

First Methodist Sponsors "Back-to-Church" Program

The First Methodist church is sponsoring a "Back-to-Church" program on October 1. This emphasis will last for a six weeks period and each member will be urged to attend services at least once each Sunday during the designated period, according to the pastor, Rev. J. Clay Madison.

During the summer months most Sunday schools have been partly closed because of the polio epidemic. Many parents have been urged to stay at home with their children. Now that the epidemic is passing and all departments of the church are open again, according to the pastor, parents and children are urged to establish the church and Sunday school attendance habit again.

The church attendance emphasis at the First Methodist church will begin with the Holy Communion next Sunday. It is suggested that this is an opportune time for re-orienting you to the church. At the evening hour a special service for the men and women in the armed forces will be held. The pastor expects that during this six weeks period he will emphasize in his preaching the great themes of the Christian Gospel.

Country Club and Golf Course Sold

is heated. Each room is attractively furnished.

In addition to the club house there is a swimming pool 150 by 60 feet with a large dance hall 60 by 100 feet near by. The first floor of the dance hall contains lockers and dressing rooms in connection with the swimming pool.

The Country Club has for the past ten years been the hub of the tourist business in this area. Hundreds of golfers, not only guests at the club, but others stopping at places in the community have had access to the course.

Having a high standard for the original development of the property, Mr. and Mrs. Long employed Donald Ross, nationally known engineer, and Frank Weller to build the course, which is today rated as one of the best in the South. Back in 1932 shortly after the course was completed, the barn on the one-time farm was converted into a club house with locker rooms for the convenience of the golfers.

Due to its increasing popularity and the demand of the public, Mr. and Mrs. Long built a guest house in 1943 with eleven bedrooms, a dining room and kitchen, constructed of stone. Turning away hundreds of tourists each year they decided to build an addition and in 1937 a wing containing additional bedrooms and a larger dining room and kitchen was added.

The continued influx of visitors to the club made it necessary to make another addition to the club house which was built in 1939 and since that time thousands of would-be-guests have been turned away because of lack of rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Long, owners and popular hosts of the of the Country Club, had no statement to make as to their future plans except that someday when the war is over and restrictions are lifted they expect to build them a home.

"It will be located near the golf course," said Mr. Long. "I don't intend to get far away. We plan to make Haywood county our home always. This country has a great future. I have learned that from the thousands of guests we have had here at the club and what they have done in advertising this section by passing on to their friends and family what they think of this section.

"We are going to have to keep up with the demands of the public and build for the future. Now that I will soon no longer own the golf course I would like to tell the public how it has rated with the tourists. If Waynesville tourists had not had a golf course I feel safe in saying that hundreds of guests each year would have gone elsewhere," he said.

"You give them the kind of a golf course they want to play on and they flock to it. This year we have had guests from other popular vacation centers, just because of the condition of our greens. A number have planned to buy here later and send their summers here," he continued.

The real estate firm of L. N. Davis and Company handled the deal.

To Make Arrests For Failure To Have Auto Stamp

The treasury department is inaugurating an extensive drive on all motor vehicles operating without 1945 Auto Stamps. Before arrests begin, the department is sending a deputy here on Saturday, October 7th, for the convenience of those who have not purchased stamps.

The deputy will be at the post office on the 7th.

After the 7th, all cars will be checked by the department, and violators will be subject to the penalty of the law. The law provides the following penalties for failure to purchase this $5 stamp:

"Any person who uses or permits the use of any motor vehicle before the tax has been paid shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $25.00, or imprisoned for not more than thirty days, or both."

The law also provides a fine of $25.00 for failure to display stamp on motor vehicle where it can be checked.

Maybe that soldier's wife in Philadelphia has the right idea. When approached by curb-cruisers and mashers, she hands them little printed cards with the following message on them:

"Maybe the gas you waste in the pursuit of lone women would have prevented one of our planes from making a forced landing behind enemy lines. My husband is serving in the armed forces. What are you doing, skunk?"

Daughter: "Oh, Daddy, how grand it is to be alive! The world is too good for anything. Why isn't everyone happy?"

Father: "Who is he this time?"

SHOULD CHILDREN BE SPANKED?

Is spanking the answer to juvenile delinquency? Sheriffs have voted for a return of the old-fashioned woodshed treatment to keep youngsters in line, but a famous psychologist says whippings are not the answer to the problem. Read this revealing article in the October 6th issue of

"Home of Better Values"

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

IF HITLER and Hirohito are exchanging post cards this vacation season, they must read something like this: "Am having a fierce time. wish you were me."

Tojo is gone, thank goodness. Now we need no longer get him confused with Tito.

The steeplejack who wound up owning a coal mine climbed the ladder of success in reverse.

An Australian boasts he has lived in the same boarding house for 40 years. There is one guy, points out Zadok Dumkopf, who made a career out of eating hash.

Marshal Tito shaves every day—news item. He never knows when he'll be called upon to greet a bunch of surrendering high-ranking German generals.

In darkness the eyes of the Java mouse deer gleam gold and silver. Nature's four-footed traffic light?

Ants, according to a nature item, have a marvelous system of communication. That must be true. They always seem to have advance notice just where and when the family plans a picnic.

A Community Asset

In our opinion the people of this community are deeply indebted and greatly appreciate the vision of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Long in operating and developing the Waynesville Country Club to its present high standard. It is decidedly one of this community's outstanding assets. A great many of our new residents made their first contacts with Waynesville through the Country Club.

To Mr. and Mrs. Long we add our thanks. A great many of your guests have now become all year customers of ours. You have had your problems, but with indomitable spirit you forged ahead. Again, we say "a job well done," and you deserve a well-earned rest.

To Warren Eller, you have made a good investment, you come well recommended to us, you will have our support, and it is our wish that you enlarge and develop the Country Club and maintain its excellent standard.
