POLAR CUB, MAKES DEBUT AT MILWAUKEE ZOO

HEY, HERE I AM MA! ALLRIGHT, THEN GET GOING AND NOW YOU GET A NICE HUG

AFFECTIONATELY BUT DETERMINEDLY, Sultana II, 13-year-old polar bear at Washington Park Zoo, Milwaukee, Wis., brings her new baby out of the "maternity den" for its first public appearance. As these remarkable pictures show, the situation requires both tenderness and a certain amount of first aid. In the first picture, the little fellow seems doubtful about what's going to happen. He soon finds out, for mama is going to introduce him to the zoo visitors—and then comes the reward. The cub's grandmother, now 33 years old, was the first polar bear in captivity to rear young, having raised eleven famous cubs. (International)
