Pioneers of Faith

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. (The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 15 is Genesis 12:50; Acts 7:2-18; Hebrews 11:8-27, the Memory Verse being Gen. 28:15, "Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest.")

THE STORY of our lesson today is so very long we can but touch the highspots of the Pioneers of Faith. Abraham, called at first Abram, was the first of the tribe of Jewish pioneers, and of him we read, "The Lord said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee."

So Abraham took his wife, Sarah, and his nephew, Lot, and all their goods, herds and tents, etc., and started out to found a new nation in land which the Lord promised them. Abraham was 75 years old when he became a pioneer.

They journeyed into the land of Canaan and passed through it to Sichem, "unto the plain of Morah," where Canaanites also dwell. "And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bethel, and pitched his tent . . . and there he builded an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord."

Abraham, Friend of God To this day Abraham is known to the Arabs as "Friend of God." As simply as we talk to dear friends, Abram talked to God and He to Abram. Abram even persuaded the Lord to postpone the destruction of the wicked city of Sodom until it was ascertained that there were not even ten godly people therein, you remember. God promised Abraham that his descendants should inhabit this land that He promised, but at this time, although Abraham was an old man and his wife, Sarah, also was old, they had no children.

One day, at noon, while Abraham was sitting in front of his tent in the heat of the day, he saw three men coming. In true Oriental manner, he ran out to them, "bowed himself to the ground," and invited them to his tent for dinner. He probably recognized them as more than mortal men, and he called Sarah and told her to mix cakes and bake them; and he killed a calf and had it prepared.

After they had eaten one of the divine visitors told Abraham that

Sarah would have a son whose name should be Isaac, and Sarah, overhearing, laughed because she was old. They did have a son, however, even as foretold—"Is anything too hard for the Lord?" They named him Isaac.

God Tests Abraham Isaac was indeed dear to his parents, and while he was still a youth, the Lord chose to make a test of Abraham through him. Abraham was told to make a sacrifice of Isaac. Without questioning, Abraham took the boy and bound him on the altar, and was about to kill him, when the voice of the Lord spoke telling him to withhold his hand, and behind him he found a ram caught by the horns, and him he slew for the sacrifice.

Sarah died and was buried in a cave at Machpelah, where later Abraham, his son Isaac, and his son, Jacob, were also buried with their wives.

Isaac had twin sons by his wife, Rebekah, who was a relation of his—a cousin. The boys were named Esau, the one born first, and Jacob. Esau was what we might call a "worldly man," but Jacob was spiritual and God blessed him, although in spite of this he was always scheming to his own advantage. He bought his brother's birthright for food; cheated his brother out of his father's blessing by impersonating him when Isaac was old and his eyes too dim to see.

Jacob had 12 sons, but he loved Joseph, next to the youngest, best, and made him a coat of many colors. Joseph had dreams and told them to his brothers, and always in these dreams, the brothers bowed down to him. The brothers grew angry and sold Joseph to some passing merchants, letting their father think he had been killed. They took him to Egypt and, after many adventures, he became next to Pharaoh in power. When famine came to all the people, Joseph had stores of wheat gathered when harvests were plentiful, and Isaac sent his sons to buy from the Egyptians. Joseph recognized them, but they did not know him, but finally revealed himself, forgave his brothers, and invited them to come to live in Egypt. They did, and Isaac died there, but was taken back to Palestine and buried in the family tomb. Joseph lived to be a very old man, and when he died his body was put in a coffin, but eventually his bones, too, were taken back to Palestine.

These are the Jewish pioneers of faith. The men who trusted in God and went where He told them, doing His will always.

Chamber of Commerce

MISS S. A. JONES, Secretary

We believe the new "Assessed Membership Plan" of the Chamber of Commerce is meeting with approval. The cooperation and response over the past week has been splendid. We hope that all who received the letters, Aims and Objects with membership or contributor cards will make their decision promptly and give us complete "Over The Top" results. Your Chamber of Commerce must have your full cooperation, interest, support and good will to do a good job, for only with these things, through every citizen, can it carry on and accomplish the things each community desires.

We hope to have your reply with your membership fee in the office by April 20th. At that time we will mail to each member or members and official ballot with the names of the prospective directors for you to vote for, a stamped envelope to avoid delay in returning this to the office, by Tuesday afternoon, May 1st. At that time the ballots will be counted, the board of directors elected and the new officers decided upon. The president and secretary for 1945 will then be elected and you will receive your membership pocket card and a placard for your place of business or home stating that you are a 1945 member of the Chamber of Commerce, each being signed by the new president and secretary.

Many contributor cards and letters were sent out. Anyone wishing to take a membership, if not less than $15.00, may call for a membership card or send your check in to the office, and you will be listed accordingly. Only members will vote for the new board of directors. However, the cooperation and support and good

Regular Hazelwood Singing To Be Held On Sunday, 15th

The regular third Sunday singing will be held at the Hazelwood school auditorium on April 15, at 2 p. m. This is the singing that was organized by Rev. S. C. Lowery at the Church of God.

The attendance has grown until the church cannot accommodate the crowd, but the new place of meeting will seat several hundred comfortably. All singing groups are invited to attend and take part in the singing.
