Cpl Edgar Boring Completes Course

Cpl. Edgar Boring, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Boring of Hazelwood, has recently completed an orientation course designed to bridge the gap between training in the states and combat soldiering against the enemy in France.

At the headquarters of Air Service Command where he is stationed he attended a series of lectures given by veterans of the command which included instructions on chemical warfare defense

Bluejacket W. L. Allen Receives New Rating

Bluejacket William L. Allen, formerly of Waynesville, recently received recognition for qualification of a petty officer rate of signalman third class in the graduation exercises at the Naval Training school (Signals) at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

In England

PFC. PAUL S. SHEEHAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sheehan, of Dellwood, has arrived in England, according to information received by his parents and his wife, Mrs. Fannie Sheehan. Pfc. Sheehan entered the service in January of 1942 and has received his training at the following camps in order named: Fort McClellan, Ala.; Fort Bragg, Fort Benning, Ga.; Camp Mackall, Camp Forrest, Tenn.; and then to embarkation port.

Prior to entering the service Pfc. Sheehan was employed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. He is a graduate of the Waynesville township high school.

Pfc. Bill Queen Arrives In India

Pfc. Bill Queen, son of Mrs. Hester Queen, has arrived safely in India, according to information received by his mother. He entered the service two years ago and was inducted at Fort Bragg. At the time he volunteered in the service he was employed by L. H. Bramlett.

His brother, Pfc. Phil Queen, who has recently spent several days furlough with his mother here, has returned to his post at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. He entered the service in January, 1942, and was inducted at Fort Jackson.

Letters To The Editor

THEY HAVE DONE IT AGAIN!

Who have? Why, Mayor Jack Way and his band of aldermen. And what have they done now? Before I answer this question, let's have a bit of history lesson.

From time to time since our present set of town fathers has been in office—now some 6 or 8 years—I have had something to say about their good deeds, of which there have been not a few. On my vacations at home I spend my time with my own people, with my friends; and to see them I walk all over the town. In these walks I get a pretty good idea of what our town fathers are doing for the town in the matter of public works.

Last summer I saw where some excellent work had been done, and I saw where Alderman Bramlett (in charge of our streets) had been going all over town hunting for broken places in the street paving that he might repair them. When I accused him of this, he said that he was guilty and added that the town had purchased a small concrete mixer and that he was going to repair all the broken sidewalks.

Feeling that attention should be called to these good works and that credit should be given where it is surely due, on my return to New York I wrote a "piece of the paper", calling attention to these things; and either in this "piece" or another I accused our town fathers of lying awake nights thinking of things to do to make Waynesville a better place to live in.

And now, here is what they have done again.

1. They have again reduced our town tax rate—this time from 88 to 76 cents, or 12 cents on the hundred dollars. And this, as Mr. Churchill would say, is "Some Reduction."

2. And, as I write these lines, they are putting down 2 miles of street pavement where it will do much good and make our town a better one. And, wonderful to say, they are paying for this in cash.

This tells in what fine condition these men have got our town finances. And all this at the climax of the greatest war in the world's history. What will they do when the war is over, when materials are abundant?—One thing I suggest is the flattening of Clyde Ray's corner to make it easier for trucks to swing off Gudgey Street into South Main.

All this means progress with a capital P. And being 800 miles away, I am saying this with my pen in the home paper. But you, Mr. Citizen, are right in Waynesville; and I suggest that when you meet one of the men responsible for these good deeds you tell him word-of-mouth what you think

The comics say it this way ↙

WHEN a comic strip artist wants to suggest the birth of a new idea, he draws an electric bulb glowing above his hero's head. Since that symbol comes from our business, maybe we can borrow it to do a little enlightening of our own.

For example, there's the old idea that companies like ours are all owned by a few wealthy people in Wall Street. Actually, of course, this company is largely owned by the same people it serves and run by your friends and neighbors.

6,000 of our stockholders live in the Carolinas. We have 8,000 altogether. Most of them are housewives, farmers, merchants, doctors—folks like yourself.

Our biggest security-holders are eleven insurance companies who do business in the Carolinas. They invested your savings here because they can count on sound business management—and because cheap, dependable electricity is so basic to the American way of living.

So whether you own us directly through stock, or indirectly through your insurance company, you have a stake in this company. We welcome your ownership and your patronage. We try to be worthy of both.
