Sgt. W. E. Wood Wounded Belgium In January

Among the men from this county who were wounded in January of this year and have just been reported to The Mountaineer is Sgt. Walker E. Wood, son of Mrs. R. S. Justice, of Clyde, R.F.D. No. 1. He was wounded in Belgium and has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Sgt. Wood entered the service on November 2, 1942, and was inducted at Camp Croft and from there was sent to Camp Wheeler, Ga., and then to Fort Benning, before being sent overseas.

He served first in North Africa, and later saw service in Sicily, Italy, France, Belgium and Germany.

As a paratrooper over enemy territory Sgt. Wood has had varied experiences. Before entering the service he was employed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Sgt. Wood has been awarded the Bronze Star and his mother recently received the following information regarding the award from his commanding officer, which was included in the citation.

"For meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy in Normandy, France, from 3 to 11 July, 1944. During operations of the division in the attack the speed of the assault and the nature of the terrain resulted in wide separation of units and increased the difficulties of control. Sgt. Wood volunteered to carry messages during this period and accomplished this duty with outstanding courage and perseverance by traversing the territory not cleared of enemy and under intense enemy machine gun and artillery fire. Regardless of the danger he did not fail to deliver the message. His superior performance contributed materially to the success of the division's mission."

When a patient is sitting up, he must be provided with something that will prevent him from slipping down in bed. A bed sling may be merely a pillow tucked under the knees and held in position by a sheet tied behind the head of the bed. One may also use a firm pillow, folded blanket or box near the foot of the bed for the patient to press his feet against.

Protective Food
Eggs rate as a "protective" food because they are an important source of vitamins and minerals in human nutrition. Egg yolk is one of the best sources of vitamin A, a factor in which many diets are low, and the protein in eggs is of high quality. These qualities are all maintained in intermediate grades of eggs.

You'll Recognize These Scenes Of Last Night . . . The Infantry in Action

Hand-to-hand combat caused many a persons in the huge antidote to squirm, but the Infantrymen knew how to take it, and showed just how a Jap will fare when he attempts to tackle a Yank.

This is what you would have seen if you had been right behind the flame thrower last night. The flames are as hot as that place the preacher talked about last Sunday.

Remember the flame thrower as he approached the Jap pillbox? Here he is as he was giving the "Japs" the works.

A Jap's eye view of a mortar. This happened to be one of the 60 mm type which was demonstrated last night.

Hit the dirt—here three Infantrymen obey the order and get down low without a lost second.

Now introducing the bazooka, or rocket launcher. This weapon will shoot right through a pill box or tank. You recall how it played havoc last night with placements.

Here the cameraman mustered up enough courage to crawl right under the muzzle of a machine gun in action. Although the gun was using blanks, the man still had to have nerve.

Oh, yes, you'll remember this scene when the medical men went into action to get the wounded man. A realistic scene that the men played to perfection and they could, because they had been in a sure enough scene on a battle front.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Oh, that's all right, Officer, I never use that door, anyway!"

The human bridge over sharp barbed wire is an old Infantry trick for crossing entanglements, and last night's demonstration proved the modern Yank can really do some fancy stepping—just ask the "bridge."
