The and Aug. 3. responsibility fell back on the State Board of Education and the individual county boards. The Haywood county board of education assumed the responsibility, for the wisdom of serving hot lunches to the school children had been evidenced over the seven years of STRAIGHT CHAIRS or sofa are service. Plans were worked out and through the cooperation of school patrons, interested citizens, and Federal aid, the problem has been met in Haywood and elsewhere in the state. The fact that there were only 600 lunch rooms operating in the state last year, however, shows that most of the schools did not take advantage of the new set-up. On the nine acres of gardens now under cultivation for the lunch rooms of the Waynesville district schools, are being grown potatoes, the American Legion and Auxil- tomatoes, beans and carrots, in a business meeting of each group tables also being grown.
