Tomorrow, when peace comes, we wonder if agriculture can hold its gains? We believe the farmer who grows the preferred varieties, who puts up a better quality and pack, will bridge the gap successfully from war to peace.

Let's build a reputation for Haywood County vegetables by starting this year to improve the quality and pack. NOW is the time to start preparing seed beds, using suitable fertilizers and planting according to type of soil.

From where I sit... by Joe Martin

Bert Loses the War Single-Handed

Bert Childer's house burned down last week, and the only good thing that came out of it was it cured him of swearing. Bert just couldn't think of words to fit the occasion, so he just gave up.

Bert admits it was his own fault. Started with a field fire which he thought he had under control, and when he turned his back a minute for a breathing spell, the fire sprung up twice as fierce. By the time the firemen arrived, there wasn't much that they could do.

From where I sit, the moral in Bert's experience of us feel we've got the this war under control... we can relax a little, maybe up on buying bonds, doing blood, or fighting inflation. Just like Bert lost his against the fire, we can lose fight against our enemy if we down now. Because war, fire, is never over till the spark is extinguished.
