

Jackson County Women Making Many Dressings

Need For More Helpers, Is Urgent Plea Of Mrs. Dan Allison.

Sylva—Special to Mountaineer—A hundred and thirty thousand surgical dressings shipped; 100,000 more ready to ship—that's the record of the Red Cross record for the past few months, as announced yesterday by Mrs. Dan Allison, county chairman.

While Mrs. Allison readily admitted there is cause for elation at the record, she dismissed the news with but few words and spoke of plans for the future. Besides the group at Sylva, there are three other surgical dressing units in Jackson—at Cullowhee, Dillsboro and Cashiers, organization at the latter place having just been effected.

Actively assisting in the effort are Mrs. H. T. Hunter, at Cullowhee, Mrs. Eas Barrett, at Dillsboro and Mrs. M. B. Madison, recent appointee at Cashiers.

Mrs. Allison explained that, before preparation of dressings, there are also knitting and sewing to be done.

These former Catamounts slat of for action on the team include Bob Roberts, Tackle Smith, Guard Brown and Back Olsen.

Majority of Jackson's Crops Best In Years

Corn and Hay Lead All Other Crops For Being Above Average.

Sylva—Special to Mountaineer—Jackson county farmers are starting to harvest one of the best all-round crops in the history of the county, it was reported by the county agent's office yesterday.

The corn and hay crop in the county is exceptionally fine. While potatoes will not be dug until later, all indications are that the yield will be high.

Small grain suffered due to unfavorable weather, while pastures have come out in a satisfactory manner after getting off to a bad start, it was said.

The tobacco crop is low because of acreage, and lack of plants last year. What crop there is has so far brought encouragement to the farmers.

Green beans are beginning to come in for the green vegetable market this week, and a good yield is expected for the season. Some of the beans will be sold to the cannery in Hazelwood.

The cabbage crop is normal, although acreage is somewhat off.

Due to a shortage of high protein feeds, it is expected that a large proportion of the beef cattle will be sold as soon as taken off the grass this fall.

The general farming picture of the county is good, it was reported, and Jackson county farmers have done a large part in carrying out the agriculture program in keeping with the war farming campaign.

Ceiling Fixed On Winter Clothes

Ceiling prices for women's and children's fall and winter outer garments have been established at levels equal to, or lower than, those which prevailed last fall, war price and rationing board members announced.

Contained in Amendment 1 to Maximum Price Regulation 330 also are provisions which place 15 new categories of garments under the new regulation.

The new types of garments include toddler sizes (six months to four years) for coats, suits, jackets, skirts and dresses; slacks and slack suits for all size ranges, and 'teen age girls', children's and toddlers' blouses.

Prices during the fall and winter of 1943-44 for the 31 categories already covered by the regulation will be held to the levels which existed in 1942. As for the 15 new categories, retail prices are expected to be lower than before issuance of the amendment which became effective August 7, the board chairman said.

LABOR DAY

America Salutes A Home-Front Hero!

This Labor Day finds added responsibilities to those of us at home, in carrying on and preserving what our brave men on the fighting fronts are giving their lives for.

This Labor Day we should resolve anew to strive harder than ever to carry our share of the responsibilities which every man, woman and child must bear before peace comes.

Our brave comrades over there are giving their lives. We must invest more money in War Bonds. We must give more time to the Red Cross and other war efforts. We must stop absenteeism. We must be patriotic in everything we do or say—every day.
