

Woman's Club Holds Meeting At Oak Park

The initial meeting of the Waynesville Woman's Club for the year 1944-45 was held on Thursday afternoon at Oak Park, with Mrs. James W. Killian, president, presiding. Hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. T. L. Bramlett, Mrs. Linwood Grahl and Mrs. J. C. Brown.

Mrs. J. R. McCracken, district supervisor of nurses, was in charge of the program. She addressed the group on the subject of Nutrition, explaining that under the Food for Freedom program September had been designated as Nutrition Month and that locally the week of September 25-30 would be observed.

Mrs. McCracken defined the meaning of nutrition and told of food values in terms of health and the importance of eating the right foods. She stressed the factor in health of a mixed balanced diet. She gave some findings which were the result of a school survey held in Haywood county last year among 1,800 children, pointing out the surprising number that were some facts found among pre-school age groups in the county, which were examined during the survey.

During the business session, the president appointed the following members of a Clean-Up Campaign: Mrs. Noble Garrett, Mrs. Grover Davis, and Mrs. John R. Hipps. Mrs. Killian also urged the members to plan to enter some of the literary and art contests sponsored by the State Federation of Woman's Clubs. She referred to the fact that Mrs. W. T. Crawford had won a silver cup on poetry last year and she would like to see it kept in the club.

Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick, first vice president and chairman of program, distributed the yearbooks for the current year and outlined the program. She stated that the club would entertain the Girl Scouts in October and that a guest speaker from Asheville would talk to the organization.

Mrs. S. P. Gay, president of District Number One, spoke of the annual meeting at which the local club would be hostesses on Monday, October 2, and urged all the members to attend both the meeting and the luncheon. Mrs. Killian announced the local committees who would assist in the arrangements.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Frank Ferguson would again serve as chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale.

Miss Jane Wyche, daughter of Mrs. Troy Wyche, who played a piano solo, "The Romance," by Sibelius, was presented by Mrs. Cornelia Nixon, chairman of music.

A social hour followed the meeting with a number of specially invited guests present.
