Caught 'Werewolf'

FRAMED BY THE "V" in what might be a V-for-Victory fence that pens him in, somewhere in Germany, is one of the dejected "werewolves" that were howled about as Germany's last-ditch defenders—until our armies changed their minds. (British photo.) (International)

To the People of this Community

Remember the Kid in Upper Four? He thinks about you, his home folks, every night, under the murderous fire of enemy machine guns. The Kid came home the other day to receive a decoration. Unhappily he recalled saying this simple prayer: "Father in Heaven, take care of Mom and Dad and my brother and sister and all the folks at home. Thanks for the food and water we have in this shell hole. Take care of my buddies. Take care of me, Amen."
In this case the kid's name was Private Ken Miller of Greensburg, Pa., veteran of Luzon. Private Miller won't mind if you substitute the name of your boy for his as the boy who prays in a foxhole for the home folks. The job between foxhole and home is never broken unless you break it here yourself. Your fighting sons look to you in the 7th War Loan to demonstrate that you are helping them in one of the most direct ways open to you, the acquisition of the most War Bonds you have ever bought in any War Loan.

Furniture Polish
For removing that dull, foggy appearance that furniture may acquire and to conceal fine cracks or checks in the finish, use a sample household furniture polish of two parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine. It is suggested that the mixture be applied with a soft cloth. Rub the excess polish off with a dry cloth and keep rubbing with the grain of the wood until the surface is entirely dry and will not show a finger mark.

The bridegroom entered the service in November, 1942, and has spent the past 23 months in the South Pacific theatre. At present he is stationed in a convalescent hospital at Camp Bunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, of Lexington, Ky., who have been visiting relatives, have returned to their home. While here they were the guests of Mr. Miller's sisters, Miss Robina Miller and Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick.

Time Out for War on Farm Telephone expansion

The number of Southern Bell-operated farm telephones in Dixie was increased by more than four times from 1935 to 1942 when war interrupted our rural telephone expansion program.
Since 1942, vast amounts of communication equipment have been and are still being manufactured for shipment to our fighting men, and we cannot resume our farm telephone expansion until after manpower and material again become available.
In the meantime, we are furthering our efforts to provide increased and improved post-war farm telephone service through our research work and experience gained in new methods of construction, transmission and new developments in the art of communication.
Southern Bell's post-war rural development program is part of the Bell System's one hundred million dollar program to extend and improve farm telephone service of the future. And every reasonable and practicable step is being taken to advance this program as rapidly as possible.
