

AS IKE AND JOE TALKED SHOP

BUSY WITH A WAR in which each has his job, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allies in Europe, and Pvt. John Burns of Niles, O., are shown as they talked things over somewhere in Normandy in the course of the general's recent visit to the fighting fronts. This is a U. S. Signal Corps Radiophoto. Scenes Of State Test Farm Near Here

Here are two scenes of the new Mountain Test Farm situated just east of Waynesville. The picture at the top gives a panoramic view of the fields where many of the experiments in horticulture will be carried out; and the small grain will be grown in this area. The buildings in this scene are a tenant house and a dairy barn. Dean Colvard, superintendent of the farm, has chosen the ridge just above these buildings as the ideal location for the superintendent's home. The bottom view presents a portion of the 100 acres of pasture land, a tenant house, and the country road which winds through the valley.

YANK CHARMS THE MADEMOISELLES

THE WAY to a woman's heart in this instance is a pair of binoculars. Corp Harold Myers, Lancaster, Pa., holds his glasses for three little triplet sisters he met on the outskirts of Cherbourg as they watch the "fireworks" in the distance made by a Yank artillery barrage. (International)

Tips for Pruning
In pruning shade trees, be sure to keep one main trunk as a leader, cut out branches which rub on others, low branches that hang down in the way, and branches that may cause narrow crotches. Branches broken by storms should be cut off flush with the trunk, or back to the next lower branch on a limb.
