wisdom of saving by buying war bonds.

"America," he said, "is the bank of the world; it is the storehouse of the world; this country has more things with which to do with than any other country; it has more wealth than any other country; it has more wealth than the other seven greatest countries of the world."

Jonathan Woody, chairman of the 15-county area campaign, presided. Seated on the platform with Mr. Woody and Mr. Hoey were: Gerald Cowan, of Asheville western district chairman; O. E. Starnes, chairman of Buncombe county drive; Sam Robinson, of Canton, vice chairman of Haywood county; Glenn C. Palmer, Haywood county representative, and J. T. Bailey, of Canton, member of the state senate.

Prior to the program of the evening, the Waynesville high school band gave a thirty-minute concert of patriotic airs.

Mr. Cowan, who was introduced by Mr. Woody, said that he felt confident that the district would reach the goal of $3,391,400 and that reports showed that the sales now stood more than half way. He warned, however, that the majority of the industries and the larger buyers had already purchased their quotas, and it was up to the individuals now to "dig deep and buy all they could at this time."

While figures for each of the counties in the area were not available on Monday night, reports were given from the following: Jackson, over the top with a total sale of $72,225; Transylvania, quota $107,300, sold $237,936; Henderson, quota reached and passed; Macon, quota reached and passed; Swain, quota almost reached with a sale of $133,000; Haywood, quota $290,300, sold $180,000.

A memorial service opened the program, and at this time the names of the men from eight Western North Carolina counties who had been reported killed or missing in action were read by Mr. Woody.

The list included: Buncombe 23, Haywood 10, Henderson 11, Madison 2, McDowell 9, Swain 6, Transylvania 4, Jackson n7, and the Cherokee Indian Reservation 2.

After the names were read the Rev. M. R. Williamson, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, led in prayer and the audience stood in silent tribute as Taps were sounded.

During the evening Mr. Woody introduced those seated on the platform and explained the part each was taking in the present drive.

The meeting was closed with the audience singing "God Bless America" led by Mrs. J. Dale Stentz.
